SENATE IS AFTER CANNON'S SCALP.

TENDER SPOT IS TOUCHED

Refusal to Adjourn Extra Session, and Reasons for So Doing, Provoke Bitter Parliamentary Feud.

[BY RAYMOND.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Uncle Joe Cannon seems to have touched the raw in his fight on the United States senate. The members of that august body, old and young, republicans and democrats, have dug up the hatchet and say they will not rest until they have the speaker's scalp. It all comes about in a most simple way, but the fight promises to be a lively one. Having come together with other members of congress in an extra session for which the president alone is responsible, the speaker has consistently refused to agree to an adjournment. He has insisted on congress remaining in session, at least technically, so as to call the attention of the country to the fact that the senate refuses to do the work for which it was called together by the president.

Senators in Savage Humor.

Yesterday's executive session of the senate developed a surprising amount of savage criticism for the speaker, and these criticisms came from some of the oldest and most conservative members of the senate. The speaker's attitude was denounced as "childish interference," and the statement was made that if his position had been announced before an agreement had been made for the Cuban vote it would have been impossible to agree to vote at any time before the end of the winter.

Many senators assert that the agreement to take a vote next week was practically conditional on immediate adjournment, because otherwise there would have been no pressing necessity to secure unanimous consent two weeks ahead of time for taking the vote.

The republican senators are apparently as much disturbed as the democrats over the speaker's attitude. They say as they have a majority in the senate, if the attention of the country is to be centered upon the failure of the senate to take action the responsibility must necessarily rest with the republican party.

Other senators say it is an attempt on the part of the president and the speaker of the house to coerce the senate in regard to its strictly legislative functions. There is even talk of a movement to break the agreement for a vote on the ground that it was made with the implied understanding that there should be an adjournment of the extra session.

May Break Agreement to Vote.

Agreements under the unanimous consent system in the senate are not binding upon any one except from a standpoint of honor. Such unanimous consent frequently has been abrogated on the ground that the conditions under which it was given were not properly understood. It is clearly within the power of any senator without regard to party affiliations to give notice that he will not agree to vote at the time set.

Several democratic senators are already deliberating as to advisability of taking such action. Some of them believe it is the only possible way to get back at the speaker, and they are endeavoring to persuade their associates that the senate should assert its independence and debate the Cuban reciprocity bill until the cows come home, and thus in a way make the speaker personally responsible for the failure of the desired legislation until long after the time when the sugar crop is put on the market.

It is a curious thing that this resentment against Speaker Cannon should have flamed up in the senate again, but there is no question of the fact that the fight has broken out with renewed violence. A few republican senators who are not pleased with the speaker's attitude say they will do all in their power to influence their state delegations in opposition at all times to the personal wishes of Mr. Cannon. They accuse him of a lack of tact and of positive discourtesy to the coördinate branch of congress, and the fight is to be continued along these lines.

Speaker Cannon Not Worrying.

Meanwhile the speaker himself is serenely indifferent to the commotion at the north end of the capitol. He has been busily engaged remodeling his committee lists and he believes evidently that he has the country with him in demanding that the senate shall remain in session until it performs the work the president called upon it to do.

Close friends and admirers of the speaker do not take the slightest stock in the current story to the effect that a senatorial coalition is to be organized for the express purpose of throwing bricks at Uncle Joseph, with the end in view of preventing his election two years from now.

Meanwhile, however, unless peace can be patched up, there is certain to be some lively doings on the first big appropriation bill which develops a difference of opinion between the two houses.

Foraker Defies Democrats.

"No gum shoes for us," said Senator Foraker. "The republican party can afford to open the campaign with its heaviest boots on. We will discuss tariff on every platform, because the policy of protection is absolutely identified with the history of the republican party.

"We have already declared first at St. Louis and then at Philadelphia that the republican party is not wedded to schedules but is as firm as ever in its devotion to the principle of protection of American labor. There should be free trade between this country and the Philippine islands, exactly as there is with Porto Rico. The senate will at least pass a bill reducing the tariff on Philippine products.

"If the democrats want to precipitate a tariff fight we shall be only too glad to appeal to the people on that issue. Protection and free trade are representative ideas and we are quite willing the discussion in the senate, if there is to be one, should be on the tariff.

"We can say two words to the democrats: one in appealing to the good sense of the people. The nation as a whole is solid for protection and if the democrats press their free trade ideas they will be beaten even more decidedly than if they picked up any other issue which has yet been suggested."

First Day of Receivership in Zion Ends with Mass-meeting of 3,000 of the Faithful.

NEW CLAIMANTS APPEAR

Preliminary Examination of Affairs Indicates That Proceedings Will Last Many Months.

"Some of you have been naughty and have brought the hell hounds barking about Zion. Some of you have not obeyed me—you have not given to Zion as I have commanded. You have been naughty and should be spanked."

In these words John Alexander Dowie, at Zion City tabernacle last night, placed blame on his followers for the financial misfortunes which precipitated the receivership of Zion properties granted by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States court Tuesday night. For more than two hours the restorer paced the floor of the big Shiloh hall and alternately pleaded with the faithful for renewed support and berated them as if they were children for not contributing more liberally to the ventures of the prophet.

Must Give "Their All."

"Now that enemies have invaded Zion and the vipers of the press have renewed attacks on me, I command you again to give your all, if need be, to satisfy these creatures and send them flying from our doors. Will you obey me?"

"Yes! Yes! We will," came the response from the 3,000 followers who shivered in the great, bare, half filled hall, but the old acclaim that greeted Elijah in more prosperous days was wanting, and the restorer wrathfully turned upon his people, exclaiming:

"You are being spanked for your disobedience. Do you want more of it? God has commanded me to lead you and you have sworn to follow.

"I have immediate need of $500,000, and though the money is coming in rapidly, I must have more."

Then the collection boxes were passed. The response to this appeal was far from enthusiastic. The amount collected appeared to be for the most part in silver small change. The exact total could not be learned, but it is believed to be less than $1,000, or about 30 cents a head.

He Continues to Talk.

While the collection was being taken Dowie continued to talk.

"I love this tabernacle," he said. "I loved all my tabernacles as I loved my people. As my people have grown so have my temples of worship. And when we prepare to leave this tabernacle for the last time, the next house of worship will be Jerusalem.

"Yes, we will help rebuild Jerusalem. It has always been my prayer. God has told me to do it. God tells all of you to do it. But not now. That will came later.

"The flesh pots are the cause of our coming here tonight. They are a joke to me. For an hour the dogs have thought they led me. But, beloved, we are going to kick them out now. We will kick them for all eternity."

"Dogs" Like Flea on Elephant.

"Beloved, I would like to take you into my confidence. A few minutes ago I received a communication that has caused the clouds to begin to rift. The dogs can plague me no more by this tagging than a flea can worry an elephant.

"I call upon you to help me crush them all. My people, I come to you for help. I know that you will not be found wanting.

"Those devil parasites, the reporters, came to me today. They wanted to know what I would say to you tonight. Did they learn from me?"

Cries of "No."

"I tell you we will run them out of Zion. I knew they were coming before they attempted to pollute Zion. I knew it by the stench that came ahead of them. They would smoke here? Bah. We'll drive them back to Babel, where they may smoke from morning till night. Chicago is famous, or infamous, for only one thing. It's smoke.

"I passed by the bank today and looked in a second. The hell hounds were there before me. They asked me if the bank was broke. [Laughter.] I tell you the reporters alone are the cause of this. They will pollute us no longer."

Reporters Are Ejected.

After this bit of denunciation the reporters who had gained admittance were ejected by the Zion guards.

The earlier part of the meeting was given up to psalm singing and reading of the scriptures. Then Dowie delivered his harangue, part of which is printed above, part of which is a secret. So far as could be learned, he never condescended to explain the true inwardness of the receivership.

Receivership Will Last Months.

Preliminary examinations of the affairs of Zion City indicate that the receivership must last for months. The receivers declared that there appeared to be outstanding $500,000 in claims based alone on merchandise. This discovery put an end to whatever faith the receivers had in Dowie's declaration that he could "readily meet every liability." It put an end to any possibility of a speedy termination of the proceedings.

Even were Dowie to pay off the claims filed, now included in the bankruptcy proceedings, he would still have other liabilities, and no settlement can be made until all are accounted for.

"It will be months before these proceedings can be terminated," said Attorney Levinson. "We hope, however, that by such a careful management of the properties as we are planning all claimants will eventually be paid off in full."

Big Claims Filed.

Creditors representing $120,000 in additional claims petitioned the court during the day to be made parties in the bankruptcy proceedings. They will probably be allowed to come in as additional petitioners. Among the new claims filed was one of $100,000 by the representatives of Samuel Stevenson, Dowie's brother-in-law and former associate. The claim represents the unpaid portion of the $150,000 granted Stevenson by Judge Tuley in a suit for accounting against Dowie. Stevenson holds notes for the amount.

It is understood that a large number of the residents of Zion City have loaned the general overseer money, and are entitled to become parties to the bankruptcy proceedings. If

HUGE STRIKE IS ON.

TEN BIG CITIES ON THE LIST.

Work on buildings valued at $20,000,000 now under construction in ten of the largest cities of the country will be stopped today by a strike of the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' union against the George A. Fuller Construction company and the Iron league of New York.

Behind the fight of the bridge men is the influence of Sam Parks, who, although ill in the prison hospital at Dannemora, N. Y., still is powerful enough to induce 10,000 members of the organization he was convicted of "selling out" to fight the company that sent him to the penitentiary. In this, his last struggle, the convict boss for the first time has the unanimous support of the leaders of the union.

Trouble Starts in New York.

The direct cause of the strike is the attempt of the Fuller company and the Iron league to build up a dual bridgemen's union in New York City and force the members of the international to take out its membership cards. The first effort along this line began three weeks ago. It called a local strike in New York, and the coming fight is the ultimate result.

The orders for the struggle yesterday morning were issued by the international executive board of the union, which now is in session at McCoy's hotel in this city. They were telegraphed to every local union in the country. These organizations have called special meetings, and at each the workers will be told to refuse to continue at work on any job controlled by the Fuller company.

Ten Cities Are Affected.

The following ten cities will be affected:

New York, Boston,
Chicago, Washington, D. C.
Philadelphia, Baltimore,
St. Louis, Kansas City,
Pittsburg. Omaha.

The strike may assume the greatest proportions of any struggle that the building industry of the country has known. The bridgemen are members of the new National Structural Trades alliance, an organization of every union engaged in the building trade. The alliance has the power to call sympathetic strikes and the bridgemen will request it to do so on the Fuller and Iron league work if they are unable to win alone.

Less Severe in Chicago.

In Chicago the fight will not be severe. The Fuller company has just completed the Iroquois theater and the Schlesinger & Meyer buildings, and has only the McNeill building under construction. This is a ten story structure on Jackson boulevard between Franklin and Market streets, and is almost completed so far as the iron work is concerned.

In New York there are buildings valued at $10,000,000 going up, and the union intends to centralize its efforts there. It is in that city the dual organization, known there as the Fuller union, has its only hold, and with its 1,600 members has become a menace to the bridgemen's organization. Street brawls and shooting already have marked the struggle, and are expected to increase as the strike continues.

When the board met yesterday morning at 9 o'clock it took up the question. Informally, it had agreed to call the strike the night before, but the action that authorized it was taken at the morning gathering. This took the form of a letter to each local union, which was drawn up by President Frank Buchanan, Parks' successor as "king of the ironworkers," and Secretary W. J. Johnson.

Chicago Union Obeys Order.

With this communication were sent telegrams ordering special meetings of the local unions. In Chicago local No. 1 met last night, heard the decree of the board, and called out its members. In the other cities the men are expected to meet tonight and receive their instructions. None, it is believed will disobey, and if one does it will be disciplined.

NO FARE, A BULLET.

Union Official Declines to Pay Nonunion Conductor.

EJECTED ONCE, COMES BACK.

Second Fight Followed by Shooting Which May Prove Fatal.

Ejected from a Forty-first street electric car because he had refused to pay his fare to a nonunion conductor, Omer R. Burke, 550 West Forty-third street, secretary of the steamfitters' union, last evening pursued the car for five blocks, assaulted the conductor, and received a bullet wound which probably will cause his death.

Robert Rogers, conductor of the car, was arrested by the police of the stockyards station and admitted the shooting, which was witnessed by a score of passengers, including several women.

The trouble began at Forty-first and Wright streets shortly after 7 o'clock. Burke was standing on the crowded platform when the conductor asked him for his fare. Noting the absence of a union button on Rogers' coat, the labor leader said:

Passengers Engage in Dispute.

Union men standing beside Burke cheered him in his stand. The latter began to abuse the conductor, and passengers took sides in the wordy battle. Motorman Benjamin Ellis stopped the car.

"I'll get that fare before you go another foot," Rogers is reported to have said.

The union partisans massed around Burke and defied the conductor to put them off the car. Burke and Ellis suddenly made a rush. Burke was forced from the platform, and the car was started with a jerk.

During the delay another west bound car had approached. Burke picked himself up and followed his supporters to the platform. The second conductor wore a union button. Burke explained the encounter, and the motorman of the second car put on full speed. Gradually the trolley overtook the one ahead, and at Halsted street they were close together.

Again Seeks for Trouble.

Burke alighted and ran to Rogers' car. Several other union men accompanied him "to see the fun," as they explained later. He took a seat in the forward trolley and again refused to pay his fare. Other enemies of the conductor held the motorman on the platform.

The conductor seized the disturber by the collar, forced him through the crowded car, and thrust him into the throng on the platform.

"Now, get off!" he said.

Burke suddenly turned and struck the conductor. Rogers, dazed from the blow, rushed forward to the encounter, but again was struck. Then, when the union leader advanced, Rogers drew a revolver and shot Burke in the left side, below the heart.

Panic Follows the Shooting.

Passengers were thrown into excitement and crowded over each other to escape from the car. Several women fainted in the rush, and a line of cars was blocked at the corner while the police were coming with an ambulance.

The union sympathizers who had cheered Burke in his attack were cowed by the shooting and fled before the police arrived. When the ambulance and patrol wagon came, Rogers assisted in caring for his victim and then surrendered himself to the police.

Motorman Ellis, a witness of the shooting, was not arrested. He bore marks of his encounter with Burke and with the other disturbers.

"I am a nonunion man," he said, "and I worked during the strike. Rogers also was employed then, and each of us has had considerable trouble with union men."

Burke, while on the way to the Mercy hospital, told the police he was on his way to a meeting of the union at Forty-eighth street and Ashland avenue. He is 38 years old and married.

IMPURE AIR IN CARS.

Patrons Have Chill or Headache Alternative.

MANY RIDE ON THE OUTSIDE.

Total Lack of Ventilation Causes Much Suffering.

"What if it is cold, let us take the grip car."

If you will watch the cable trains fill with their morning and evening crowds you will hear this sentence often repeated. You will note that winter's cold does not deter men, women, and children from hurrying to the open grip seats. The platforms, too, bear more than their share of the load, as passengers fight to remain outside in preference to entering the cars, where there may be more space.

Patrons of the Chicago street car lines have the choice in cold or stormy weather of two evils. They may stand or sit on the outside and shiver or they may wedge into the cars and be half suffocated in the foul and contaminated air.

The tired women and girls who have been employed all day in stores and shops or who have been on errands to the heart of the city, generally prefer the latter.

Promise Remedy Some Time.

The cause for the present conditions is the want of anything like ventilation. The companies admit this fact, but say they are helpless, as the passengers close the windows as fast as they are opened to let in the fresh air. As a remedy the Union Traction company promises that the new cars building will have transoms that only the conductor can get at. They will not be finished for service this winter.

A little observation last evening at the "rush hour" told the story. State street carries less traffic than any other north and south trunk line on the City railway. Still, the passengers filled the platforms and the grip car before the inside seats all were occupied. While it was comfortably warm within, the air was close and stagnant and the floor was damp from the melted snow.

Worse on Electric Cars.

With the electric cars going south on Clark street there was even more ground for complaint. The proportion of platform space is smaller and the patrons all want to go home at the same time. Only a few, comparatively, could stand in the vestibules, and they shut off the air, that had no way of entering the cars except through the doors.

On the north and west side lines the conditions were still worse. The only mitigating fact was found in the large platforms of the cable trains, on which half the passengers leave the loop district.

Lays Blame on the Public.

"Many persons object to having a transom or window open," said Supt. Millard B. Hereley of the Union Traction company, "and take it on themselves to close them. The public regulates ventilation. It is a humiliating position for the conductor to attempt to attend to it, for he can please no one. This especially is the case in rush hours when so many men are standing in reach of the transoms."

ANN ARBOR STUDENT AND COED ACCOMPLICE SUSPENDED

Guided by Girl Young Man Disguised as Negress Invaded Dressing Room During Party Given by Young Women.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A Michigan upper classman who entered a party exclusively for girls in the disguise of a colored mammy and the coed conspirator who piloted him have been suspended.

Both culprits are upper classmen, and the boy is a Christian Endeavor member. Three hundred girls were in the dressing room, and as men are not allowed at the party even as spectators, the offense is considered grave.

The action of the girl in taking the boy into the dressing room is termed "disloyal" by the faculty. Discipline will be unusually severe, since Michigan leaves its girls free from rules and holds them answerable only to their consciences. The names of the culprits are kept secret.

SHOT IN THE BACK BY HOLDUP MAN.

Attorney J. A. Fullenwider Is Probably Fatally Hurt by Lurking Footpad, Who Then Flees.

CLIMAX OF DAY'S CRIME.

Series of Attacks on Street and Other Thefts Reported to the Police Hour by Hour.

As a climax to a day marked by a series of bold crimes of the holdup variety, James A. Fullenwider, a well known Chicago attorney, living at 472 Fifty-second street, was shot down in the street from behind by one of two footpads who had accosted him. Mr. Fullenweider is now in Mercy hospital, and Dr. J. B. Murphy reported at midnight that he probably would die.

The shooting was a wanton attempt to take life, for after wounding Mr. Fullenwider the robbers ran away without attempting to search his pockets. The attack took place early in the evening at Forty-second street and Wabash avenue.

Robberies Reported All Day.

From morning till night there were reports of robberies to distract the police. Among the crimes were:

J. Hanka, tailor, Melrose Park, with J. Friedman, a customer, held up and robbed of $21 by two men. No arrest.

Miss Ada Kuhn's house at 1862 Sherman street, Evanston, robbed of $15 and bric-a-brac.

Thomas Regan's saloon, 4458 Ashland avenue, held up by two youths; $40 in currency and $60 in checks taken.

Rose Bollenger, 435 Forty-third street, held up in Cottage Grove avenue, near Forty-third street, purse and $10 taken.

Patrick O'Donnelly, Thomas Conley, and William Ryan had six revolvers when arrested in saloon at Forty-third street and Ashland avenue; suspected of several holdups.

Cold Blooded Attack.

The attack on Attorney Fullenwider was especially coldblooded. The first intimation the victim had of the presence of his assailants was a call from behind:

"Hold up your hands and stand still."

Mr. Fullenwider obeyed the first command, but started to run away. He had gone but a few steps when one of the robbers fired. The bullet struck the attorney in the hip and he fell to the walk. As he lifted his head, expecting his assailants to leap upon him, the fallen man saw the two men disappear in the darkness.

Feeling himself growing weaker, Mr. Fullenwider was confronted with the danger of dying alone in the street. Overcoming his weakness he started toward his residence several blocks away. He had gone some distance when he overtook Dr. Norton Jipson, 4805 Wabash avenue.

Near Death When Found.

The attorney when found by Dr. Jipson was hardly able to move further, and the physician gave it as his opinion that Mr. Fullenwider soon would have died unless discovered.

Dr. Jipson was passing when he heard a faint cry for help, and found the robbers' victim where he had ceased his efforts to reach home. Calling a private ambulance, Dr. Jipson quickly took the attorney to the hospital, after assisting him to a house nearby.

Little Hope of Recovery.

A hurried examination at the hospital showed that the lawyer was in a serious condition, and his wife was summoned. Dr. J. B. Murphy performed an operation. The physician had little hope Mr. Fullenwider would recover, as the bullet, entering the abdomen, had taken an upward course and had passed almost through the body.

"Mr. Fullenwider's condition is extremely bad," said Dr. Murphy after the operation. "The bullet was of large size and made a terrible wound."

Despite his wound, Mr. Fullenwider remained conscious until put under anesthetics preparatory to the operation. He told of his misfortune.

"I had just emerged from my buildings and was walking along when I met two men," he said. "They separated and I passed between them. After I had got by they ordered me to hold up my hands, and I did so. I started to run, and had gone perhaps twenty feet when I was struck. Only one shot was fired, and the men ran away."

Returning After Paying Men.

Attorney Fullenwider had gone to Forty-third and State streets early in the evening to pay a number of workmen employed on flat buildings which he owns. He was returning to his residence at 472 Forty-second street when he was attacked. It is believed the robbers knew of the payments to be made to the workmen, and supposed Mr. Fullenwider still had money in his possession.

The wounded man, whose office is in the Fisher building, and who is well known in legal and club circles, is 47 years old, and has a wife and one daughter. Mr. Fullenwider also has been prominently identified with Presbyterian church matters, and is at present a trustee in the Forty-first Street church.

Numerous holdups recently have occurred in the vicinity, and in several cases the robbers, all said to be young men, have fired at fleeing pedestrians. Two persons in the Englewood Union hospital at present owe their injuries to robbers.

Youths Rob in Saloon.

Two youths, neither more than 19 years old, held up Thomas Regan and Thomas Clifford in the former's saloon at 4458 Ashland avenue at 6:30 o'clock in the evening. While scores of packing house employés were passing they searched the pockets of the men and then stole $40 from the cash register, also taking $60 in checks on stockyards concerns.

"Don't you move and don't make a noise or you'll get the biggest bullet you ever saw," said one, as he held a large revolver to Regan's head. "Turn your pockets inside out."

Both men complied, and the robbers swore at finding the pockets empty. As one was coming from the cash register Mrs. Margaret Clifford went to call her nephew. A robber saw her enter by a rear door, but the woman locked it quickly and ran down the street, shouting for help. The police arrived to see the men escaping across a field.

Supposed Robbers Caught.

In cells at the new city police station are Patrick O'Donnelly, 19 years old; Thomas Conley, 21 years old; and William Ryan, 21 years old. The trio had six revolvers when arrested in a saloon at Forty-third street and Ashland avenue. The young men are said to be responsible for the following robberies, each of which was committed by three young men:

Burke, Michael, 4851 Justine street; held up at Fifty-first and Loomis streets Friday night; lost $20.

The police also accuse the young men of entering the house of George Kauffmann, 4839 Justine street, Friday morning. The thieves chloroformed Mr. Kauffmann and stole his overcoat and a pair of trousers, containing $30.

Arrest After Attempted Holdup.

Two hours after a man had attempted to hold up Anthony Fisher's saloon, 145 Halsted street, in the morning, John Flynn was arrested while trying to escape from a house at Congress and Morgan streets. He was taken to the Desplaines street police station. In the saloon four patrons were ordered to hold up their hands, and two shots were fired at Edward McCleary, the bartender, but he was not hit.

While fleeing from the optical store of L. Manasse, 88 Madison street, which he is said to have robbed early in the morning, Andrew Langan was shot in the hand by policemen and captured. Langan has but one arm and said he was unable to obtain work. He is said to have confessed that he kicked in the window of the store and stole jewelry worth $150. He once served thirty months at Pontiac, and was held to the Criminal court by Justice Caverly in $2,000 bonds.

While passing a vacant lot in Cottage Grove avenue, near Forty-third street, in the evening Rose Bollenger, 435 Forty-third street, was set upon by a robber, who seized her purse and ran away. The purse contained $10.

Residents of Evanston reported losses by sneak thieves. Miss Ada Kuhn and Miss Emma Cutler, 1862 Sherman street, said money and bric-à-brac worth $15 was stolen yesterday.

J. Hanke, a tailor, and J. Friedman, his customer, were robbed of $21 yesterday morning at the tailor's shop in Melrose Park by two men at the point of a revolver. No arrests were made.

Dolle Is in More Trouble.

George Dolle, arrested in St. Louis Oct. 31, and brought to Chicago Nov. 3 as a suspect in the Clybourn Junction station robbery July 4, last night was taken to Cincinnati to answer to a charge of stealing diamonds valued at $2,800. At the request of Inspector Campbell the case against Dolle was dismissed by the grand jury, that he might be surrendered to the Cincinnati detectives. The confession of the car barns bandits that they committed the station robbery relieved Dolle of the charge upon which he was brought to Chicago.

Will Aid South Side Police.

Owing to the inability of the police of the Fiftieth street station to cope with crime in that district Lieut. John F. Sullivan of the Central detail last night was transferred there to check the holdups and burglaries. Robbers and thugs have become so bold in the Fiftieth street district that residents fear after dark to go on the streets. Not a night passes without several holdups. Lieut. Anson Backus is transferred to the city hall.

Bride Locked Up as Thief.

Mamie Morris, a bride of six weeks, is locked up at the Harrison street police station charged with stealing a muff in a State street department store yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Morris, who says that her home was in Toledo, O., and that she has been living at 3816 Forest avenue with her husband, who is a traveling salesman, fainted when taken to the police station. She will be given a hearing this morning before Justice Caverly in the Harrison street police court.

SAYS HE PAID $175 IN VAIN FOR PLACE IN CITY EMPLOY.

Louis Kern, Failing to Get the Position, Has Charles H. Hermann, 36 Rice Street, Arrested.

Failure to secure Louis Kern, 392 North Winchester avenue, a position as street inspector after he is alleged to have obtained nearly $175 for such service, caused the arrest of Charles H. Hermann, 36 Rice street, last night. Hermann when taken to the station denied the charge. Hermann is said by Kern to have promised to get him a position in the city hall for many months. After paying the money, and waiting for several weeks, Kern says his suspicions were aroused and he demanded that the money be returned. When Hermann refused Kern swore out a warrant.

Y. W. C. A. HAS EPIDEMIC SCARE.

Nearly Twenty Girls at 288 Michigan Avenue Made Ill by the Drinking Water.

Apprehension of an epidemic caused by impure water yesterday disturbed the management of the Young Women's Christian association building, 288 Michigan avenue, when it was reported to the superintendent, Mrs. Emma Davidson, that nearly twenty guests were ill. Miss Anna Degeler was the most severely affected, and Dr. Wells of the Samaritan hospital was called. He declared that the illness was due to impure drinking water, possibly contaminated through defective plumbing. An investigation was ordered by the management.

SHAVE AND HAIRCUT COST $3.

Iowa Stockman Causes Arrest of a Barber Who Made Prices to Suit Himself.

Because he was charged $3 for a shave and haircut, M. J. Ryan of Centerville, Ia., a stock show visitor, yesterday caused the arrest of William Meyers, a barber at 18 Polk street. The latter told the police he had perfumed Ryan's hair and given him a face massage. The stockman failed to notice any extra attentions. The charge against the barber was obtaining money by means of a confidence game.

Miss Grace Todd, Missing Since Last Sunday, Returns and Says She's Engaged.

Miss Grace Todd, who disappeared from her boarding place, 5703 Cottage Grove avenue, last Sunday, and for whom the police have been searching, yesterday returned and announced that she is soon to marry Edwin Hayden, 474 Fullerton avenue, whose acquaintance she made through correspondence. She did not explain where she had been but proudly exhibited an engagement ring.

CALLS CHICAGO A LAWLESS CITY.

Ald. Mavor Says It Is Worst Place in the World for Violating Statutes.

BEST CITIZENS OFFEND.

A few hangings are what Chicago needs.

There are policemen enough to patrol the city if they were active.

Without more respect for law it would be impossible to preserve order if there were a policeman for every thug.

Chicago is the most lawless city in the country and a wave of anarchy and outlawry seems to be going over it at present.

No one respects law; no one respects the courts; the courts don't respect themselves. By their methods cases are not disposed of but piled up.

Even the respectable Chicago citizen violates the laws constantly, heedlessly, and almost unconsciously. When he tries to violate them he has no equal.

The foregoing analysis of conditions in Chicago was made by Ald. William Mavor yesterday. Mr. Mavor is chairman of the finance committee and the man who directs the appropriation of money for the various city departments. Responsibility for the unsafe condition of the streets at night, he said, could not be charged to the smallness of the police force.

He referred to the reports of the municipal bureau of statistics for proof that Chicago has as many policemen in proportion to population as other cities.

The reason for criminal conditions, he said, is to be found in the peculiar disregard for law which prevails throughout the city.

More Police than Needed.

"In my ward, the Sixth, we have more policemen than we need," said the alderman. "I went to the mayor and suggested that he take ten out and give us more garbage wagons, but he said that we'd better let the men stay. There are forty traveling beats in the ward.

"There are plenty of policemen or they would be enough in a town where law had some respect. Even if they were not sufficient they are all that can be employed.

"A little more activity on their part and the severe punishment of the thugs when captured would clear the atmosphere in Chicago. Just at present conditions look worse because thre is a wave of anarchy and outlawry going over the city. A few hangings will remedy this.

"Until there is more respect for law there will be little safety for citizens, and an increase in the number of policemen would not preserve order. The present force and the courts could remedy things by working together."

Comparison with Other Cities.

The reports of the city statistician do not bear out the alderman's contention altogether. They show that New York, with an estimated population of 3,583,000, an area of 326 square miles, and 2,572 miles of streets, has a police force of 7,460 men.

Chicago, with a population of 1,800,000, an area of 191 square miles, and 4,163 miles of streets, has a force of 2,963 men. New York, with not double the population, not double the area, and about half the miles of streets, has nearly three times the number of policemen.

Philadelphia, with a population of 1,335,000, an area of 132 square miles, and 1,540 miles of street, has 2,552 men in the police department—a comparison which shows Chicago more nearly on an equal footing.

Flying Squadron to Be Tried.

Chief O'Neill said that the mayor's idea of having a flying squadron for a campaign against thugs was entirely feasible and would be adopted.

"We intend to go as far as the law permits and maybe a shade beyond it," said the chief. "I am satisfied that most of the holdups are done by tramps living in lodging houses. They will be given the alternative of working or getting out of Chicago.

"As soon as the municipal lodging house is open, which will be within a few days, the new system will be put in operation.

"I have instructed the inspectors to prepare for a thorough round up of the lodging houses. The inmates are to be searched for concealed weapons and the class of men who are attracted every year to Chicago will be disarmed at least.

"The municipal lodging house has the faculty of differentiating between men who will work and men who will steal. There are a few who will work and rob too. The thugs are the men we are after and we intend to get them out of Chicago some way or other."

BRIDAL JOKE CAUSES SURPRISE.

Mourning Streamers and Baby Carriage Hung to Vehicle in Which Couple Drive Downtown.

Seated in a carriage draped in mourning, a baby carriage suspended from the rear axle, and the windows broken by old shoes thrown by friends after leaving the church Joseph Scheubert and his bride attracted attention as they drove through the streets in the downtown district last night to the Edelweiss restaurant, where they partook of a wedding supper. Scheubert, who is a saloonkeeper at 551 South Halsted street, was married yesterday to Miss Hagemann, Sixteenth and Spring streets, at St. Francis' church. The prank was played by Ald. Henry Fick and others. The bride is a sister of Detective Hagemann.

SUITS FOR PARK LAND FILED.

Beginning of Condemnation Proceedings Involving $1,000,000 Is Reported to the South Board.

The filing of three condemnation suits was reported to the South park board at its meeting yesterday. The suits, for the possession of property to be utilized for sites for small parks, are a forerunner of condemnation proceedings which will approximate $1,000,000 before title is obtained on all the property sought by the committee on new parks. These concern property bounded by Twenty-ninth street, Thirtieth street, Halsted street, and Poplar avenue; Forty-seventh street, Forty-eighth street, Atlantic street, and Hermitage avenue, and a tract of land in South Chicago.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT BEES.

Northwestern Association of Apiarists Begins Three Days' Session at the Revere House.

The Northwestern Beekeepers' association yesterday began a three days' session at the Revere house, with delegates in attendance from most of the central states. Exhibits of devices of use to beekeepers were shown and methods for the production of honey were discussed. One of the principal questions under consideration was that of destroying foul broods, and a committee was appointed to formulate a law giving state inspectors power to enter upon premises where such broods exist and destroy them.

LAWYER SHOT DOWN BY A HOLDUP MAN.

JAMES A. FULLENWIDER.

James A. Fullenwider, who was fatally wounded last evening by one of two holdup men at Forty-first street and Wabash avenue, has been a practicing attorney in Chicago since 1879, having an office with Alfred D. Eddy in the Fisher building. He was born near Bloomington forty-seven years ago, and was graduated from the Michigan university law school. He has been a trustee of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church for a number of years. Mr. Fullenwider has a wife and a 15 year old daughter, Irene. Dr. J. B. Murphy, who operated on the wounded attorney at the Mercy hospital last night, said there was little hope that he would recover.

BANDITS FIND NEW LEVEL

DISCOVER THAT THERE ARE NO HEROES IN JAIL.

No Better Now than "Cheap Thieves" in Neighboring Cells and Discovery Displeases Them—Inquests on Detectives Quinn and Driscoll Will Be Held on Saturday Morning—Funeral of Latter Tomorrow in Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

The car barn robbers have been put in obscurity by Sheriff Barrett and Jailer Whitman, into whose custody the quartet passed Monday afternoon. The prisoners are beginning to chafe under the monotony of jail life.

"We don't seem to cut any more figure over here than the cheapest brass thief," Neidermeier declared regretfully yesterday. "I wish I was back at Harrison street, where we were in it every hour of the day."

The prisoner appeared to think that his presence among the other prisoners on the tier ought to have been appreciated by them, but in this he was disappointed. The "cheap thieves" around him smiled pityingly, and finally one of them said:

Visitors Are Excluded.

"Positively no one admitted to see the car barn robbers," was the text of a notice posted in the sheriff's office by Sheriff Barrett in the morning.

"That notice means that the robbers are no longer on dress parade," said Mr. Barrett. "Mr. Whitman has put them in the same category as his other charges, and is treating them accordingly."

Arrangements for disposing of the cases against Marx have begun. William A. Morrow and George M. Popham, his attorneys, had a conference with Assistant State's Attorney Olson yesterday afternoon, and some proceedings will be had this week.

The inquests on Detectives Quinn and Driscoll will be held Saturday morning.

The funeral of Driscoll will take place tomorrow morning, with services at the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Wellington and Bissell streets. A company of police from the north side division, led by Assistant Chief Schuettler and Inspector Campbell, will attend.

Money for Victims' Families.

At a largely attended massmeeting Tuesday evening the citizens of the Twenty-fifth ward inaugurated a movement towards raising a testimonial fund for the widows and children of the murdered policemen. Committees were appointed to solicit funds, and plans for an entertainment to be held in Lincoln Turner hall after the holidays were made.

Additions were made to the mayor's fund, the total received up to last evening reaching $627. One contribution was $100 from William Kent.

SAYS DUGOUT WAS STOLEN.

Indiana Man Makes Trouble for Dime Museum Proprietors by Coming with Warrant.

Armed with an Indiana state warrant, and accompanied by a constable, John H. Ansbro, who says he is the owner of the dugout in which the street car bandits were surprised, near Miller's station, last Friday morning, came to Chicago yesterday to recover the dugout.

Since last Saturday the dugout has been on exhibition at a museum on Clark street, where it has enabled museum managers to reap a harvest of dimes from curiosity seekers. Ansbro, who dwelt in the structure of which the dugout was the cellar until fire destroyed the building, alleges that the museum men carried the dugout away in the night, and, in the warrant which he swore out before Judge Hembroff of Hammond, he charged Manager Paul House with grand larceny.

The constable threatened to seize the dugout, but it was discovered that the management had caused the dugout to be attached for debt by one of the employés. Finally, the owner of the dugout and the manager agreed on terms and the dugout was purchased by the museum.

MAY INDICT A COMBINE.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING PLUMBERS' SUPPLY HOUSES.

Charge Is Conspiracy in Restraint of Trade and Will Be Based on Allegations and Evidence Collected by W. S. Moore, Who Declares Federal Company Is Member of a "Pool"—Fact of Agreement Must Be Proved Before Action Is Taken.

Indictments charging conspiracy in restraint of trade may be voted by the grand jury today against the members of the so-called plumbers' supply trust. The charges will be similar to those made against the officers and members of the Sheet Metal Contractors' association several months ago on the evidence of E. A. Rysdon.

The present inquiry centers on charges made by W. S. Moore Jr. of Evanston, a master plumber, in which he declares that the Federal company is a member of a pool with many other plumbing supply houses, and that, because of discriminations made against him by this alleged combine, his business was injured.

Although the investigation started on a charge of perjury against the officers of the Federal company, it has broadened into a general inquiry into the operations of the Chicago supply houses.

Juror Hints at Indictments.

"It appears as though Moore will be able to establish the fact of a combine," said a member of the grand jury yesterday. "We shall complete the investigation before we take up any other business, and while I can not say in advance of hearing all of the evidence what the jury will do, I now think the chances of indictments are not remote."

What the prosecution must establish before indictments for conspiracy in restraint of trade can be voted, is the fact of an agreement among the supply houses, by which they fix prices on their wares, and so operate as to abolish competition among them. Moore has filed an abstract of his evidence.

What Moore Proposes to Show.

That there are two combinations of supply houses working in conjunction to throttle competition, one of which, a Chicago pool, controls the sale of general plumbing fixtures and supplies in Cook county, and the other controls the sale of brass goods in the west.

That the several members of the pool pay into a general fund certain percentages of their gross earnings, which fund is distributed among the members of the combine to equalize profits.

A system of penalties for cutting prices and for selling to nonmembers also is alleged.

GROCERY TO HAVE BRANCHES.

Charles H. Slack Preparing to Open Ten or Fifteen Stores in Various Quarters of City.

Charles H. Slack is preparing to establish a system of retail grocery stores through Chicago and its larger suburbs. To further the plan the grocer yesterday incorporated the Charles H. Slack company, with a capital of $250,000.

The incorporators were Mr. Slack, Harrison Musgrave, and James B. Gascoigne. For the thirty years he has been in the grocery business in Chicago Mr. Slack has conducted his enterprise as an individual proprietor.

"I incorporated my business," said he last night, "in order to increase it. I have not yet decided upon the number of stores to open in different quarters of the city and in the suburbs, but presume there will be from ten to fifteen."

INDICATION OF MURDER FOUND.

A. Kramer, Who Was Found Dead in Kensington, May Have Been Killed for Money.

Evidence which points to a possible murder was brought to light yesterday at the inquest held over the body of A. Kramer, 173 East Twenty-third street, who was found dead with a revolver in his hands at Ninety-eighth street and Michigan avenue. There was a bullet wound in the man's right temple. It developed that Kramer, who at one time had been employed as a waiter in a café in Monroe street, had left the rooms of a friend, Phillip Lippert, 14 Custom House place, Sunday evening with a large sum of money. The police believe he may have been murdered and the revolver placed in his hand.

FRIENDLY TO SCHOOL BOARD.

Mrs. O. T. Bright Says She Plans a Friendly Suit in Co-operation with Trustees.

Mrs. O. T. Bright, secretary of the School Extension society, says that her statement to the La Grange Woman's club, reported by the City Press association, was not intended to be hostile to the board of education. She says that, instead of planning a suit against the board to compel it to allow the use of rooms for boys' clubs, "the board of education might see fit to concur in the filing of a friendly suit to test the law."

NEW BOODLE CASES IN GRAND RAPIDS.

PLAN TO LOOT THE TOWN.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—New chapters in Grand Rapids' boodle story will be started tomorrow, it is said, when Attorney Walker resumes his cross examination of Lant K. Salsbury. These chapters concern street railway franchises and an alleged plan of Salsbury's to sell the municipal lighting plant of this city.

It is said that Salsbury had a plan to create a prejudice against the plant, on the ground that it was expensive and poorly managed, and to have a bill passed by the legislature to allow the board of public works to sell it. His plan, it is said, included the purchase of the plant by a stock company to be organized and a subsequent consolidation with the Edison company and two water power companies in this vicinity.

Have Additional Confession.

It is said that William Leonard, who is charged with having delivered $1,250 to Garman, the prosecution's star witness, when Salsbury was convicted two years ago, has made a statement to the prosecution regarding that matter.

Prosecutor Ward said this evening: "We have evidence in a number of our cases to corroborate the story told by Salsbury. We are perfectly satisfied of the truth of every detail of the story related by Salsbury, and have reason to believe that his sworn statement alone would justify the issuance of warrants."

Says Five Will Plead Guilty.

Attorney John McDonald's announcement that he expected five of his clients to plead guilty in the Superior court was the principal development in the water plant boodle scandal today. The five men referred to by the attorney appeared before the police magistrate and waived examination to the higher court. It is generally understood that those who plead guilty of accepting bribes will be punished by fines and no imprisonment, and that they will be used as witnesses by the prosecution in the cases of those of the accused city officials who insist upon having trials.

The five men who waived examination today are: Ex-Ald. John Donovan, Clark E. Slocum, John McLachlan, Reyner Stonehouse, and Cory P. Bissell, a former member of the board of work. Ex-Ald. Lozier, it is said, will waive examination tomorrow, but Ald. Johnson of the Seventh ward will insist upon an examination in the lower court.

Salsbury was confined to his bed at his home all day today, suffering from nervous prostration, and in consequence the examination in the case of Ald. Ellen of the First ward was postponed until tomorrow morning.

More Warrants Expected.

It was reported this evening that if Salsbury does not take the witness stand tomorrow, warrants will be issued for the arrest for some of those implicated by Salsbury in the conspiracy part of the deal, and it was partly confirmed by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Ward, who has the cases in hand.

EXPLAIN COLLEGE AFFAIR.

Board of Trustees at Raleigh, N. C., Tell Why They Decline to Accept Resignation of Prof. Bassett.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The trustees of Trinity college here, who voted 18 to 7 not to accept the resignation of Prof. Bassett, teacher of history in the college, because of personal views expressed by him in the News and Observer, have issued an explanation for their refusal.

They declare Prof. Bassett was coerced into the action he took, while his expressions were in no sense official, and that he did not represent them as such. The trustees also assert that while the opinions expressed are unanimously condemned by the student body, both the faculty and the students have expressed a desire that the resignation be not accepted. The board finds there is no question as to Prof. Bassett's moral qualifications, his scholarly fitness, his competency as a teacher, or his command of the confidence of his classes.

The explanation closes with the assertion: "We state as a fact that Prof. Bassett does not believe in nor teach social equality, and we have confidence in him both as a man and a teacher."

Prof. Bassett was quoted as saying that Booker T. Washington was the greatest man the south had ever known, excepting, possibly, Gen. Lee.

MRS. ARTHUR ALDIS BETTER.

Recovering from Attack of Pneumonia, but Will Not Be Out for Several Weeks.

Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis, who has been ill with pneumonia, was much improved last night. The physician who is attending her said the danger was past, but that it would be several weeks before Mrs. Aldis could go out.

About Fear

Often Caused by Lack of Right Food

Napoleon said that the best fed soldiers were his best soldiers, for fear and nervousness come quickly when the stomach is not nourished. Nervous fear is a sure sign that the body is not supplied with the right food.

A Connecticut lady says: "For many years I had been a sufferer from indigestion and heart trouble and in almost constant fear of sudden death, the most acute suffering possible. Dieting brought on weakness, emaciation and nervous exhaustion and I was a complete wreck physically and almost a wreck mentally.

"I tried many foods but could not avoid the terrible nausea followed by vomiting that came after eating until I tried Grape-Nuts. This food agreed with my palate and stomach from the start. This was about a year ago. Steadily and surely a change from sickness to health came until now I have no symptoms of dyspepsia and can walk 10 miles a day without being greatly fatigued. I have not taken a drop of medicine since I began the use of Grape-Nuts and people say I look many years younger than I really am.

"My poor old sick body has been made over and I feel as though my head has been, too. Life is worth living now and I expect to enjoy it for many years to come if I keep away from bad foods and have Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

VARICOCELE HYDROCELE CURED IN 5 DAYS.

H. J. TILLOTSON, M. D.

(Copyrighted.)

Talk to Men Afflicted with Pelvic Diseases.

I have a direct personal message to every man afflicted with Pelvic disease or weakness peculiar to his sex.

I want to talk especially with the man who has dosed himself with patent remedies, or free trial samples. I want to talk with the man who has been using Belts, Electro-Medical Combinations, or similar devices.

If this has been your unhappy experience, you are cordially invited to come to my office, where I will fully and freely explain to you why such treatment has not cured you, and when I will demonstrate to your entire satisfaction why I can cure you safely, quickly, and permanently. My counsel is free.

Certainty of cure is what you want, and what I am prepared to warrant you. I can and will cite you, by permission, to men whom I have recently cured and made happy, among them some of the most prominent and influential citizens of Chicago and vicinity.

I treat diseases of men, MEN ONLY, and cure them to stay cured.

Varicocele

Instead of vital parts being maimed and injured, they are preserved and strengthened, pain ceases entirely and almost instantly, swelling subsides, healthy circulation is rapidly re-established, and every part of the organism affected is thoroughly restored.

Hydrocele

My treatment of Hydrocele and its associate conditions is original with me, and obtainable exclusively only at my hands. You are no doubt familiar with some of the tedious, painful, and surgical methods of old-time treatment. I have investigated all of them. To do my important work I have spent thousands of dollars with a special view of knowing all that is to be known about Hydrocele.

I cure Hydrocele and its complications within five days WITHOUT PAIN, WITHOUT KNIFE, WITHOUT DETENTION FROM BUSINESS; CURING TO STAY CURED under bank guarantee.

Rupture

Disregard of existing rupture has cost many human lives. Strangulation of the bowels and old-time methods of operating with the knife have contributed to this fatality. My methods obviate this and cure with absolute certainty and safety, and entail no suffering. The smallest hernias are the most dangerous to life, because of the increased liability to strangulation.

Blood Poison

Prompt and heroic treatment is the only kind that should ever be used in combating this disease.

Only temporary relief can come from hot spring baths, specifics, mercury, potash, or other minerals mixtures and poisons

Every external symptom soon disappears, while the blood, the tissues, the nerve fibers, the bones, and the whole system are cleansed, strengthened, and restored to perfect health and purity.

Nervo-Vital Debility

CEREBRAL—When the mental forces are impaired.

SPINAL—When the spinal centers are involved and motor power is diminished.

VITAL—When the Great Sympathetic Nervous System is affected and the forces that govern the organs of life are reduced by the baneful reflex effects of disease incident to the organs of the pelvis.

No one afflicted with Nervo-Vital Debility in any of its forms should despair after failure to obtain satisfactory results from inferior treatment. My methods rid you of the main malady which underlies nervous disease and disturbance, and I am able to restore you to enviable health and strength. Every case is a personal study with me, and I invariably modify my treatment to answer the requirements in individual cases.

I cure all weakness induced by specific nervous complaints and put you on the right track to complete health or restore the conditions essential to your future life and happiness.

Associate Diseases

In curing a disease of any kind I never fail to remove all reflex complications.

In the case of Varicocele or Hydrocele the weakness caused by it disappears. If it has developed into Prostatic, Bladder, or Kidney affections the injured parts are all restored to a perfect, healthful condition. If it is Blood Poison, all Skin, Blood, and Bone diseases arising from the taint are entirely and permanently eliminated from the system. If it is Nervous Debility, the many distressing symptoms following in its train, and indicating a decline of physical and mental power, are totally removed and rapidly replaced by the energy of robust manhood. Hence, all resulting ills and reflex complications, which may be properly termed associate diseases, and which, in fact, are often more serious than the original ailment that gives rise to them—all, I say, disappear completely and forever with the cure of the main malady.

JUDGE ARRAIGNS "SLUGGING" GANGS

"Blot on Civilization," Declares Holdom in the Pressfeeders' Case.

TALKS TO UNION LEADERS

"Education committees and slugging gangs," as sent out by Franklin union No. 4 of No. 4 of pressfeeders were bitterly assailed yesterday by Judge Jesse Holdom as "a blot on civilization" and "a disgrace to Chicago." His denunciation was handed down in an ex parte opinion on the contempt cases against the men which come up for a final hearing this morning.

The Chicago Typothetæ, the association of employers, hopes to have Judge Holdom hold the union as an organization guilty of the acts of violence that have marked the strike of the men. All of the evidence in the case now is in, and it was at the close of the examination of witnesses that the union was assailed from the bench.

"Every act of violence that is within the ingenuity of lawless men, from opprobrious epithets to the use of bullets, has marked the course of this civil strife," said the judge in ordering the attorneys to prepare briefs and submit them today.

Rights of Citizens Attacked.

"It is wrong," he continued, "that persons employed by a nonunion party, who desire to work from day to day, are not permitted to do it; that they walk about in this community as citizens do in a city where there is a revolution; that they meet not only insult but physical violence, as they have by pickets in this particular strike or lockout, whatever you may term it, from its inception to the present time.

"It is not commendable to any one engaged in it in the remotest degree. Neither the president, nor secretary, nor the officers of Franklin union No. 4 can shift the full responsibility resting upon them as being the fountain head from which all this struggle emanated. Morally, they are chargeable."

Rebukes the Union Leaders.

The judge then turned toward the officers of the union and took them to task.

"But you cannot shirk it, not one of you, so far as the morality of the matter is concerned," the court continued. "In any intelligent community you cannot be allowed to excuse yourself. We have here the violence of these pickets and the rights of these citizens when intimidated—for girls and women have been intimidated. We find no holding up of hands of one of these officers or of one of these members of the union in protest at these acts which should make every good citizen bow his head in shame. I did not think it possible that there could be such acts committed in this community, in the twentieth century."

Hints at Contempt Decision.

In closing his remarks the judge said that while he was "strongly of the opinon" to hold the Franklin union guilty of contempt in the acts of violence that have been committed, yet he might change his mind on further arguments. On that account he ordered the attorneys to prepare briefs and make a final argument at 11 o'clock today.

The counsel for the Typothetæ, A. H. Weseman, declared that the case against the Franklin union is the first of its kind in the country. By its plea the Typothetæ hopes to have the entire union, which is incorporated, held for contempt and fined. It bases its contention on the allegation that the union is responsible for the acts of its officers and its agents.

The attorney for the union, John Bloomington, asserted that the organization of the men has had no control over those guilty of assaulting nonunion workmen, that it has not ordered any acts of violence, and that it is not responsible for what has occurred.

It was the intention of the attorney for the Typothetæ to have President C. F. Woerner and Secretary John M. Shea of the union held as individuals, but Judge Holdom ruled out the case.

Nonunion Man Is Kidnaped.

The strike of the International Ladies' Garments Workers against Hoffheimer & Strassburger, 216 Van Buren street, resulted yesterday in an attempt at kidnaping. At noon, Michael Sokel, a nonunion cutter, left the factory and immediately was pursued by pickets. He fled east to Fifth avenue, where he was caught by five men and told that he was under arrest. Sokel's captors took him toward the union headquarters at 167 Washington street.

Sokel demanded that they allow him to see a friend at 92 La Salle street and permission reluctantly was given. While in an office there he telephoned for help, which was sent him by Secretary Victor Sincere of the Employers' association. When assistance arrived the building was found surrounded by union men who had to be driven away. On leaving Sokel identified two of his captors, Lewis Rothschild and Charles Grossman, who were made defendants in Judge Caverly's court on charges of disorderly conduct.

MAHON AGAIN IS IN CONTROL.

Strike Leader Comes to Chicago to Aid in Enforcing Street Car Peace Terms.

International President W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employés yesterday arrived in Chicago and resumed control of the situation on the lines of the Chicago City railway. He called a meeting of the local leaders and they told him that General Manager McCulloch was not living up to the peace agreement. Afterwards he visited Attorney E. R. Bliss of the company and protested against the alleged tactics of Manager McCulloch. It was asserted that eighty men have not been reinstated and that the management is violating the agreement.

Attorney Bliss denied the allegations and maintained that only twenty men were not employed and that warrants charging violence had been sworn out against only fifteen more. He told Mahon that he would investigate and give an answer today.

Representatives of the National Stove Founders' Defense association, the national organization of manufacturers, met with the officers of the Metal Polishers' union at the Auditorium hotel yesterday to arrange a new schedule of hours to affect 5,000 members of the labor union. The men desire a nine hour work day.

Business Agent Charles Rau of the Steamfitters' Protective association is looking for George Ade. Somewhere, he can't locate the place, Rau heard that the young author and playwright is building a house in Highland Park and is employing nonunion steamfitters. If the report proves to be correct Rau intends to ask Ade to discharge the men, and if he refuses a boycott is to be declared against Ade's books and plays.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—Evidence is being collected by E. D. CUT WAGES; OTHERS BUSY

RETRENCHMENTS CONTRASTED WITH RENEWED INDUSTRY.

Marked Revival from Dull Period Recorded in a Number of Lines, While New Economies Are Found in Others—Michigan Mines, Railway and Steel Trust Save — Plants Around Pittsburg Open with Double Shifts—Shingle Mills Stay Open.

The wave of retrenchment in the big industrial plants of the country is being met by a marked revival in many sections, particularly in the iron trade, where mills that were shut down recently have been opened, in some cases for both day and night shifts. There have been other reductions as well in various parts of the country. The retrenchments and renewals announced yesterday are as follows:

RETRENCHMENTS.

BESSEMER, Mich.—Three hundred and fifty men struck at the Sunday Lake and Brotherton mines at Wakefield. The operators reduced wages Dec. 1, and, in view of the strike, have closed down the mines for the winter.

READING, PA.—The men in the blacksmith department of the Reading railway company's car shops were notified that their day's work would be ten hours hereafter instead of eight. The storehouse employés were today put on full time. These two orders affect 200 hands.

JOLIET, ILL.—A reduction of from 5 to 10 per cent in wages was ordered in the wire mills of the United States Steel company, affecting 1,000 men.

RENEWALS.

PITTSBURG, PA.—The present indications are that within a week or ten days nearly every industry in Braddock, Homestead, and the Turtle Creek valley will be working double time with a full complement of men. The twenty-eight inch mill of the Homestead works has resumed after being shut down for several weeks, and every other department in the Homestead works, with the exception of the converting and 128 inch mill, undergoing repairs, is now running. The Howard axle works will resume in full next week, and many of the men who were laid off recently at the Mesta Machine company's plant in West Homestead are being called back to work, as orders are fast accumulating. Nearly all of the 1,000 men laid off several weeks ago at the Westinghouse Electric company's plant in East Pittsburg are again at work, and many others are being hired. At Wilmerding the majority of the men suspended recently in the Westinghouse Air Brakes company's plant have resumed work, and the shops are assured steady work for the next year. The Standard Chain company's plant at Braddock, and many of the smaller manufacturing concerns that have been shut down for the last two weeks are preparing to resume work.

MONESSEN, PA.—After a month's idleness the rod mill, field fence, and nail departments and the finishing mills of the Pittsburg Steel company resumed today, giving employment to over 1,500 men.

CALUMET, MICH.—Late developments indicate that the shingle mills of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota may not close this winter. The Wolverine Cedar and Lumber company will start operations at Northland this week at a new scale of wages agreed upon by the Shingle Weavers' union and the company.

See Peace in Mitchell.

Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—John Mitchell arrived tonight to take control of the coal strike situation, and his coming was the occasion for a greeting such as few persons have ever received in Colorado. It is believed that he will be able to bring the coal strike to a satisfactory conclusion, and over 3,000 men, women, and children greeted him at the station.

Thousands Surround Carriage.

As Mr. Mitchell stepped from the train a squad of thirty policemen surrounded him to keep back the crowd which was pressing to get a glimpse of him. One thousand miners surrounded the carriage containing Mr. Mitchell, John F. Ream, representative of Mr. Mitchell; President Howells of District No. 15, and escorted them to the hotel.

The town had a holiday appearance, and all business was practically suspended for the day.

Tonight a secret conference was held, those present being Mr. Mitchell and the members of the national board who are here, officials of district No. 15, and the presidents of the various miners' unions. Nothing was given out.

The United Mineworkers' officials in Trinidad are preparing a circular letter to the coal operators, asking them to meet the miners who were in their employ in conference without reference to the officials or organizers of the unions. This letter is believed to be a move in the direction of ending the strike.

More Troops at Cripple Creek.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Dec. 2.—The military force in this district was further increased today. Union miners have organized a committee of safety, the purpose of which is to protect and defend union members should any attempt be made to drive them out of the district.

Miners Protest to Roosevelt.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 2.—The executive board of the Western Federation of Miners has sent a telegram to President Roosevelt, protesting against strikers being ordered out of Telluride.

Not Likely to Interfere.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—President Roosevelt today received the telegram from the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners. It is said the matter is in the hands of the state authorities of Colorado, and that it does not appear at this time that the federal government, through the president, properly can take action on it. The secretary of war, who has been consulted by the Colorado authorities, has expressed the opinion that the government cannot interfere legally in the trouble in the Telluride district at the present juncture.

No Need of Federal Troops.

Maj. Gen. J. C. Bates, who was sent to Colorado to investigate the disturbances in the Cripple Creek and Telluride mining districts, has submitted his report to Lieut. Gen. Young, the chief of staff of the army. He says he sees no need for federal troops.

Notes of the Labor World.

Coal miners at Spring Hill, N. J., struck over the method of measuring; about 1,500 union men are out.

Vice President Lewis of the miners' union said yesterday that he doubted the report of a wholesale wage reduction for miners in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and western Pennsylvania.

Præcipes in fifteen suits against the Ellsworth Coal company, alleging violations of the alien contract labor law in bringing Welsh miners to this country, were filed in Pittsburg yesterday.

HARRY LEHR IMITATES ACTRESS

Presence in Washington Theater Explained as Due to Desire to Copy Fay Templeton at Masque Ball.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Harry Lehr of New York has been in the audience which saw "The Runaways" here for two nights. It is said he is here for the purpose of studying Miss Fay Templeton in her imitations with a view to reproducing them at a coming society masque ball. It is thought the ball in question is the annual function given by Mrs. Astor. Miss Templeton refused to say anything about the report tonight, either in affirmation or denial. It is understood, however, that Miss Templeton is coaching Lehr both in private and through his presence in her audience to reproduce some of her famous imitations of well known actresses.

FIELD TO ENTER NEW ORLEANS?

Report in That City Says He Is to Buy Opera House for Store—Denied in Chicago.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—It is declared that Marshall Field of Chicago is likely to, buy the Grand opera house and convert it into a department store. Those responsible for the rumor say he is bidding against independent theatrical combinations for the place.

Both Robert M. Fair and Harry G. Selfridge last night denied that Mr. Field was engaged in any transaction in New Orleans. They said there was no basis for the report.

PLEADS AND STORMS AT MASS-MEETING OF FOLLOWERS.

Contribution Taken Up and Sum Raised Supposed to Be Less than $1,000—New Claimants Appear and Ask to Be Admitted as Parties to Bankruptcy Proceedings — Preliminary Investigation Indicates That Receivership Will Last Many Months.

all these claims are filed they will treble the prophet's liabilities. Whether these followers will have the temerity to file claims, or will rather lose their money than offend their leader, is not known.

Followers Trust Dowie.

While the attorneys were making these gloomy statements of the conditions Dowie's followers remained calm in their trust in Dowie.

"I will pay my obligations, dollar for dollar, before the fisrt of the year, and shall have the affairs of Zion delivered from the receivership within five days," was the oracular announcement from the sanctum of the general overseer, and it flew from lip to lip of the faithful. And thus incipient doubt was stilled.

"One man has just arrived from Wisconsin with $3,000 in cash for the general overseer," said Deacon Newcome, "and tonight he returns to obtain $4,700 more. Another man brought in $1,500, and a woman has just telephoned that she has arrived with $1,000. The money needed will soon all be contributed."

Receivers Visit the Industries.

Although the Zion officials announced the replenishing of the treasury by these amounts the receivers who spent the day looking for money with microscopes were ignorant of the contributions. It was shortly after 9 a. m. when the receivers formally took possession of the Zion industries. Elijah's carriage was placed at the disposal of Receiver Currier, Attorneys Becker, Levinson, Goodman, and Custodian Redieske for the tour of the institutions. Chief of Police Carl Stern conducted the party. At the lace works, the first place visited, the looms were clattering as usual. The 350 employés stopped to stare at the party passing through, and one man edged up to Custodian Redieske and inquired: "Say, when do we get our pay, now?"

The business of the printing house with its ninety employés was taken over, as was also that of the brick yard with forty hands, the general stores, 150 employés, and the hospices, 100 attendants.

Over two hours were consumed in the inspection, after which the party returned to the administration building. Dowie had preceded the receivers to the office. He received the representatives of his creditors and the court with an equanimity in marked contrast to his agitation of Tuesday night.

"You have founded a wonderful city here, Dr. Dowie," observed Receiver Currier, who dropped into a chair beside the restorer. Elijah sat at a long library table with his habitual air of grand state.

Thereupon the receivers and custodians succumbed to a dissertation by the general overseer on the extent of his institution. And that ended the first conference.

Statement for Receivers.

Receiver Currier, after six hours of work, left for Chicago.

"I am looking for information as much as you are," observed the receiver to the reporter, with a resignation which was significant.

When Attorney Becker adjourned the last conference with Dowie and General Financial Manager Barnard and left for Chicago he gave his verdict of the day's investigation as follows:

"There is such a vast amount of matter to examine that it will be several days before we can arrive at a general survey of the situation. We are having statements prepared beginning with the bank and the land investment company. I am satisfied that there are large values here in Zion. Dr. Dowie is confident he can pay 100 cents on the dollar. I am inclined to think it will be possible in time."

Orders Issued by Court.

V. V. Barnes, counsel for Dowie, together with Attorney Levinson, for the receivers, had taken an early train to Chicago to request Judge Kohlsaat to issue an order authorizing the receivers to operate the Zion industries and conserve the profits. The first result of this is that by an order of court, which Judge Kohlsaat will enter this morning, Dr. Dowie and his subordinates will be restored to the practical management of the Zion industries. They will serve, however, as the agents of Receivers Blount and Currier, who are in official control. This arrangement was one of the results of a conference held in the afternoon, and is based on the theory that the old managers of the several industries are better able to conduct them profitably.

All these arrangements are tentative, however, upon the ability of the receivers to conduct the industries at a profit. Should it be discovered that the industries cannot be operated on a paying basis they will be closed by order of court. In this trial the results will be estimated upon the operation of the industries as a whole. In the event one of them is found not to be profitable, it will be continued on for a time anyway, because of the interdependence of the several enterprises.

Injunction Against Suits.

Another move made by the receivers to conserve the estate and to prevent the dissipation of the properties among two-score of creditors was to secure an injunction against all of the complainants in the suits recently commenced in Lake county against Dowie from further prosecution of these suits. The claims so tied up aggregate $67,000. These claimants, although they may not sue Dowie, may by motion in court become parties to the bankruptcy proceedings.

The bank at Zion City will remain closed indefinitely, as will its Chicago branch at Twelfth street and Michigan avenue. This latter institution had been overlooked in the first search for assets, but was discovered in full operation yesterday afternoon. It was closed at once. The receivers also took possession of the hotel at Thirteenth street and Michigan avenue, on which Dowie has a leasehold.

The insurance question is one on which the attorneys for Zion and the representatives of the receivers differed. The receivers discovered that not a building in the entire city is insured, and demanded of the court that they be allowed to protect their bond of $100,000 by placing insurance. Attorney Barnes protested at what he declared was a needless expenditure of money.

"Our people do not smoke, and parlor matches are barred from our city," he said. "No one ever gets drunk and tips over the lamp, and there is really no danger from fire."

Trading Checks to Be Honored.

Words of cheer were carried back to the wage earners of Zion in the evening by Attorney Barnes, who was authorized to announce to them that the receivers will honor all trading checks now outstanding, and in the future will pay off the workers in the several institutions with cash.

The invasion of Zion by the receivers and the reporters caused such a state of excitement that Mayor R. H. Harper felt called upon to issue the following proclamation:

"Inasmuch as we have numerous strangers in our midst, let it be proclaimed that all Zion ordinances, especially those relating to smoking and drinking, shall continue in force and be rigidly enforced."

ON THEIR WAY TO AUSTRALIA.

Jane Dowie and Her Son Gladstone on Sea After Visits in London and Paris.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Dec. 2.—By this time Mrs. Jane Dowie and her son, Dr. A. J. Gladstone Dowie, probably are on their way to Australia. They arrived at the Hotel Russell in London on Nov. 2 and left on Nov. 10 for Paris, where they stopped at the Hotel Continental. It was their announced intention to sail from some port in France, presumably Marseilles, for Australia on Nov. 25.

In the party were Mrs. Dowie's secretary, Miss J. M. Stern, and a negro, Robert Massey, who acted as valet to Dr. Gladstone Dowie, and who used to impress the guests at the hotel by appearing every night in evening dress of the most fashionable cut.

The Dowies would not see anybody who called. They often went out, and one night they were attending the theater. They had a great quantity of baggage, some of it heavy, but not more heavy than the baggage of many American travelers. One thing noticed which was regarded as odd was that Dr. Dowie had with him a canvas bag which contained $500 in $20 gold pieces.

The party lived in style while at the Russel, and were liberal in their tips to employés. They were objects of the curiosity of persons in other portions of the hotel.

When the party arrived at Liverpool Gladstone Dowie waxed wroth with a reporter who asked him if it was true that he had brought a great sum of money with him from America. He refused to continue the conversation with other reporters until the inquisitive person had been ejected. While here in London both Dr. Gladstone Dowie and his mother gave a flat denial of the statements cabled from New York that they were taking away the money of Zion City.

FINDS LIFE OF SLAVERY IN THAT OF SWEATSHOPS.

Miss Annie MacLean, University of Chicago Sociologist, Writes of Her Experiences in Tenement Workrooms.

"When prosperity is dominant, it seems incongruous that thousands of citizens are in the thralldom of slavery more harassing than that banished by the civil war. The black slaves were sure of food and shelter, while the white industrial slaves lead a most precarious existence."

This characterization of the sweatshops of Chicago and their inhabitants is made by Miss Annie Marion MacLean, who spent last summer working in Chicago sweatshops, and who tells of her experiences in an article on "The Sweatshop in Summer," which appeared yesterday in The Journal of Sociology, published by the University of Chicago, at which she is an instructor.

Miss MacLean's first day's work consisted in sewing pockets for small boys' trousers. Six people worked in an unclean, small room, lighted by one window.

"I learned little from the workers," says Miss MacLean. "But I saw much. I saw a group of human beings working under conditions not fit for human beings; and I saw the mere pittance handed me for two days' toil."

Miss MacLean worked four days at 50 cents a day, making cotton wrappers in a tenement where the sleeping and working rooms were the same.

DISCREDIT PEACE RUMORS

LONDON UNABLE TO CONFIRM RUSSIAN-JAPANESE REPORT.

St. Petersburg Correspondent of Telegraph Ascribes to High Official the Opinion That Settlement Is Less Hopeful than It Has Been for Some Time—Chinese Envoy Said to Have Reached Kobe—Tokio Government Is Again Censured.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Dec. 3, 3 a. m.—Nowhere can confirmation be obtained of the rumor from Paris that Russia and Japan have reached an agreement on the Manchurian question, and the story is received skeptically here.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph ascribes to a responsible official there the opinion that the propects for peace are far less hopeful than they were a while ago.

The Daily Mail says it learns that Russia's unyielding resistance to the opening of Yongampho, in Corea, still blocks the settlement. The paper adds that the situation is acute and nearing a crisis.

The Standard doubts the authenticity of the Paris story and says it believes the position one of extreme delicacy and even danger.

Czar May Propose Arbitration.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph hints at the possibility that the czar at the eleventh hour will personally propose the arbitration of the Russo-Japanese dispute, adding, however, terms of reference that would in such a case be so defined as to eliminate everything touching the rights which the Russian statesmen regard as being impossible to submit to a third party without a loss of dignity.

Russian Warships Safe.

It is announced from St. Petersburg that the Russian armored cruiser Bayan and the battleship Tsarevitch had arrived at Port Arthur. Ever since Nov. 23 the report had been current that Japanese warships had been dispatched to prevent the Bayan and Tsarevitch reaching Port Arthur to join the Russian squadron there.

Chinese Envoy at Kobe.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Kobe says that Col. Tachibana, the military adviser of Yuan Shih Ki, the viceroy of the Chinese province of Chili, has arrived at Kobe with a confidential message to the authorities. The Mail deduces from this that China is throwing her lot with Japan.

St. Petersburg Officials Depressed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the National Zeitung describes the diplomatists there as being depressed and extremely uneasy concerning the internal condition of Russia. Several junior members of the diplomatic body have been investigating the situation with great care, and met with great difficulties in the performance of their task. They ascertained that the state of ferment and agitation was such that serious troubles are probable during the winter. The correspondent adds that the ambassadors regarded their information to be sufficiently trustworthy and important to forward official reports on the subject to their respective governments.

Progressives Censure Government.

TOKIO, Dec. 2.—The progressive party, which is the strongest in Japan after the constitutional party, has adopted a resolution similar to the one adopted by the Constitutional association yesterday denouncing the delay in negotiations between Russia and Japan and urging that they be hastened, but the progressives' resolution is more strongly worded. It denounces the government's weakened diplomacy, which, it declares, has brought the country into universal contempt. It also demands that the principal ports of Manchuria be opened to trade. There are signs that the two parties under the stress of the crisis may possibly coöperate in an effort to overturn the government.

England Said to Have Bought Ships.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Dec. 2.—The battleship Libertad, now undergoing speed trials on the Clyde, and the battleship Constitution, now in course of construction in England, have been sold by the Chilean government to the British government for $9,000,000.

POPE RECEIVES AMERICANS.

Minister Bellamy Storer and Mrs. Storer Given Audience by Pius at the Vatican.

ROME, Dec. 2.—Bellamy Storer, United States ambassador to Austria, and Mrs. Storer were received in audience by the pope today. During the audience the pope's manner was most affable, and the pope expressed great satisfaction at the good feeling and the kindly interest displayed in the United States during the illness of Pope Leo and the pleasure evinced by Americans in his own election. Much knowledge of American affairs was shown by the pope, who said that he greatly desired to please the people of the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Storer afterwards visted Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, the members of whose family they had known during their three years' residence in Madrid.

RAIN OF BLOOD IN ITALY.

Natural Phenomenon Observed at Salerno After Several Days of Severe Storm.

ROME, Dec. 2.—The phenomenon known as the "rain of blood" was noticed near Salerno during the bad weather of the last few days, the raindrops being so red as to leave a stain resembling blood. This phenomenon is said to come from the Sahara after a severe sandstorm. The peasants of the neighborhood were much frightened.

WILL ASK ABOUT ARMY ABUSES.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—Herr Eugene Richter, leader of the radical party, has decided to interpellate count von Bülow, the imperial German chancellor, regarding the maltreatment of private soldiers by their officers, as demonstrated in a number of recent cases before the military courts.

DREYFUS STRIFE RENEWED

AGITATION OVER CASE ALREADY STARTED IN PARIS.

Revision Decision Not Likely to Be Arrived At Inside of Next Ten Days, as Great Numbers of Documents Are Being Examined—Nationalists Hold Meeting and Denounce Ministry for Disturbing the Peace of the Republic.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The special commission to pass upon the propriety of permitting Capt. Dreyfus to ask a revision of his sentence held a meeting today during which Gen. Mercier, the senior member, said he did not believe he would be able to make his preliminary report in less than ten days.

The revision commission has a mass of other business in hand, but it is understood the members individually are going over the papers in the case, all of which have been transmitted to the president, M. Durand.

Gen. Andre, minister of war, has forbidden all officers and civilian employés of the war office to discuss the Dreyfus case even within the premises of the ministry.

Nationalists Are Opposed.

A meeting of prominent nationalists today demonstrated that they are bitterly antagonistic to the action taken by the government. Former War Minister Cavignac accused the government of disturbing the peace of the country by reviving an affair which had been made an instrument for civil discord, and asserted that it was useless to interpellate the government on the subject, because the ministry was too strong.

Gen. Mercier, the former war minister, who is regarded as the chief accuser of Dreyfus, has issued from comparative retirement from public life, and has affirmed that everything he had read in the government newspapers regarding Dreyfus was untrue.

The bitter tone of the nationalists is an indication of how the actual taking up of the case today has revived all the old animosities and bitterness of the last ten years. Intense feeling is shown throughout governmental, political, and army circles. The universal theme of the newspapers, clubs, and society is that the revival of the case will again bring out prominently the leading actors in Dreyfus' degradation.

Notables in Case Now Obscure.

Some of the most striking figures, including Zola and Col. Henry, are dead. Gen. Mercier has ceased to exercise influence in the war administration and never speaks in the senate.

Gen. de Boisdeffre, former chief of the French staff, has practically been retired, as he is on waiting orders and has no active command.

Col. du Paty de Clam has retired, but he continues to be an active figure. Maj. Count Esterhazy has become a pitiful personage. He has left the army, was divorced in 1899, and lives in London. Gen. Zurlinden, former military governor of Paris, has retired.

Most of the officers favorable to Dreyfus have been disgraced in one way or the other. Col. Picquart has become a parisian newspaper man. Joseph Reinach, leader of the campaign for the revision of Dreyfus' trial, is no longer a member of the chamber of deputies, but continues to conduct a literary campaign for Dreyfus' full restoration to the army.

M. Loew, president of the criminal chamber of the Court of Cassation, has retired from the judiciary and directs the affairs of the Legion of Honor.

French Budget Defended.

During the discussion of the budget in the chamber of deputies today M. Rouvier, minister of finance, replying to general criticisms of the government, declared that the condition of the national credit was most satisfactory. At present he said the government has no intention of floating a loan, but if the chamber refused to supply the government with needful resources, thereby compelling the issue of $9,000,000 on short term obligations, the floating of a loan might be found necessary.

MAY MAKE RADIUM LESS COSTLY

German Scientist Said to Have Discovered Evidence of Its Existence in Petroleum.

[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Dec. 2.—People who want to purchase radium, and who are debarred by its present price, may find comfort in a Berlin dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, which says that Prof. Himstedt of Freiburg has made an interesting discovery respecting radium which seems to show that its existence is more widespread than heretofore supposed. His experiments prove that all products of water and petroleum are sources which yield a heavy specific gas closely resembling and probably identical with the emanation of radium, whence he concludes that a large number of bodies are imbued with the quality of emitting a kind of Becquerel rays, and in this respect, he says, radium differs from the other bodies only as the magnetism of steel differs from that of iron—in degree only.

TREATY SIGNED BY PANAMA JUNTA

Great Formality Observed by Provisional Government of the New Republic.

NO CHANGE IS SUGGESTED

Approval of New Convention Is Unanimous and Causes Much Rejoicing.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

PANAMA, Dec. 2.—The Panama treaty has been signed without amendment by the members of the government junta. The document will be handed over to Rear Admiral Walker in time to forward it to Washington either on the steamer City of Washington, now in Colon, or by the United States ship Mayflower, which is scheduled to sail for home within a few days. The treaty was brought over to Panama yesterday by Rear Admiral Walker, M. Renaudin, the director of the canal company, and Dr. Esprielia, the minister of foreign affairs, who went to Colon to obtain the iron box containing the document, which arrived on the City of Washington.

Treaty Taken from Iron Box.

Tomas Arais and José A. Arago, members of the provisional junta, were at the railway station to meet the party. The iron box immediately was taken to the government palace, and opened in the presence of the cabinet members, the provisional junta, and several prominent citizens with all the formalities due such an important event. The keys of the iron box were inclosed in two smaller iron cases accompanying the larger one. When they had been removed and the locks opened it was discovered the large iron box was heavily padded with cotton. In the middle, wrapped in the Panamanian flag, was the treaty signed in Washington on Nov. 18 by Secretary Hay, Minister Bunau Varilla, and Frederico Boyd of the government junta. It was carefully removed and spread out upon the table. The treaty, which is in English, was carefully perused and placed under guard for the night. At noon today the junta met at the palace and each member attached his signature.

Decree Signed by Junta.

The following is the decree signed by the junta: "Whereas, The guarantee of independence in the isthmus has been obtained; and,

"Whereas, Celerity is indispensable to secure the efficacious and immediate fulfillment of this obligation on the part of the United States and the provisional government, formed by the unanimous will of the people of the isthmus possessing full sovereign powers over the isthmus and its territory; be it

"Resolved and declared, That the treaty be approved in all its parts."

There is much satisfaction over the arrival of the treaty and its prompt acceptance. The general expectation here is the canal work will start in earnest early in Jaunary.

Colombian Archbishop Protests.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1903: By the New York Herald.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 30.—[Delayed.]—Archbishop Herera of Bogota has made a reply to the communication received from Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, in which he contrasts the American of today to Mr. Bidlock, the American minister, who negotiated the treaty with New Granada. Archbishop Herera's note to the American prelate is an energetic protest against the conduct of the Washington government toward the weak republic. It states that Colombia has no intention to submit, but adds that, "no matter what may happen the nobleness of heart and the Christian duties of all Colombians will be sufficient guarantee for the safety of all Americans."

Reports again have reached Bogota that Germany, England, and Spain looked with "disgust and indignation upon the attitude of the United States regarding Isthmian affairs."

Great hopes are still expressed that a solution of the difficulties satisfactory to Colombia will be reached. The government is anxiously awaiting to hear from Gen. Reyes before proceeding to take energetic measures.

News Received in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Two telegrams, one from the junta and the other from the minister for foreign affairs of the republic of Panama, announcing the approval of the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty, were received by Minister Bunau-Varilla today. They are as follows:

"PANAMA, Dec. 2.—At 11:30 a. m. the junta has finished the examination and approved and signed the canal treaty.
"ESPRIELLA."

"PANAMA, Dec. 2.—We are happy to communicate to your excellency that we have just ratified the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty without modification and unanimously. This official act has been received with unanimous approbation.
"J. A. ARANGO,
"TOMAS ARIAS,
"M. ESPINOSA."

Minister Bunau-Varilla will communicate the news received by him to Secretary Hay.

Will Come in Diplomatic Mail.

The treaty as approved and signed by the Panama junta will be promptly returned to Minister Bunau-Varilla at Washington. To insure its safety and prompt transmission without interference by officials anywhere the treaty will be entrusted to Consul General Gudger at Panama, who will forward it to Washington in the American diplomatic mail pouch. Instructions to this effect already have been sent to Mr. Gudger by Secretary Hay. This courtesy was extended at the request of Minister Bunau-Varilla, who is anxious that there shall be no interruption to the safe return of the approved treaty to Washington.

PLATT GIVES IN TO ODELL AGAIN.

Demonstration of Governor's Political Power in Greater New York.

WILL JOIN MUSICAL UNION

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Dec. 2.

Odell Demonstrates Power.

Gov. Odell, after long conference with Senator Platt and Col. George W. Dunn, today at the Fifth Avenue hotel, made a practical demonstration of his control of the local republican organization. The governor came from Albany with the opinion that an object lesson was needed to convince his enemies in this city that he had the power to make good both threats and promises. There was no serious question tonight that when the governor returned to the capitol he was in control of the republican situation.

M. Linn Bruce announced that he would not be a candidate for reëlection as president of the county committee. All the leaders expressed regret at his decision. Senator Platt declared he was in entire harmony with the governor, and that only democrats were endeavoring to foment discord in the party. Bruce's place will be taken by some man who has not been identified with the Platt faction of the organization. The governor will proceed with his plan for a radical reform. Col. Dunn will resign either from the chairmanship of the state committee or from the state railroad commission. This change will probably not take place immediately. Gov. Odell said:

"There is no reason for any friction in the party. We are, on the contrary, actuated by a common desire for party success, and increased votes, and propose unitedly to work to that end."

As a result of the finding reached today by Hamilton Odell as referee in the franchise tax collection litigation the Manhattan Elevated Road and Interborough company now owning the elevated system will have to pay $307,185.13 into the city treasury.

Women Harpists Will Join Musical Union.

"My contract with Mme. Tagliaria, the harpist in the Metropolitan Opera house will be kept," said Heinrich Conried. "I have no dealings with the Musical union. Should the union order out the orchestra it remains to be seen if they would go. And if that happened, I don't know what I should do, unless the audience allowed me to give the opera with piano accompaniment. However, Mme. Tagliaria will continue to play. As a matter of fact, she decided today to join the union, and thus end that part of the trouble."

This will be done to avoid any embarrassment or financial loss for Conried, by Mme. Tagliaria, who is the wife of Du Friche, the baritone. Nathan Franko, the orchestra master, who engaged the other woman harpist, Mme. Weill, said tonight he is sure she would accede to his wishes and also join the Musical Mutual Protective association.

On what seems to be good authority, it is reported that Dr. John McGaw Woodbury, commissioner of street cleaning, is to be made police commissioner by George B. McClellan.

Young Goelet's Impersonator Heir to Fortune.

James Neilson Abeel, who won the affection of Miss Eleanor Anderson of New York by personating J. Ogden Goelet Jr., has fallen heir to a large sum of money which, by the will of his uncle, Thomas P. Abeel, who died in Rome, N. Y., two months ago, and which was filed at Waco, Tex., today for probate, makes Capt. Alfred Abeel, father of the fugitive, sole executor and, with two sisters, Mrs. August A. Parker and Miss Isabel Abeel, gives him $300,000. On his death his portion is ordered to be equally divided between William, Thomas, and James, sons of Capt. Abeel.

The hearing of the reclamation proceedings in the matter of Daniel Leroy Dresser and his creditors was continued today, the examination being directed to the discovery of the disposition that had been made of 316 bonds received by Mr. Dresser from John W. Young of the United States Shipbuilding company. The proceedings are to establish that the bonds are not the property of the creditors of Dresser, but the property of Young. The hearing was adjourned until Dec. 9.

Walking Delegate McCarthy Convicted.

Timothy McCarthy, walking delegate of the Housesmiths and Bridgemen's union, was convicted today of extortion. The jury took nearly an hour to agree upon a verdict. Recorder Goff will pronounce sentence Friday, and it is probable that immediately afterward McCarthy will be taken to Sing Sing, where his former associate, "Sam" Parks, is imprisoned for a similar offense.

On Trial for Larceny in Insurance Case.

Daniel Myers, a member of the firm of Benton, Myers & Co. of Cleveland, O., and former president of the Manhattan Fire Insurance company, which went into the hands of a receiver in the early part of 1901, was today placed on trial before Recorder Goff for grand larceny in the first degree. The charge against Myers involves $39,500, which is alleged to have been taken by him by manipulation of checks when the fire insurance company was about to go into a receiver's hands. Six jurymen had been selected when the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow.

Latimer Murder Mystery Is Cleared.

Police Captain Reynolds, formerly in charge of the Brooklyn detective bureau, announced today that he had received a letter from a convict in Auburn prison stating that a fellow convict had confessed to him that he murdered Albert C. Latimer in Brooklyn on July 1, 1902. Police Inspector Kane of Long Island City was called into the case and it is said that the investigation has developed startling facts. The convict who confessed to the murder also admitted he had a hand in shooting Policeman Sheridan in Long Island City.

Suit to Recover Stock Losses.

To recover $251,502, said to have been lost in stock transactions, Justice Dickey of the State Supreme court today granted an attachment against the property of Maurice Untermyer, a member of a prominent family. Untermyer is now at Geneva, Switzerland. Affidavits show that Untermyer speculated in stocks through Ennis & Stoppani on a margin between Aug. 22, 1901, and Nov. 20, 1902. The transactions involved more than $400,000. The stock was sold at a loss, and the brokers are now suing to recover the difference between the purchase and sale price.

Greets Husband She Wedded by Proxy in Cuba.

Mrs. Rafael Lopez, a Cuban of unusual beauty and wealth, arrived in New York today from her native land to greet her husband, to whom she had been married by proxy on Nov. 19 last. Lopez met the young woman while on a visit to his father's home in Cuba. Owing to deaths in the family of the girl the wedding had to be postponed, and young Lopez returned to the United States. Then it was decided to have the marriage performed in Cuba, the groom's father acting as his proxy. Young Lopez is a mechanical engineer, employed at Paterson, N. J.

Corbin Points Lessons of Our Wars.

The military order of the Loyal Legion held a banquet tonight at Delmonico's, at which the principal guest was Maj. Gen. H. C. Corbin, who read a paper on the general staff of the regular army, giving the history of its formation in this country as well as in many European countries. Gen. Corbin said in part:

"It is true that we have taken but little or any heed of the lessons of our several wars. We have in every instance prepared for war only after war has been declared. What this neglect has cost us as a nation in the way of lives and money would be difficult for the most intelligent to determine. That it has been great any novice can readily show.

"We have been too unmindful of the injunction of Washington that in peace we should prepare for war. We have trusted to luck quite enough, and wisdom insists that we shall risk it no more."

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

WHY WOMEN SIN.

As Explained in a Melodrama.

That man sins and that woman is responsible for his so doing, is a theory as old as creation itself, and there are a sufficient number of well authenticated instances in history, both sacred and profane, to prove the theory a fairly correct one. Realizing this fact, it was with no inconsiderable curiosity that a visit was paid to the Academy this week to see "Why Women Sin."

The courageous playwright who has dared to attempt to answer this vital question seems to be convinced that women sin because there is a man in the case, or, to be more accurate, two men. At least this appears to be what he tries to prove in the melodrama now at the west side playhouse. Just how it all begins is unknown. When the investigating scribe arrived he heard a conversation being carried on in loud, excited tones, and saw a good looking specimen of the eternally feminine, robed in flaming scarlet, taking a perilous tumble down a flight of stairs. The finitely masculine who evidently had "trun her down" stood on the landing and jeered a jeer. The place was a fashionable clubhouse, and the time ladies' night.

Of course, the situation is one absolutely true to nature, for if ever the finitely masculine feels inclined to jeer and to dislodge the eternally feminine from the place she is occupying it is when he encounters her in a fashionable clubhouse on ladies' night. The scarlet robed specimen who had been tumbled was not, however, the character who was to prove why women sin. She evidently had done her sinning, and the playwright, if he knew of the circumstances and details, had not considered them sufficiently recent to point the splendid moral he would have his drama point.

The woman who was to sin made her appearance in the next act. The finitely masculine who had jeered as the curtain fell on the preceding act was discovered jauntily strolling in front of the clubhouse, which structure, like all fashionable clubhouses, had bright pink curtains. Here he was met by a young woman who lisped. She accused him of paying undesirable attentions to her married "thister," and assured him that if he "did not dethitht" she would "not hethitate to do thomething." Again he jeered. A child who belonged to the married "thister" hove in sight, and he decided that if he could get "the kidlet," as he styled the pink beribboned midget, out of the way, the last link between "her and her married life" would be removed, and then "she will be mine." The youngster was saved, of course, by a kind hearted ragamuffin, and in the next scene the proving of why women sin begins.

It is the home of a millionaire. This is shown by the newness of the smoking jacket the gent sitting in front of the fire is wearing. This gent is the other masculine in the case. He is papa to the "kidlet" and the husband of the "thister." He is mentally much disturbed, for he chews his cigar fiercely, and talks much about still loving her and yet doubting if she be true. The kidlet appears, and there is a deep converse about mamma and Mr. Woodsworth, which is the name of Masculine No. 1. Papa takes Kidlet away to put her to bed, as a well trained millionaire should do, and mamma appears.

She has a long weep because papa does not give her any affection. She admits that he supplies her with cash and jewels, but she wants affection. Kidlet, still beribboned, comes gayly back, and she and mamma have a neat little conversation about papa, and then mamma tells Kidlet to go to bed, and sends her away alone, as all good mammas should do. Masculine No. 1 walks gayly in, sees mamma weeping, and draws the portières and conceals himself behind them. Mamma has sent for papa, and will now, for the last time, endeavor to wheedle a wee bit of affection out of him. He comes; he promises her cash, but not affection; and suddenly grabs the portières and exposes Masculine No. 1. Mamma declares she had nothing to do with the latter's concealment, and papa takes his turn at jeering. Kidlet appears again, and keeps papa from hitting mamma, and then papa leads off the kidlet and promises to put her to bed. Masculine No. 1 approaches, and then begins the endeavor to make woman sin.

Mamma defies him. Then he offers her the much coveted affection, and she admits that that is an inducement. He exclaims, "You are mine!" but she says, "No, the wedding ring is between us," and extends a soft, white hand, on which glistens a band of gold. Masculine No. 1 is not to be kept by any trifle of this kind from showing why women sin. He grabs the ring from mamma's finger, throws it away, and clasps mamma in his arms. Enter Kidlet, this time partly undressed, but with the pink bow still in evidence. Masculine No. 1 disappears; mamma seizes Kidlet and weeps, while curtain falls.

The moral of all this? If you are a millionaire husband hang on to your cash and give your wife affection—that is, if you want to keep her; if you are a designing masculine, select a woman who prefers the cash, and you'll be more apt to get her; and if you are a woman who doesn't intend to sin, be sure you always have your wedding ring with you, and that there is close at hand a kidlet whom neither of her parents can get into bed.

The programs for the concerts by Mme. Patti at the Auditorium Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon of next week have been announced. The diva will have the assistance of Miss Rosa Zamels, violinist, Anton Hegner, 'cellist, Wilfred Vrigo, tenor, Claude Cunningham, baritone, Miss Vera Margolies, pianist, and Sig. Sapio, accompanist. Mme. Patti Wednesday evening will sing "Voi che Sapete," from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," and the jewel aria from "Faust." Saturday afternoon her selections will be "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," from Handel's "Theodora," and Schubert's Serenade. Encores will, of course, be in order, so that at least four numbers will be heard at each concert from the prima donna, and, if the audience be sufficiently energetic, one or two more.

Ottakar Malek, a Bohemian pianist of whose abilities much in commendation is spoken, will make his first appearance here in recital next Sunday evening at the Studebaker. His program includes the Bach-Tausig toccata and fugue, Beethoven's C major rondo, the gavotte, and variations of Rameau, an andante of Haydn, the Schumann Etudes Symphoniques, Brahms' C minor rhapsodie, a fantasia of Chopin, a romance, gavotte, and menuetto of Gruenfeld, Sauer's sempre scherzando, and Smetana's "By the Seashore."

The company headed by Wilton Lackaye, which is to appear at the Garrick in "The Pit" week after next, will arrive in Chicago next Sunday, and will devote the week to preparation for the production here. Unusually elaborate effects are promised in the mass scenes, and there is a large force of supernumeraries to be trained. It is now made known that Mr. Lackaye has just signed a contract which binds him to give his professional services to Manager Brady for the next ten years. It is said to be the plan to bring the actor into particular prominence as a star during that time.

The repertory for the engagement of Ada Rehan and Otis Skinner at the Illinois, which begins next Monday night, has been definitely fixed. "The Taming of the Shrew" will be presented during the entire first week. The second week will bring forward "The Merchant of Venice" Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings, and "The School for Scandal" during the remainder of the time.

The management of the Grand Opera house announces that the bookings for the theater after the close of Mr. Mansfield's present engagement include Viola Allen in her production of "Twelfth Night," Mrs. Fiske in "Mary of Magdala" and probably "Hedda Gabler," a return engagement of "The Wizard of Oz," William Collier, probably in "A Fool and His Money," Blanche Bates in "Darling of the Gods," and Denman Thompson. The plans for the summer musical spectacle are said to be well under way, but the name of the piece being prepared is not yet decided. W. L. HUBBARD.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Was there ever such a gorgeous pantomime as "Mother Goose?" people were asking themselves tonight long before the curtain had fallen on the last act of "Mother Goose" at the New Amsterdam theater. The answer was "Never."

There can be no doubt that the certain popularity of "Mother Goose" will prove the truth of the judgment that the spectacle is Klaw & Erlanger's greatest triumph.

With so much to praise it is unfortunate that there is anything to criticise. Many of the "jokes" have been heard before and could only appeal for kindly reception on the score that they were old, old friends. There were many reminiscent laughs, but after all the book is of such minor importance as to be hardly worth taking into account.

"Joe" Cawthorne as Mother Goose represented not only the character about which such plot as there was turned, but from the first to the last was the center of humorous interest and the chief recipient of applause. Miss Aimee Angeles was as pretty and winsome as ever and as attractive, and Miss Marion Garson's singing of the "Pansy Faces" song at the close of the second act was deservedly praised. But of all the songs the one to be remembered is "Laughing Water," sung by Mr. Bulger.

Whitewashing of Julia Praised.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—"The Whitewashing of Julia," a comedy by Henry Arthur Jones, was produced this evening at the Garrick theater with Miss Fay Davis in the title rôle. Many admirers of the popular young actress were present, together with others, who were disappointed in "Lady Rose's Daughter," with which Miss Davis opened her New York season.

Neither these friends nor the public were disappointed, for although this last comedy by the well known English playwright is not equal to some of his earlier successes, it is pretty, dainty, and refined and holds interest. The rôle of the sweet natured, misunderstood, charming young heroine fits Miss Davis like the traditional paper on the wall.

Dependent almost entirely upon the conversation between conventional members of English nobility and upper classes, lacking in strong situations, and with the slenderest of plots, "The Whitewashing of Julia" still is delightful to the eye and ear. The piece is just a pretty series of stage pictures strung together with natural and bright lines.

JAMES L. BLAIR DECLARED TO BE SOUND IN MIND AND BODY.

Man Accused of Enormous Frauds and Attempting to Kill Himself Said to Be Well in Hospital.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—It is asserted that James L. Blair is today a well man, eats heartily at regular hours, shaves himself, and has done so daily since he entered the Mullanphy hospital on Nov. 5, when he was supposed to be a mental and physical wreck as the result of charges that he had defrauded various estates of large sums of money and then attempted suicide.

Personal friends whom he desires to see come and go without interference. This information comes from a person who has seen Blair almost daily since he sought the seclusion of the hospital. The informant said:

"Jim Blair is sound in mind, and except for a twisted ankle is sound in body. He can be seen any day talking and acting as a healthy man would in his home or in his private office.

"I first saw him two or three days after his admission to the hospital, and I saw him again no later than yesterday.

"He occupies the best room in the male wards, for which he pays $20 a week, exclusive of medical attendance, of which he has little need.

Arrival of Dr. Austin Flint of New York at Newport Results in Denial of Report.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The appearance here this afternoon of Dr. Austin Flint Jr. led many to suppose that Mrs. Reginald C. Inquiry at Sandy Point farm tonight, however, brought out the information that Mrs. Vanderbilt had fully recovered.

NEXT PRESIDENT REAL ESTATE BOARD.

R. E. ISMOND.

Robert E. Ismond, whose nomination for the presidency of the Chicago real estate board was announced at the meeting yesterday, is the only nominee, and will be elected Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 16.

Mr. Ismond came to Chicago in 1887 from New York, and at once engaged in the real estate business. He has been a member of the real estate board for several years, and has held a number of minor offices. He now is chairman of the street railway committee.

For the last nine years Mr. Ismond has been connected with John G. Brown, in the firm Ismond & Brown, doing business only in downtown property.

OPPOSES FIRE TRAP LAW.

G. S. EDDY ATTACKS MEASURE TO MAKE HOTELS SAFE.

Agent of the Lincoln When Fourteen Lives Were Lost, He Declares Requirement of Elevators with Inclosed Shafts Would Benefit None but Contractors—Real Estate Board Holds Ordinance Good One—Officers Nominated for Election Dec. 16.

A member of the real estate board yesterday afternoon made objections to the proposed ordinance requiring owners of fire trap buildings to put in elevators with inclosed shafts. George S. Eddy, who made the protest at the meeting of the board, was the agent of the Lincoln hotel, 178 Madison street, when that building was destroyed and fourteen persons were burned to death, Dec. 4, 1902, on account of the ancient construction of the hotel and the lack of elevators and fire escapes.

The public service committee of the board decided the ordinance was acceptable, and not greatly burdensome. The ordinance provides that all buildings shall have an elevator service, with inclosed shafts sufficient to allow speedy emptying of the building. The measure is proposed as a result of recent holocausts, chief among which was the Lincoln hotel fire.

Eddy Opposes the Measure.

Mr. Eddy urged that the board take action to prevent its adoption. He declared many old buildings in the heart of the city would have to be remodeled to meet the terms of the ordinance, which is to be retroactive.

"It is not necessary or advisable to remodel many of these buildings," said Mr. Eddy. "The measure will result in great loss to the owners, and a great gain to the contractors, with no benefit to others."

The sense of the meeting was that all the old buildings without adequate means of exit should be provided with them, or be torn down.

Men Nominated for Office.

The nominating committee, of which Henry A. Knott was chairman, tendered its report embodying the nomination of a full ticket of officers for the ensuing years. The election will be held Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 16. The ticket is as follows:

President—Robert E. Ismond.
Vice president—Walter Mill.
Secretary—J. Fred McGuire.
Treasurer—Frank M. Elliott.
Board of directors—Charles O. Coss, two years; Calistus S. Ennis, holding over; Frank G. Hoyne, holding over.
Valuation committee:
John B. Knight, Henry S. Dietrich,
George Birkhoff Jr., B. R. De Young.
Edgar M. Snow.

Other Actions in Court.—Mrs. Catherine Potter, 639 North avenue, was granted a divorce from De La Motte Potter on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Anna Stayart, 271 Winthrop avenue, was sued by Albert C. Stayart because of desertion. Mrs. Maude Wood, married at St. Joseph, had the same complaint against Ernest F. Wood. An order was issued requiring Allen G. Clampitt to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for failure to pay alimony during divorce proceedings.

Bride Won by Advertisement.—Charles H. Clover, 75 years old and a resident of Champaign, Ill., would be freed from Mrs. Laura Clover, who married him last April after a courtship begun through a newspaper advertisement which the widow had inserted. Before her marriage Mrs. Clover was Mrs. Laura Free, and resided at 2025 Michigan avenue. Clover, who "always has led a mild and quiet life," objects to his wife's fondness for champagne.

While Mrs. Virginia Struble was seeking a divorce from Dr. James R. Struble yesterday the most interested listener to the testimony was Mrs. Samantha Struble, first wife of the physician, who obtained a divorce in 1898. The successor's effort was not so successful, for Judge Holdom dismissed the bill, which charged cruelty. Dr. Struble, in rebuttal, declared his wife once had struck him in the face, nearly dislocating his jaw.

FIREMEN'S BALL RAISES $40,000

Coliseum Crowded with People—Entertainment Begins with Moving Pictures of the Department.

The fourth annual firemen's ball for the benefit of the pension fund of the firemen was given at the Coliseum last night, and was attended by 10,000 people, though 40,000 tickets were sold. Fire Chief William H. Musham was chairman of the arrangements committee, and Capt. W. J. Burroughs was the secretary. The amount raised was $40,000.

For two hours the throng was entertained by moving pictures, many of which depicted scenes from the life of Chicago firemen. Then the dance began.

By means of the ball and voluntary contributions the firemen themselves pay more than half of the yearly expenditures from the pension fund. This fund amounts now to $176,000. It provides for 300 widows and 100 pensioned firemen with an annual expenditure of $95,000.

LETTERS HOME: A NOVEL.

As a picture of New York viewed from the varied standpoints of people from all parts of the country, this, W. D. Howells' latest story, is a remarkable piece of fiction. As a love story it will satisfy every demand of its readers, and as an example of the wonderful literary ability of its distinguished author, it will take its place as one of Mr. Howells' best books. Every person who has ever been in New York will recognize his thoughts and feelings in some of its passages.

Booth Tarkington's CHERRY.

People who like things that entertain will be charmed with Cherry. Says the Chicago Record Herald: "It is a lively, witty, joyous comedy, which will increase Mr. Tarkington's reputation." The Rochester Herald thinks that "Mr. Tarkington is to be congratulated upon this altogether original comedy, and for the creation of a character unique in modern literature."

THE MAIDS OF PARADISE.

Unlike Mr. Chambers's last book, which dealt with American scenes and people, this, his latest romance, is laid in France at the time of the Franco-Prussian war. The reader is carried alternately from the heart of the fighting to remote and peaceful French country places. The story tells much of the plot and counterplot of German and French secret service, but the interest centers in the true romance, a love story of the kind only Mr. Chambers can write.

HESPER, By Hamlin Garland.

A novelist, speaking of Hamlin Garland's new story, recently said: "When I read Hesper I can feel the wind come down the canyon, and can see the mountains rise before me." One of the charms of Mr. Garland's novel is that the reader is irresistibly made to feel the exhilaration and the beauty of out-door life depicted. As an antidote for crowded streets and noisy cars, read Hesper.

LEAGUE OF FARMERS FORMING TO RAISE PRICE OF PRODUCE.

Robert Lindblom, Chairman of Executive Committee, Says Organization Will Be Most Powerful in Country.

"Within less than three months there will be in operation a national farmers' organization which will be the most powerful in the country," said Robert Lindblom yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Lindblom is chairman of the executive committee of five appointed by the advisory committee that adjourned yesterday at the Grand Pacific after a two days session to draw up a plan of organization. It is intended to do away with middlemen and advance prices on all produce.

"As soon as we have prepared our report we shall circulate it among the 500 independent farmers' exchanges in the country," said the chairman, "setting forth advantages to be derived from coöperation on national lines. Other local organizations will be formed, and will be asked to affiliate with the national body."

Kansas has a farmers' coöperative exchange with thirty-five elevators and $100,000 paid stock. Nebraska has seventy-five local exchanges with a state affiliation, and in Oklahoma 20,000 farmers are organized on a coöperative basis.

NAVY CHANGES ARE SUGGESTED.

POINTS TO SHORTCOMINGS

Says Officers Do Not Get Commands Until They Are Too Old for Best Service.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The annual report of Rear Admiral H. C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, made public today, recommends the creation of a general staff in the navy, the appointment of two vice admirals, one for the Asiatic station and one for the north Atlantic station; a material increase in the number of officers, and the addition of a number of ships to the navy.

Referring to the Caribbean squadron, the report says that the object of its creation is to provide at all times a force in those waters which can proceed quickly whenever needed. An increase in the number of cruisers to eight is urged, five of an improved Olympian type and three specially constructed light draft vessels for river work.

Eight Training Ships Wanted.

Rear Admiral Taylor calls attention to the irregular character of the training squadron, and urges in the interests of true economy the building of training vessels which would be useful in war. The construction of eight such vessels is recommended.

For the European station six new cruisers are recommended. On the Asiatic station Rear Admiral Taylor says the situation demands there a battleship squadron, a cruiser squadron, and a squadron of small vessels. He concurs in the recommendation of Admiral Evans that the principal naval station in the Philippines be established at Olongapo, Subig bay.

The report says the Asiatic station needs six cruisers of an improved Olympia type, and four criusers of the scout cruiser type, of which latter two can now be provided.

Rear Admiral Taylor calls attention to the time spent by vessels of the north Atlantic fleet at navy yards for repairs, saying the battleship Alabama spent 138 days at the New York navy yard, the Kearsarge 104 days, and the Indiana 102, which he says is too long. He recommends that vessels of this fleet visit the navy yards for repairs only once a year.

The report treats at great length the subject of desertions, showing that for the year 1903 the percentage was 12.5. Among the various reasons assigned by officers, as well as the men themselves, are discontent with the food, discomforts as to sleeping accommodations, confinement on board ship without frequent liberty to visit shore, harshness in language and bearing on the part of officers toward the crew, the disappointment of the recruit who believed that sea service was a pleasant and easy thing, and the restless spirit existing among some of the men. When desertions go above 9 per cent the department, the report says, should examine closely the causes which produce the increase.

Younger Commanders Needed.

As affecting the personnel of the navy, Rear Admiral Taylor refers to the need of more officers as engineers. Attention also is called to a defect which is common to most military services, whether at sea or on land—namely: The advanced age at which officers reach the more important commands. The duty of commanding a battleship and fleets of battleships, he says, is one which requires, together with a large experience and ability, the energy and nervous endurance which is found as a rule among men much younger than those who will command our battleships and fleets for some years to come.

As a remedy for the present defect he urges the retirement of officers when they have reached a certain age in a certain grade. He suggests that an officer of fifty years who has not attained the rank of captain retire, and that a captain who, at 55, has not reached the grade of rear admiral, retire.

After urging an addition to the service of thirty lieutenant commanders and fifty lieutenants, Rear Admiral Taylor says that at present lieutenants are doing the duty which should be done by lieutenant commanders. Fifty additional warrant machinists are urged, in order to give this class of officers their share of shore duty.

Regarding the creation of a general staff, Rear Admiral Taylor says it would not encroach upon the proper responsibilities or authority of any of the bureaus of the department, nor interfere with their internal operations.

Plan to Fortify Philippines.

Gen. Young, the chief of staff, and Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation, had a conference this afternoon regarding plans for securing legislation providing for the fortifying of the Philippine islands. Secretary Root today referred the subject to the general staff for investigation. As a preliminary to taking up the matter Gen. Young called on Admiral Taylor for information showing what the navy desired in the way of fortifications for Subig bay, where the naval station is located. When the desired information is secured the general staff will prepare plans for the fortifications and estimates for the work to be submitted to congress.

POSTAL FRAUDS ARE STOPPED.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow Makes His Annual Report and Recommendations.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow in his annual report makes a number of recommendations for improvement in the service, and says regarding the frauds already discovered that they have been stopped and most of the wrong undone.

Mr. Bristow recommends an appropriation to construct inspectors' lookouts in postoffices wherever necessary, that the interstate commerce law be amended so as to prohibit common carriers from aiding and abetting in the green goods, lottery, or any other scheme, and that the provision that rural carriers shall not be prohibited from doing an express package business be repealed.

The estimated expenditure for both city and rural free delivery service during the fiscal year will aggregate about $47,000,000. There are now in operation 19,396 rural free delivery routes. It is estimated that 3,260 additional routes can be established out of the appropriation now available, making 22,678, which will be in operation or ordered established by March 1, 1904.

RECEIVES BRITISH ENVOY.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GREETS DURAND AT WHITE HOUSE.

Formal Exchange of Good Will and Expressions of Friendship Existing Between the Two Governments—New Ambassador's Tribute to Sir Michael Henry Herbert, His Predecessor—Presentation of the Credentials.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today formally received Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the successor of Sir Michael Henry Herbert as the ambassador of Great Britain to the United States. The ambassador was conducted to the White house by Secretary Hay. Extreme cordiality marked the exchange of greetings.

Greetings from King Edward.

Sir Mortimer addressed the president as follows:

Mr. President: I have the honor to inform you that King Edward VII., my august sovereign, has directed me to present to you in person this letter accrediting me as his ambassador to the United States of America.

His majesty has further directed me to assure you of his earnest desire that the friendly relations which exist between the United States and Great Britain may be maintained and strengthened, and I have received his majesty's command to keep this object constantly in view.

I am deeply conscious, Mr. President, of the responsibility laid upon me, and I am well aware how hard it will be for me to prove worthy of the high mission with which I have been honored. I come to America for the first time, with a warm admiration for but without any personal knowledge of the great nation over which you have been called to preside; and I feel my inexperience the more keenly because I succeed as British ambassador here one who had passed a considerable part of his life in this country.

President Recalls Ties.

In replying the president said:

Mr. Ambassador: It affords me sincere gratification to receive from your hands the letter whereby his majesty, King Edward VII., accredits you as his ambassador to the United States of America.

Through you, the personal representative of your sovereign, I cordially reciprocate his majesty's desire that friendship and good will between our two countries shall be strengthened and perpetuated, and with the concurrent efforts of the American government I doubt not that success will attend your endeavors to fulfill his majesty's desire to this beneficial end.

Following, as you do, Mr. Ambassador, in the steps of one whose genial sympathy with our people and whose intimate knowledge of this country stood him in good stead by enabling him to gain the confidence and esteem of this government and to win the affection of all with whom he was brought into association, I cannot doubt that you, being inspired by the same good purposes and animated by the same kindly feelings, will achieve no less than did your lamented predecessor and merit equally with him the high regard of this government and of my countrymen. It is fitting that this should be, and that, mindful of the ties of friendship and speech, moved by like aspirations of progress in the paths of peace, and sharing a reverential trust in the almighty will that guides our destinies, our two nations and peoples, through their ministering agencies, should strive to reach a harmonious accord in all that affects their common interests.

CUBA TO BORROW $72,000,000.

Claims of the Veterans Who Fought in the War with Spain Are Growing to Immense Sum.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The claims of the Cuban veterans against the treasury at Havana now amount to $72,000,000. The Cuban government now faces the necessity of borrowing that amount, instead of the $35,000,000 originally decided upon. These facts were communicated to Secretary Hay today by Minister Squiers.

May Pay with Lottery.

HAVANA, Dec. 2.—A proposition was offered in the senate today to recall the lottery bill for the purpose of inserting in it a provision that the lottery scheme is intended only to assist in the payment of the army, and that it shall become inoperative as soon as such payment is accomplished. The motion was referred to a committee.

WATCHING THE WOOD INQUIRY.

President and Secretary of War Are Said to "Stand Pat"—Nomination Will Not Be Withdrawn.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Without endeavoring in any manner to influence the senate committee on military affairs in its investigation of the nomination of Gen. Leonard Wood, both the secretary of war and the president are watching the developments carefully. There is not the slightest probability that Gen. Wood will be recalled from the Philippines to testify in his own behalf. The president will not withdraw the nomination.

EXPLOSION OF NAPHTHA KILLS TWO: WRECKS TRAIN.

Fire Resulting from Destruction of Car in Center of Train Destroys Buildings and Causes Other Damage.

Dover, Del., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A car of naphtha in the center of a freight train on the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington railroad exploded today at Greenwood, wrecking the train, killing Brakeman E. J. Roach of Georgetown, and causing the death by shock of an infant child. Several buildings were damaged and a number were set on fire, a residence and schoolhouse being destroyed.

CHARGE THEFT OF OPERA.

GERMAN PAPERS PRINT STORY OF STOLEN COPY OF "PARSIFAL."

Allege That Ex-Director Van Der Linden of Amsterdam Bought a Concert Right for Small Sum and Then Copied the Entire Score—Is Said to Have Sought to Leave Country with Score Furnished Him, but Was Prevented.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—German newspapers, in printing accounts of the trial of the suit brought in New York by Frau Cosima Wagner to prevent Herr Conried from producing "Parsifal" in the Metropolitan opera house there, raise an inquiry as to how Herr Conried secured a copy of the orchestral score of the opera, since a strict account is kept of every sale and right of reproduction granted.

The papers today reprint from the Deutsche Wochenzeitung in den Niederlanden (a German weekly newspaper published in Holland) a story which is offered as an explanation of the origin of Herr Conried's copy.

Story of a Copied Score.

The story is as follows: "Several months before ex-Director Van Der Linden of the Amsterdam opera started for America he entertained the idea of having his troupe sing 'Parsifal' at a concert, and opened negotiations with Amsterdam music dealers in order to secure the score. The dealers secured the score with the right for concert performances from Schott & Sons of Mayence for the sum of $250 and a percentage of the profits. Director Van Der Linden took the score and had it copied, but the concert was postponed. The dealers then demanded the return of the score, but Herr Van Der Linden put them off with promises until the date of his departure for New York.

Original Score Is Recovered.

"Accidentally a clerk of one of the dealers learned that Herr Van der Linden was about to sail for the United States. The dealers went immediately to his house and found that the ex-director had already left.

"They were in despair, as they had given $10,000 as a guarantee for the return of the 'Parsifal' score.

"The matter was turned over to a lawyer, who telephoned to a lawyer in Rotterdam. Herr Van der Linden's baggage was found and Van der Linden himself was invited to accompany the lawyer to the harbor. He at first refused to give up the score, but when a police inspector informed him that he would be held under arrest until the matter was settled before a court he consented to open his trunks and the precious work was discovered. He handed the score with a polite bow to the music dealer, who had no suspicion of the existence of a written copy."

DR. CYRUS EDSON IS DEAD.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Dr. Cyrus Edson, the well known physician and at one time commissioner of health in this city, died tonight at the Roosevelt hospital of heart failure superinduced by pleuro-pneumonia.

His life was given to a study of medicine, and from his youth he served the city in many capacities. Franklin Edson, formerly mayor of New York and for years prominent in financial circles, was his father. Most of Dr. Edson's life was passed in New York, to which city he came from Albany, where he was born in 1857. Dr. Edson resigned from the health department to take up private practice.

He made important contributions to medical science, having invented several surgical instruments, paying special attention to the study of germ diseases. He was the author of nearly 100 articles on surgical and medical subjects, and a contributor to magazines designed for popular circulation.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES B. GEORGE, Waukegan, died yesterday, aged 74 years. Mr. George was a pioneer railroad conductor, and from 1855 to 1872 was in charge of the Waukegan and Chicago accommodation train of the Northwestern railroad. At that time the trip from Milwaukee to Chicago took so much time that passengers stopped for meals in Waukegan. Mr. George entered the employ of the Boston and Maine railroad in 1847, and served on railroads almost continuously since then. He left a widow and five children.

JOSHUA WARD of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., died there yesterday, aged 65 years. In 1859 Ward won the sculling championship at Staten Island, rowing five miles in 37 minutes and 10 seconds. He held the championship, defeating all comers, until 1864, when he was defeated by James Hamill on the Schuylkill. Ward was a brother of Ellis Ward, the coach of the Pennsylvania university crew.

MARTIN GILL of Fond du Lac, Wis., died there yesterday, at the age of 102 years. He had lived alone for thirteen years, and had lived in Fond du Lac for fifty years. His four daughters reside in Chicago. They are Mrs. Richard Kinney, Mrs. Mary O'Malley, Mrs. Margaret Culberson, and Mrs. Honoré Nicholson.

DR. ALBERT G. BEEBE, Chicago, died yesterday at his residence, 582 West Adams street, of heart disease. During thirty years he was professor of surgery in the Chicago Homeopathic college. He is survived by Mrs. Beebe, a son, and a daughter.

WARNER ENTERS FOR NOMINATION.

Announces His Candidacy for First Place on Republican State Ticket.

OUT FOR SELF ALONE.

Denies Plan to Help or Hurt Any Other Contestant Now in the Race.

Congressman Vespasian Warner, formally declared yesterday that he had decided to become a candidate for governor. The first declaration was made in a note to William D. Fairbanks at Monticello, Ill.

The congressman made further announcement at the Great Northern hotel last evening of his entrance into the race by saying, "I am now a candidate for the republican nomination, and submit my candidacy to the considerate judgment of our party."

Congressman Warner arrived from Clinton early in the day, and conferred with a number of friends before making public his decision. His presence at the central camp of republican politicians caused a stir among the campaign managers and supporters of other candidates. They kept the wires busy carrying messages to their lieutenants throughout the state asking for information as to the effect of this new development.

Letter to Piatt County.

The congressman addressed his declaration to Mr. Fairbanks as chairman of the Piatt county republican convention, which adopted resolutions last October indorsing him for governor and requesting him to become a candidate. A month ago he met a delegation from Piatt and received official notice of the convention's action. He promised a reply in thirty days and it has been given.

"Having fully considered the resolution," Mr. Warner said, "together with many similar requests from individual friends in all parts of the state, I have decided to become a candidate for the nomination. Thanking you and through you the other delegates of the convention and the republicans of Piatt county for your and their confidence, I assure you that if I am nominated and elected governor of this state I shall endeavor to so discharge the duties of that high office as to merit the respect and approval of all the people."

It is admitted that the Nineteenth congressional district is likely to become the scene of the most spirited contest of the campaign. It is the district which Mr. Warner represents in congress and in which Attorney General Hamlin also resides. It includes the counties of De Witt, Champaign, Piatt, Macon, Douglas, Coles, Moultrie, and Shelby. De Witt is the home of Warner and Shelby of Hamlin. It is agreed that they will not interfere with each other in their respective home counties.

Running for Himself Only.

By way of refuting certain reports that have been circulated, Mr. Warner said:

"I am a candidate for myself and nobody else. My candidacy is to help no other candidate nor for the purpose of hurting any other candidate. I shall conduct a clean, dignified campaign."

Mr. Warner is 61 years of age. He served through the war of the rebellion, from June, 1861, to July, 1866. In 1868 he entered Harvard law school, and after graduating began and continued the practice of law at Clinton until first elected to congress, ten years ago. He has been reëlected for every term since.

Mr. Warner will leave for Washington tonight, but expects to return by Dec. 15 for the purpose of opening headquarters and starting his campaign.

Hamlin Going to Washington.

Attorney General Hamlin received so many pressing invitations to attend the Gridiron club dinner on Saturday that he accepted last night and will leave for Washington today. He suggested that there were enough original Hamlin men in the state to take care of his interests for four or five days.

SAYS DIETRICH WAS IN DEAL.

Witness at Omaha Said to Have Testified That Legislator Lowe Divided with Senator.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A link in the evidence which it was thought doubtful that the prosecution could produce, as tending to show that Senator Dietrich was in any way connected with sums of money demanded from postmasters by Representative Lowe for his indorsement, was forthcoming today. It is said that witnesses before the grand jury told how Lowe declared in their hearing that he "split the money in two with Dietrich." Lowe has been subpœnaed. Several witnesses, it is said, heard Lowe make a statement about Dietrich having shared money which he exacted from Postmaster J. J. Mitchell of Alma.

YATES PLANS ANOTHER TOUR.

At Conference with Lieutenants and Officeholders He Decides to Make More Speeches After Holidays.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Gov. Yates held a conference with several of his officeholders and lieutenants at the executive mansion this morning. The discussion was confined to the governor's campaign plans. A speechmaking tour after the Christmas holidays was agreed upon, although details were left to be worked out at a later date. The prospect of Congressman Warner entering the race was not discussed. In fact, no consideration of the opposing candidates was had at the meeting.

Read What Some of Them Say.
Hon. Kitt Gould, Chicago, Representative of the 3rd Senatorial District, and for four years the attorney for the State Board of Pharmacy of Illinois, says: "I have been a great sufferer from catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion, which completely upset my nervous system. Munyon's Paw-Paw has driven out these distressing ailments and has restored all of my old time energy and vim. It is a marvelous remedy."
The Honorable Samuel W. Lane, of Augusta, Me., is a national figure of such prominence that he needs no introduction at our hands. He says: "I am pleased to state that I have been using Munyon's Paw-Paw for two months with the greatest benefit. I have been a sufferer for forty years from Malaria and Dyspepsia, and for the cure of the latter I consider Paw-Paw absolutely unequaled."
Arcadius Avellanus, Dr. Litt., Dr. Ph., of Philadelphia, the most distinguished Latin scholar living, says: "Prof. Munyon is entitled to the praise of the entire medical fraternity and the people as well for developing the remarkably curative qualities of Paw-Paw and combining them with other medicaments in a remedy which will cure any curable case of Dyspepsia."
Captain Chas. A. De Arnaud, Washington, D. C., the man of whom President Lincoln said, "Congress and the nation owes Captain De Arnaud a debt of gratitude for his services to General Grant," and whose damage suit for $200,000 against General Farnsworth will be tried this week, says: "I was a great sufferer from vertigo and could hardly walk. A Grand Army comrade induced me to try Paw-Paw, and the results have been marvelous. I desire to thank you in behalf of all sufferers for the good you are doing."
If you have dyspepsia, Try it.
If you are nervous, Try it.
If you are despondent, Try it.
If you are weak and run down, Try it.
Cast away all tonics, all medicines and all stimulants and let Munyon's Paw-Paw make you well. It will lift you into the high altitudes of hope and hold you there. It will give exhilaration without intoxication.

Dennis J. Daley and Mrs. Catherine Whalen, Once Engaged and Separated, Get Married in Kenosha.

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Dennis J. Daley and Mrs. Catherine Whalen of Chicago were married here today and brought to an end the quarrel which deferred the ceremony just thirty years.

Thirty years ago today young Daley and the woman who is now his wife were to have been married in a little town in central Illinois, where they had known each other since childhood.

Just before the wedding day a small misunderstanding arose between them, and then the misunderstanding grew to the proportions of a quarrel and they parted.

They met each other in Chicago a few weeks ago, they explained, and the old quarrel was made up. They are now in the little town where they first knew each other, and are going over the old, old story all over again.

CHAMBERLAIN'S CAMPAIGN.

The fiscal campaign in England is getting hotter every day. The greatest figure, of course, is Chamberlain. He is stumping England and Wales for protection. He is using all the American protection arguments and using them tellingly. He tells the Welsh tinmakers how the McKinley tariff law ruined Wales' tinplate industry. He says other British industries will be injured—are being injured now—by the tariff walls of other nations. If other nations knew England might retaliate they would be less apt to erect such walls against her. He says England is the dumping ground for America's surplus steel bars now, which are sold in his country below cost. But an English industry founded on the basis of buying American bars below cost will not last, because America will not always offer her bars on such terms. By and by she will "dump" finished goods instead of bars. Mr. Chamberlain tells how the empire with its 11,000,000 Englishmen across the seas needs to exchange favors to solidify. Sentiment and pleasant words are not enough of a bond. He tells how the food tax will improve farm values and increase farming.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has sunk almost out of sight and Rosebery has come to the fore again as a liberal leader. He marked his return to the political stage by an unfortunate phrase—that England "needs commercial repose." Chamberlain seized like a hawk on those words. He exclaimed England had had plenty of commercial repose. What she wanted now was commercial activity.

In the meantime the prime minister, Balfour, who openly countenances most of Chamberlain's scheme, has received an important recruit in the person of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, formerly chancellor of the exchequer. Sir Michael, until recently, was one of the most ardent free traders. Now, as the London Spectator complains, "he has hauled down his flag" by announcing that he will go at least as far as the retaliation part of Chamberlain's program. Sir Michael is an astute politician. Ever since he quit office he has been anxious for something to do. His switch from free trade to retaliation indicates that he thinks Balfour will form the next cabinet, which means that he believes at least part of Chamberlain's scheme will be approved at the polls. Sir Michael's jump for the band wagon denotes what remarkable strides protection must have been making in England within the last few months. For last summer Chamberlain himself, optimist that he is, declared that he did not expect to convert Great Britain to his doctrine for seven years.

MUZZLING ORATORS.

Georgia has four orators, Gov. Terrell, Mayor Howell of Atlanta, Capt. Howell, and "Jedge" Gaines, who are in evidence as well as audible upon every public occasion, and particularly at banquets. There are indeed few places in Georgia where their voices have not been heard or where they have not made flights of eloquence to the empyrean. As an elocutionary quartet they are famous from Rabun Gap to Okefinokee Swamp. They have talked in public from childhood, and if they are not muzzled they probably will continue talking as long as they can exercise their vocal chords. They have talked upon an immense variety of topics with that perfervid and emotional style of oratory which characterizes the southron.

Up to Thanksgiving eve none of these orators had missed an opportunity to exercise his gift. That evening they did. The Atlanta chamber of commerce gave a banquet. The four were invited conditionally—the condition being that they should remain silent, and they did. Their voices were not heard. Conversation was not interrupted. No burning questions were elucidated. No man in the closing hours of the function was talked under the table. No man went home wearied with vocal display or dazed by oratorical flights. It was hard on the four. It was something unheard of in the history of Georgia that four professional orators should be muzzled and sit through a function with no opportunity to "rise Mr. Chairman and ladies and gentlemen" in response to toasts or inspired by an impromptu. It was something new to the banqueters also after gastronomic enjoyment to sit over the wine and enjoy their own fun without having to risk digestion by attention to conventional orations, and to find the fag end of the feast quite as enjoyable as any other part of it.

The Atlanta chamber of commerce has broken a hallowed tradition of Georgia, but it has set an excellent example and one which might be followed to advantage in every other city. Half the pleasure of banquets is lost and nearly all of it marred by the fag end speeches, which are looked forward to with dismay when the cloth is cleaned and joy should abound. One dispatch says "the banquet was the most successful ever held in Georgia," and another says that "the event was a most enjoyable one." How could it have been otherwise? The merchants of Atlanta are to be commended for their good sense in muzzling four professional banquet orators. "There are others" who should be muzzled.

THE FIGHT IS FORCED ON THE CITY.

One of the receivers of the Union Traction company says he does not think he and his associates will apply to the council for an ordinance to extend privileges which they contend the company enjoys under the ninety-nine year law. At present, as the receivers admit, it is for Judge Grosscup to determine whether such an application shall be made, but they undoubtedly express the sentiments of the men who control the Union Traction company. The City railway company is willing to waive its claims under the act of 1865 for a twenty year grant. The other traction company is not, possibly because it does not believe that it will be able to make in twenty years all the money it wishes to.

The reason assigned for not going to the council is: "We hardly hope for a franchise from that body as at present constituted." That reason will hold good for a long time. No future council will be of a more yielding disposition—more inclined to sacrifice the rights of the city—than the existing one. Indeed, the longer the disagreement between city and company lasts the less willing will aldermen be to grant favors to the stubborn corporation.

The Union Traction company, if its ruling spirits so desire and if Judge Grosscup concur, can stake everything upon a single card. The company can take the ground that it can go on doing business and can do business much as it pleases without asking the city's permission for anything. In that event the United States Supreme court will have to pass upon the claim. If the court does not uphold to its fullest extent the contention of the company it will regret not having made terms with the council of 1903. It will not find another which it will be so easy to do business with.

The receivers have asked Judge Grosscup to instruct them to go on with proposed improvements on the street railway system without the consent of the city authorities. The matter is to be argued this morning. If the judge order the receivers to go ahead, as they believe he will, the city will take an appeal and the matter will be carried up to the highest court. If the receivers make the improvements they have in mind, or only a part of them, the public will get better service and will enjoy that service while the city and company are litigating.

If the company make any improvements, without the consent of the city and the Supreme court shall decide subsequently that the consent of the city was necessary, it will then appear as a suppliant before the council and beg for terms. The course the receivers wish the Union Traction company to pursue is a perilous one for it, but it seems to be the one decided on. So now for a long legal contest. The city has not sought it, but will not shrink from it. It will fight to the last for its rights.

CHOICE WORDS FROM ST. LOUIS.

Soaring to the giddiest heights of metaphor and flapping wide pinions in the luminiferous ether of oratory, Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri assured the house of representatives last Friday that, while the world's fair at Chicago was a "pageantry of progress," the Louisiana exposition at St. Louis would be "the apotheosis of centuries of civilization" and "the greatest triumph human genius has yet achieved." As the visitor saunters along "the terrace of states" the newly invented electric kaleidoscope will "illuminate him in royal purple"; as he descends from the terrace it will "ensanguine him in vivid red"; as he hangs over the "ramparts" of the "grand pool" it will "mellow him in orange."

But why dally with the electric kaleidoscope? The electric cascades make the electric kaleidoscope look like an extinct volcano. "The fiery flood of the cascades, stretching with its single luster through bands of brilliant cardinal, cerulean, orange, and amethyst, will seem like the stream of life everlasting soaring above the vicissitudes of fortune to the realm of the great unknown."

Then, when the visitor finds his palate jaded by soaring streams, he will deviate into gardens where his ravished soul may cuddle in the lap of Elysium. "The cascade gardens appeal to the five senses of man. Seated on the verandas of the pagoda cafés, above the scene, the epicure may satisfy his taste. His ears are saluted by the purling music of the waters and the harmonies of the great organ. The perfume of the flowers and trees perfume the evening air. The eyes behold the ravishment of the spectacle. The hands may caress what they most love. So the modern voluptuary may imitate the patricians of Rome."

When, therefore, "on the May day of the coming year the gates of welcome are flung wide open and the vision of the century unfolds its prophetic beauty for the uplifting of humanity," St. Louis will be the only place where the lover of ardent and exalted language will care to be. The cascade gardens, of course, will claim preëminent distinction as the "transcendent decorative zenith" of the exposition, but they will not escape eager-footed and hot breathing rivalry. One thousand statuesque pieces of "frozen poetry"; 50,000 roses tucked up in a single bed; 2,000 living birds in a bird cage; a reproduction of Jerusalem tearing away some of "the romance which clings to the Judean hills"; a side show called "Asia with its rajahs and rites"—all these aerial and rococo flings of human ingenuity will prove that while the cascade gardens deserve the palm of precedence, they yet remain only one ingredient in a heroic and tumultuous potpourri of excrescent exhibits.

Who said that a world's fair was a stimulus only to material development? World's fairs produce literature.

OLD AND NEW PROPHETS.

New times, new customs. The prophets of Israel had neither gold, silver, houses, land, stocks, bonds, nor cattle. Elijah owned only the few cheap clothes he wore. John the Baptist, whom Dowie calls Elijah II., had for his sole possessions raiment of camel's hair and a leathern girdle. They had nothing, not even debts, so, while kings and queens pursued them, creditors did not. Neither of them knew what it was to be commanded and strictly enjoined "laying all other matters aside, and notwithstanding any excuse," to appear in court to answer a petition praying that he be adjudged a bankrupt.

If Elijah III. had not combined business with prophecy—if he had not dabbled in lots and acres, started a bank, and established a lace factory—modern sons of Belial, called creditors, would not have gone into court with a petition, and Judge Kohlsaat could not have done what has not been done before—put the goods of a prophet in the hands of receivers. Nor would he have been able to order Elijah III. to leave his city of saints and appear in court in the city of sinners.

It does not follow because some creditors have asked that Dowie be adjudged a bankrupt that the court will so order. His assets may turn out to be much in excess of his liabilities. The clouds now lowering over Zion may break away speedily. The men who are besieging it with the legal artillery of judgments and bills may be paid off to the uttermost farthing and the siege be raised. It would be regrettable if the lace factory were to close down or the depositors in the Zion bank be unable to get all their money. There would be no such commotion as there is now if the prophet had stuck to prophesying and had confined himself to heaping up treasures in the celestial safety vaults, where thieves cannot break through and steal.

The prophets of old were sometimes able to soften the hard hearts of princes and kings. Perhaps a modern prophet may not always find them obdurate. But creditors are made of sterner stuff. The threat of divine vengeance does not frighten them. Prayers do not move them. Nothing will content them but cash, and if a prophet have it not he is dragged into court like any other debtor. Dowie has troubles which Elijah and John the Baptist were spared.

BEAVERS OBLIGED CONGRESSMEN.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow describes in his report on the postoffice frauds the methods of Beavers, the head of the division of salaries and allowances. He says:

> Increases of allowances for clerk hire in postoffices were made regardless of the necessities of the service. Promotions were frequently made without consideration of the merits of the clerk promoted. Long time leases for postoffice premises were canceled and rent increased upon the recommendation of prominent political leaders, sometimes without regard for the rental value of the premises.

Beavers did not do these things for money but to oblige politicians, most of them congressmen. Democratic as well as republican members appealed to him for increases for the benefit of friends. He willingly obliged them and they were not ungrateful. Machen had the same obliging disposition. As a consequence, when a house member last winter consulted some prominent republicans and democrats about the advisability of an investigation of the postoffice department, the minute he mentioned the names of Beavers and Machen they said they would have nothing to do with the matter.

The wish to please congressmen at the expense of the government has been one of the causes of the demoralization of the department and the wastage of its revenues. If congress wishes to promote efficiency and integrity in the conduct of postal affairs it will bid its members abstain from practices which foster corruption. The head of a division who begins by making a place for the protégé of a congressman at the cost of a few hundred dollars to the government is likely to end by robbing the government for his own private benefit.

IT is said there is no good drinking water in Panama. The facilities for boiling the water down there ought to be superb.

THE popular belief is that Overseer Jane Dowie is not involved in the temporary financial embarrassment that has overtaken the head of the family.

AFTER reading Grover Cleveland's letter, in which he stated, in terms almost positive, that he would not be a candidate for president next year, Col. Watterson loosened his collar, gasped once or twice, and finally decided to leave the whole affair in the hands of Providence.

SOME fault has been found with Speaker Cannon's voice. It is not loud enough. He will manage to make his gavel heard, however, when any emphasis is necessary.

CHICAGO can get the convention next year by reaching out its hand—with a check for $100 000 in it.

VAN DINE et al. will observe that the street car company, which offered a reward for the capture of the car barn murderers, appears to entertain no doubt that the right men have been caught.

BUT President Roosevelt, while not taking sides in the Illinois campaign, is quite certain he knows one side he wouldn't take.

DOWIE may not be Elijah, but it will be well to wait a few days yet before calling him Ichabod.

Size.

Maud—"That is Miss Ryno, the heiress. She was born, you know, with a silver spoon in her mouth."

Mabel (inspecting her)—"She looks as if it might have been a soup ladle."

Saving Time.

"This thing will talk anything I talk into it, won't it?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," replied the dealer.

The phonograph was set in motion, and the purchaser sat down in front of it and spoke into the mouthpiece as follows:

"Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds. Poland China, 857 pounds."

He kept this up till he had filled the cylinder, after which he had the machine packed up, and as he put it under his arm and turned to go he said:

"I've got a fat hog at the stock show, and this will save me a lot of trouble in answering questions about him."

Bright Scheme.

Literary Critic—"I liked your new book, all except the last chapter. There was no reason, so far as I could see, for making the story end unhappily."

Struggling Author—"I did that for a purpose. When the story is dramatized the stage version will be made to end happily, and it will get a lot of free advertising, both in the literary and dramatic columns of the papers. See?"

They Two.

[Washington Correspondence New York World.]

Representative Sibley of Pennsylvania attended a horse sale in New York where The Abbot sold for $22,000. Shortly after The Abbot had been knocked down Sibley went to the lunch counter and ordered a turkey sandwich.

"What he gave me," said Sibley, "reminded me of a sheet of tissue paper in an envelope more than anything else that I can think of. After I had taken the required two mouthfuls I handed the man a dollar. He gave me back a 50 cent piece and two dimes, having charged me 30 cents for the alleged sandwich.

"I shoved the 50 cents over to him. 'What's that for?' he asked. 'You have paid for the sandwich.'

"'I know,' I said, 'but I want to bet you.'

"'Bet me what?'

"'Bet you that if you sell that turkey out it will bring more than The Abbot.'"

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD RONALDSHAY, who is now in this country, is the oldest surviving son and heir of the marquis of Zetland and has achieved considerable distinction in connection with his explorations of central Asia, which he undertook while serving on the staff of Lord Curzon, the viceroy of India. He has embodied his experiences in a clever book, entitled "Sport and Politics Under an Eastern Sky," in which exciting adventures modestly told and records of the bagging of plenty of big game are interspersed with the expression of some shrewd views on the subject of the political situation in central Asia. Lord Ronaldshay is a good looking young soldier and heir to a large fortune, the foundations of which were laid by an army contractor of the eighteenth century. This contractor found no difficulty in obtaining a baronetcy from the premier of the day, who stood in need of his contributions to the campaign fund of his party. His son in turn was elevated to the peerage with the title of Lord Dundas, which was transformed in the following generation into the earldom of Zetland, a title based on the fact of the Dundas having purchased the Zetland estates and feudal rights of the earls of Morton. The present Lord Zetland was advanced to the rank of marquis for his services as one of the tory viceroys of Ireland. His eldest son, Lord Ronaldshay, is regarded as one of the great matrimonial catches in English society.

Prince Frederick Ernest of Schoenburg-Waldenburg, from whom the Infanta Alice of Spain is now endeavoring to secure a dissolution of her marriage, is a tall and handsome man, who belongs to one of the mediatized houses of Germany, which is qualified therefore to contract matrimonial alliances with the reigning houses of Europe on a footing of equality. The major portion of the estates of his house, which traces back its ancestry in an unbroken line to the year 996, are situated in Saxony, and it is owing to this, as well as to the circumstance that the Schoenburg-Waldenburg occupy seats in the Saxon house of lords, that the infanta has applied to the Saxon tribunals for the dissolution of her marriage.

The latter was inaugurated under the most unfortunate auspices owing to the opposition of both the parents of the bridegroom and of the bride to the match. Indeed, it was in consequence of these obstacles that no less than six months intervened between the religious marriage at Viareggio and the civil marriage at Venice. For six months therefore the infanta and the prince were in an awkward predicament indeed—that is to say, married in the eyes of the church, but not married in the eyes of the law. It is fortunate under the circumstances that they did not begin their married life until the civil ceremony had been completed. For, had they contented themselves with the religious ceremony and anything occurred to postpone to a still later date the civil union, any child which might have made its appearance in the meantime would have been illegitimate in the eyes of the law, and as such debarred not only from the prince's name and title but from even any share in the fortune of either father or mother. It is one of the only known cases in modern times, at least as far as princely and royal houses are concerned, where so long an interval has been permitted to elapse between the religious and civil marriages.

The brother of the Infanta Alice, Don Jaime of Spain, and her sister and brother-in-law, the Prince and Princess Massimo, are now with her at Sori, in Italy, and are consulting with her lawyers as to the steps to be taken to bring to account those responsible for the circulation of the wholly false story to the effect that the infanta had eloped with her coachman.

The recent condemnation of young Baron Francis Joseph of Lerchenfeld, at Vienna, to eighteen months' imprisonment with hard labor, and to the loss of his rank as a member of the nobility on conviction of the perpetration of a long series of frauds, serves to call attention to the fact that the Austrian, Russian, and the various German tribunals still exercise the right of depriving nobles guilty of criminal offenses of their titles and of their rank as scions of the aristocracy. The courts exercise this right in the name of the sovereign, who is the fountain of all honors, and who, therefore, may be considered as possessing the authority to declare forfeit any distinctions that his predecessors on the throne may have conferred. In Austria and in Germany the monarchs only deprive a noble of his titles through the decree of the criminal courts. But in Russia the czars have occasionally taken this step without any regard to the action of the tribunals.

In Spain, Portugal, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Scandinavia, neither the courts nor yet the monarch would be considered to have the authority to deprive a man of a title that he had inherited in strict legal fashion from ancestors, while in England the question as to whether or not the crown retains this prerogative is a matter of controversy. For some time ago, by dint of diligent and careful historical research, it was discovered that there are a number of precedents for the exercise by the sovereign of the right of dispeering peers. Members of the house of lords were, it seems, dispeered in Tudor and Plantagenet times for disgraceful conduct, and there is even on record the case of a duke of Bedford, who, without any action on the part of parliament, was dispeered by King Edward IV., deprived of all his titles, and reduced to the level of an ordinary esquire on the ground that in the estimation of the crown he was too poor to maintain the rank of a peer of the realm.

This discovery naturally created a great sensation, as up to that moment it had always been believed that the only way in which a peer of the realm could be deprived of his titles and of his seat in the house of lords was by being attainted by act of parliament for high treason. This was followed by the extinction of the peerage belonging to the culprit, none of his descendants being allowed to inherit it.

There have been no instances of forfeiture of peerages by attainder since the Jacobite rebellion in the early part of the eighteenth century, and there is no doubt that were King Edward VII. to avail himself of the prerogative of dispeering peers on the strength of the precedent furnished by King Edward IV. and other of his still more remote predecessors on the throne, a severe struggle would be made alike in the house of lords and in the courts of law to deprive the crown of this right, on the ground that a title by inheritance enjoyed for a certain number of years becomes just as much the property of its bearer as his inherited estates.

At the same time there is no doubt that it would distinctly add to the prestige and character of the peerage were the king to deprive those members thereof who have disgraced themselves of their titles and immunities, reducing them to the status of ordinary citizens. Inasmuch as all the members of the house of lords are officially styled "well beloved cousins" of his majesty, he ought at least to have the right to rid himself of objectionable relatives.

Although Lieut. Bilse has been dismissed from the German army, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment for writing the novel entitled "A Little Garrison," portraying in a realistic fashion the condition of affairs in the frontier town of Forbach, where he was stationed, yet the kaiser and the military authorities at Berlin seem to have taken to heart the lesson contained in the book. For not only has nearly every one of the officers at Forbach been transferred or compelled to resign his commission, but what is far more important is that the emperor has decided henceforth to abandon the practice of sending officers guilty of misconduct by way of punishment to frontier garrisons. For it is made clear that it is necessary to have the best officers and not the worst ones at such points, calculated at any moment to become ones of danger, while the conditions of life there are such that officers of unsatisfactory character develop worse faults, and that only men of some strength of mind can resist the effects of isolation, uncongenial surroundings, and absence of refining society.

"This," said Deacon Hammer, holding up a glass of ice water, "is the drink for me. I can't get too much of this."

"That's right," replied Hardkase, "you can drink an awful lot of it on the morning after, can't you?"—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. W. T. Stead of London announces that he will establish a new daily paper, which shall be a "social exchange," and through which his patrons may send messages, order goods, etc. He says the paper shall be "sort of a maid of all work."

We walk into the office
Of the paper up to date;
We want to see the owner,
But it seems we'll have to wait.
He's out upon an errand,
With his pencil and his book
He is looking up addresses—
There's a reader wants a cook.

"Well, then," we softly murmur,
"We should like to see the man
Who writes the flaming headlines."
"Sir, I do not think you can,"
Is the gently spoken answer,
"For I don't know where he's at,
Save that some one asked this morning

"The Social Mention lady—
Can we see her?" we inquire.
"Not this morning," is the answer,
"It was Mrs. Swell's desire
That the Social Mention lady
Come in answer to her call
For some one to write the blooming
Invitations to her ball."

"The man who writes of horses?"
"He is piloting a hack
With a country reader in it
To the shopping streets and back."
"Then, the wise dramatic critic?"
"Ah, an operatic troupe
Sent in fifteen cash subscriptions,
And annexed him as a supe."

"Reporters?" "They are busy
In a hundred varied ways—
Running errands, painting houses,
Watching doggie while he plays,
Hunting servants, cooking dinners,
Serving tables in a rush,
And the star of our equipment
Asks a crying child to 'hush.'"

"I'd like to take the paper."
Then the office boy cries: "No!
We can take no more subscribers—
It would be a fatal blow.
If we list you with our patrons,"
On his face there spreads a smirk,
"We should have to close the office,
For I'd have to go to work."

A BLAMELESS YOUTH.

There was a young man from Duluth
Who was given to drinking vermuth.
His friends tried to save him
By allaying his craving
With something less warm—when forsooth,
He took gasoline.
Now, it's plain to be seen
He'd better have stuck to vermuth—and Duluth.

THE microbe is a fad, but who will be the first to give up his germs?

Don't blame this young man from Duluth—
He suffered from pain in his tuth;
His agony dental
Resulted in mental Disturbance when he was a yuth.
He cried: "I'm an auto,
And benzine I've got to Fill up with!" He rose from Duluth—that's the truth.

NEVERTHELESS, those who visit "thrifty" families will be apt to agree with Mrs. Corinne Brown that economy may be worked to death.

ELIJAH intimates that he has something up his sleeve. He has also plenty of conversation up his whiskers.

SOMEHOW, it ought to be possible to say something to the effect that England's campaign against Thibet will relieve the British army of Lord Roberts' charges of Lhassatude. Maybe not, though.

WILL the editor of McClure's Magazine kindly turn a listening ear toward Grand Rapids, which town has been shrieking for some weeks? Surely Mr. Lincoln Steffens can rush thither and do something under the title of "Grand Rapids—Grafted and Glad of It."

IF Zion City were in South America, a short notice revolution would put Dowie on his feet.

MEN and brethren, an eastern woman has prepared a paper for the instruction of her sisters, entitled: "How a Woman May Save Herself While Shopping." Statistics gleaned during the last twenty years prove that a woman hardly ever saves anything else while shopping.

"THRIFT and saving," says Mrs. Corinne Brown, "are a menace." And yet, Mrs. Brown, so far as is known, is not engaged in the millinery business.

BUT if some one would start a crusade against "Gents' Pants" it would receive almost unanimous support.

A GENTLEMAN giving the name of McClellan has at last solved the pestering problem of how to win at poker. Entering a "club" on State street, he insisted upon taking a hand in each game that was in progress. He was the only man to draw, and all the other players passed. All he held was a pistol. He raked in all the pots and cashed in, omitting the ceremony of feeding the kitty. This was irregular to some extent, but almost any innovation is irregular if it makes good.

PRECEPTS FOR THE YOUNG.

IV.—DO NOT IMITATE.

My child, when people come to call,
Do not lurk somewhere in the hall
And notice how they smile or talk
With the intent, when they depart,
To show your imitative art.

Of course, your Uncle Joseph's sneeze,
As you portray it, can but please;
And rich old auntie's stylish airs
When you depict them banish cares,
But what if you show Uncle Joe
The way your auntie's antics go?

And what if, with a puff and pant,
Your uncle's sneeze you show your aunt?
Some day, perhaps, the two will meet,
And all your little tricks repeat.
Then to their fortune laden wills
They'll add some boyless codicils.

CARNEGIFIED CONSOLATION.

Hoot, laddie, dinna greet
And moan your fate sae sairly!
That fortune's fleein' feet
Ha'e jumped aboon ye fairly!
What guid is gear an' gowd!
It's ilka thing an' a'ething.
Ye maun be verra proud
Your pursie clinks wi' naething!

Hoot, laddie, dry your e'en!
Wealth is na worth the ha'ing.
The gey leebrary wean
For it is ever ca'ing.
An' honors mak' ye hop—
No sooner ha'e ye got 'em
Than gin ye'd hold the top
Ye aye must watch the bottom.

Hoot, laddie, weep nae mair
For that ye ha'e nae penny.
'Tis but a bunch of care
As soon as ye ha'e many.
Tak' this ane thing as sure—
Nae truth could be the surer—
'Tis fine when ye're that puir
Ye mauna be the puirer!

THE STRANGER ON THE SILL.

BY THOMAS BUCHANAN READ.

BETWEEN broad fields of wheat and corn
Is the lowly home where I was born;
The peach tree leans against the wall,
And the woodbine wanders over all;
There is the shaded doorway still,
But a stranger's foot has crossed the sill.

There is the barn—and, as of yore,
And see the busy swallows throng,
And hear the peewee's mournful song;
But the stranger comes—O, painful proof—
His sheaves are piled to the heated roof.

There is the orchard—the very trees
Where my childhood knew long hours of ease,
And watched the shadowy moments run
Till my life imbibed more shade than sun;
The swing from the bough still sweeps the air,
But the stranger's children are swinging there!

There bubbles the shady spring below,
With its bullrush brook where the hazels grow;
'Twas there I found the calamus root
And watched the minnows poise and shoot,
And heard the robin lave his wing.

O, ye who daily cross the sill,
Step lightly, for I love it still;
And when you crowd the old barn eaves
Then think what countless harvest sheaves
Have passed within that scented door
To gladden eyes that are no more.

Deal kindly with these orchard trees;
And when your children crowd their knees,
Their sweetest fruit they shall impart,
As if old memories stirred their heart;
To youthful sport still leave the swing,
And in sweet reverence hold the spring.

The barn, the trees, the brook, the birds,
The meadows with their lowing herds,
The woodbine on the cottage wall—
My heart still lingers with them all.
Ye strangers on my native sill,

Tales from the Stock Show

HE was evidently a visitor to the fat stock show out "at the yards." He wore a blue flannel shirt, a big black slouch hat, one of those blond overcoats you see about stock trains, and the usual accumulation of whiskers.

He walked into a fashionable downtown restaurant and stood for a moment looking around him uncertainly. A pompous head waiter, with what the vaudeville artist calls an "open faced vest," saw the farmer enter and started to head him off. Evidently the flunkey didn't think the old fellow a fit patron for his place. Looked too much like he'd order a piece of pie and a glass of buttermilk. So he stopped in front of the farmer and made vigorous attempts to shoo him out into the street.

But the stock show specimen was not to be treated in that way. He rammed one hand down into his trousers pocket and slowly pulled out an enormous roll of money. With this evidence of wealth as a weapon he shook his fist in the face of the man with the dress coat and said: "Now you run along, sonny, and be good."

Nothing awes a head waiter like the sight of a roll of bills, and he immediately offered to show the visitor to a seat. But the farmer wanted none of his assistance. At a table near by sat a young man alone, who looked as if he would not faint if some one spoke to him to whom he had not been introduced.

"Say, young fellow," said the big stock man, "can I sit down here and talk to you without showing my roll?"

The young man had overheard the conversation with the waiter and he looked up with a smiling assent.

"Say," went on the visitor, "I'm from Missouri, but I've been doing all the showing since I struck town. It's the blamedest queerest town I ever saw, too. Every place I go into they look at my jay clothes and then they try to run me out. But that roll of mine fixes 'em all right every time. Funniest thing about it all is that there ain't but two $1 bills in that roll. The boys out at the yards fixed that up for me when I started out to see the town. Just a bundle of brown paper with them two aces wrapped around it. Kind-a does me good to hand these dudes a little of their own green goods game once in awhile. And I'm just aching for some of your real smart thieves to come along and pick my pocket."

The fat stock show started out as an exhibition of fat beeves, hogs, and sheep. Then a few heavy draft horses were introduced and this year, for the first time, there are some trotters and roadsters on exhibition, most of them from the stables of John Splan, the veteran trainer and driver of light harness horses. Mr. Splan has always a crowd about him, and when he is not explaining the fine points of a horse is telling some of his experiences on the turf.

"Once," he said yesterday, "I had a sort of a sporting tailor downtown. I went into his place one afternoon and there were a lot of trotting horsemen standing about.

"'Charley,' I said to him, 'I'd like to make a trade with you. Will you make a suit of clothes for me and take your pay in a tip on a horse race?'

"The boys bantered him into accepting and he went to the races with me. I waited till I got what I thought was a good tip and then went down and gave it to him. He put a lot of confidence in it, and I'm afraid he overplayed himself about $500. Tried to win out a whole tailor shop and stood a show of losing one, too. Well, my horse won, but only by an eyelash. The tailor was there looking on as the horses swept under the wire. Just as he got through cashing in I went up to him and said: 'Now, Charley, I'd like to get an overcoat on the same terms.'

"'Not much, old man,' he answered, 'you give too tight fits to suit me.'"

The center of attraction at the show yesterday was Challenger, the steer which on Tuesday won the grand championship and is now entitled to the ribbon as the "champion steer of America."

Challenger is a grade steer, its sire being a Hereford and its dam a cow of mixed blood. It was fed at the Nebraska experiment station by a herdsman who came right from a job as railroad brakeman to the feeding lot, and who won success simply by following exactly the printed feeding directions furnished by the professors.

Challenger gained 500 pounds in the last six months, and this is the diet on which he was fed:

One-fourth corn, one-fourth bran, one-fourth oats, a little oil meal, with prairie hay and alfalfa as roughage. During the last month he was fed sugar beets in addition. The steer lost 100 pounds during the trip to Chicago. Since May 1 the animal has been fed all it would eat and clean up well.

Burke Burnett, one of the richest and best known cattle men in the panhandle of Texas, brought several carlots of fat cattle to the show. Mr. Burnett is the owner of the famous Four-Six ranch and brand. Back in the old days, when Texas cattle were all long horns, and a Texas cowman felt uncomfortable when a neighbor crowded up within forty miles of him, Mr. Burnett used sometimes to "sit in" a game of poker. It is told of him that at one memorable poker party, in which a number of cattle kings, princes, dukes, and commoners were participating, he "skinned" his hand, and found no less than four smiling sixes. It happened that only a month before he had adopted the Four-Six brand, and, as every cattle man will understand, he felt in honor bound to back his brand. Accordingly he unbelted on the four sixes, put his herds and his ranch, and all he possessed into the pot—and fortune smiled. The next highest man held four fives.

"You know," said the old cowman, "in the old days when all range cattle were long horns a wolf stood mighty little show when he tried to pull down a calf. The calf's mother was always ready with a set of horns six feet long and as sharp as needles. When a pack of wolves got after the cattle the cows would round up all the calves in the center and form a ring around them, with their sharp horns out like a wall of bayonets.

"Now the cattle are mostly hornless, but nature has taken care of their protection. Their hoofs have got to be as hard as iron and as sharp as knives. When the wolves come around now, as they still often do, the cows put their calves in the center and line up around them in a circle, with their hind quarters out. The minute a wolf gets within kicking distance he is knocked over and, unless he gets away in a hurry, cut to pieces."

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Hour Changed So as Not to Conflict with Bazaar at Mrs. Pullman's, Which Also Takes Place on Saturday Afternoon—Miss Hazel Martyn to Be Married on Dec. 28—Miss Edna Owsley a Debutante of Yesterday—Weddings Celebrated.

The hour for the auction sale of boxes for the bal poudré has been changed from 4 o'clock to 2. The sale is to be held in the south parlor of the Auditorium hotel Saturday afternoon. Invitations will be issued for the affair, which will be made of social nature, tea to be served. Mr. Arthur J. Caton will act as auctioneer. The change of hour was necessitated by the fact that the bazaar for the benefit of St. Luke's hospital is also an event of Saturday, and the later hour would have kept many from appearing at Mrs. Pullman's residence for the sale.

Mrs. P. A. Valentine will leave for New York on Sunday to arrange the final details for her quadrille costume. Mrs. Harold McCormick, who will head one of the quadrille sets, will return from the east on that same day, bringing with her a costume for the ball. The rehearsals for the quadrille will be held Tuesday and Friday evening of next week at Bournique's, and private drills will take place at the homes of the leaders of the sets throughout the week. Mrs. Selfridge's set will rehearse this evening, although several members are yet to promise their names for the dance. Mrs. Arthur Caton finds she cannot conveniently take charge of a set, and has been succeeded by Mrs. Lockwood Honoré, who will have the assistance of Miss Florence Higinbotham.

Owing to the illness of her son, Mrs. Carter Harrison has named Mrs. Heaton Owsley to take her place as a leader.

Miss Hazel Martyn has selected Dec. 28 for the day of her wedding to Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau Jr. of New York. It will be a noon ceremony at St. Chrysostom's church in Dearborn avenue. It is likely that Miss Dorothy Martyn will attend her sister as maid of honor, and there will be no bridemaids. Dr. Trudeau's best man and ushers will be chosen from his New York friends. Dr. Trudeau left for the east on Monday, but will return to attend the bal poudré, with Miss Martyn. There will be no prenuptial entertainments for the bride elect, and it is the desire of Miss Martyn to make her wedding simple in detail. A wedding breakfast will follow the ceremony at the Virginia.

Miss Edna Owsley was a débutante of yesterday, her mother, Mrs. Heaton Owsley, introducing her at a large reception from 5 until 7 o'clock at the Owsley home, 408 Erie street. Assisting the hostess and her daughter were Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, Miss Bonnie of Louisville, who is Miss Owsley's guest, Miss Marjorie King, Miss Dorothea Johnson, Miss Lesley Johnson, Miss Harriet Smith, Miss Mabel Dick, Miss Amy Waller, Miss Eva Waller, Miss Fannie Caruthers, and Miss Houston of Louisville. After the hours a supper and dance were in order, the guests for the latter numbering over 100 young people. Mrs. and Miss Owsley will receive on Wednesday, Dec. 9 and 16.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Fairbank, daughter of the late N. K. Fairbank to Mr. Theodore Reynolds of Orange, N. J., took place yesterday at the home of Miss Fairbank's sister, Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, in Winnetka. It was a 4 o'clock ceremony, performed by the Rt. Rev. Canon Knowles of New York. Miss Natalie Fairbank, a sister of the bride, and the Rev. George McReynolds of Kansas City were the only attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will reside in Orange, N. J.

Miss Lillian McCarthy was another bride of yesterday, her wedding to Mr. Raymond Carlton Dudley taking place at St. Paul's church, Kenwood, at 8:30 last evening, the Rev. Edwin J. Randall, a brother-in-law of the bride, officiating. Miss McCarthy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McCarthy, was attended by her sister, Miss Jessie McCarthy, as maid of honor, and the maids were Miss Frances Sangston, Miss Florence Wilbur, Miss Isabel Dudley, and Miss Grace Dudley, sisters of the groom. Mr. Lawrence H. Dudley was the best man and the groomsmen were Mr. Ralph Hastings, Mr. Henry Love Clarke, Mr. Harry W. Darrow, Mr. Edwin M. Hadley, and Mr. Charles Sumner Pike. A reception followed the ceremony at the family residence, 4800 Kimbark avenue.

Miss Maude Hambleton and Mr. Walter Kirk, both of Chicago, were married yesterday in Santa Barbara, Cal. Mr. Milton B. Kirk was his brother's best man, the bride having the attendance of three young nieces. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk will return to Chicago in a few weeks, and will spend the winter in the Hambleton home, 558 Dearborn avenue.

Mrs. Samuel Rogers Wells, 3612 Michigan avenue, gave a tea yesterday from 3 to 6 o'clock, assisted by several members of her family and a large number of friends. Among the assistants were:

Mrs. John Kenneth Mackenzie,
Mrs. Charles Finley Eiker,
Mrs. Charles Warren Gillett,
Mrs. Irving C. Black,

SALES OF 11,000 AUTOMOBILES ARE ESTIMATED FOR THE YEAR.

Statistics of Manufacturers Compiled to Sept. 3 Indicate a Business More than Double That Reported in 1902.

Statistics of the business of 85 per cent of the automobile manufacturers of the United States have been compiled to Sept. 3. These indicate that the actual sales for the year 1903 will be 11,000 cars, valued at $12,000,000. This is double the business of 1902, to which is added the importation of 200 cars, valued at $800,000.

The importation of cars is about the same as last year. Trade in foreign made automobiles is regarded as being at its maximum, as American manufacturers rapidly are supplying the demand. It only is a question of time, says a prominent manufacturer, when the United States will be shipping large cars to Europe in excess of the importation. The small American car already is favorably received on the other side of the water.

It is predicted that the business of 1904 will be double that of this year. All the space has been taken at the coming exhibition, Jan. 16 to Jan. 23, in the Madison Square garden, New York. An overflow exhibit will be held in the Herald exhibition hall.

HONOR MEMORY OF KOZMINSKI.

LESSON NO. 112—The Ethical Training of Servants.

THROUGHOUT the spiritual as well as the industrial and intellectual fields of life of this day coöperative endeavor is the platform all stand upon. Social settlements and clubs, factory work and department stores, all indicate this fact, while community life, from the housekeeping of a city to the coöperative housekeeping communities, show forth this indispensable principle.

The art of home making and home keeping is essentially a coöperative working problem. It presupposes the coöperative interests of the members of the home. Does it always include as home members the working force in the kitchen and other departments in the house? Are the plans of the home and its keeping explained to our servants from the coöperative standpoint, and not given in the nature of "orders from the mistress?" Do we sometimes insist on their being Marthas and allow them no opportunity to choose the good part that Mary had from the Master? Are they not cumbered with much serving? These are conditions that we who are privileged to work with these people as with free souls ought to answer.

Let us stop here for a moment and read Ruskin's definition of the essential qualities of a cook: "It means the knowledge of Medea, and of Circe, and of Calypso, and of Helen, and of Rebekah, and of the queen of Sheba. It means the knowledge of all herbs, and fruits, and balms, and spices, and of all that is healing and sweet in fields and groves, and savory in meats; it means carefulness, and inventiveness, and watchfulness, and willingness, and readiness of appliance; it means the economy of your great grandmothers, and the science of modern chemists; it means much tasting and no wasting; it means English thoroughness and French art, and Arabian hospitality; and it means, in fine, that you are to be perfectly and always 'ladies' ('loafgivers'); and as you are to see imperatively that everybody has something pretty to put on, so you are to see, yet more imperatively, that everybody has something nice to eat."

When we consider this truthful definition and the human material that comes into our kitchens, the need of a working plan of coöperation becomes imperative.

A good example of what may be done in the relationship between mistress and maids can be illustrated from the life at Gertrude house.

Gertrude house is the home of a student body of teachers. It is easier to experiment with the working force here than in many other places because of the coöperative principles throughout the entire household.

The kitchen family includes two Irish girls, one Italian, one German, one Finn, one American, and two men (one Swede and one Finn). But for the spirit that unites the differences the problems might be many, both from the racial as well as the religious viewpoints.

One experiment in domestic circles which the head of the household has made successful has been that of a regularly planned bimonthly meeting with the "help." At these meetings questions come from either mistress or maids about supplies, work done, or needed changes or adjustments. The maids feel as free to make their requests as their leader. Here have been solved practical difficulties which easily lead to irritation and an unhappy domestic atmosphere. An interested group in all household undertakings and a ready cheerfulness that is spontaneous has resulted from these gatherings. The oiling of the household machinery is only part of these meetings. The girls bring their sewing here and have help in the accomplishment of it. While they are busy the leader either reads or tells them of experiences which are the result of travel or study. Free discussion is carried on as to the spirit and methods of the servants' work as well as of the entire household, which brings about a better understanding in the relations of employed and employers.

Indefinite directions and a lack of clearness in stating plans is often the cause of unsatisfactory work.

Through the assistance given them in their sewing, ideas of suitable materials and color combinations, neatness and care of both dress and body are touched upon in such a way that it becomes their desire to do the wholesome things. The reading and conversation furnish wholesome thought to the mind. The Jungle Books have proven great favorites.

The result of these meetings is evidenced in the wholesome relations existing between the girls and the absence of gossiping. Whatever needs to be discussed is brought to the meeting or taken directly to headquarters.

Another result is a common endeavor to work together. The cook has helped clean rooms and the laundress has peeled potatoes. This service has been voluntarily offered when there has been need, and without suggestion from the mistress. Above all, those in charge are always welcomed in the kitchen, and no matter how sudden may be their appearance things are always being carried on as though under supervision.

The five and ten minute conversations those in charge have with the working force daily is another experiment that has simplified many problems. Then the plans for the day are talked over, and cheerful faces are brought to the day's work instead of grumblings and tiredness. Each employé has a certain amount of time off from work each day.

It is the endeavor of Gertrude house to make the work of its help something more than routine service. Their rooms are as light and comfortable as those of members of the household. The family numbers over sixty, and the servants do not rest upon a bed of roses. They work steadily and hard. While their remuneration is not the maximum standard, it is considered average price for the work demanded. They are dealt with frankly and truthfully, and the response is parallel in the main.

The aims at Gertrude house are to seek for the right spirit in work, to secure an environment beneficial to all, and to organize daily labor, to make it creative, cheerful, and efficient.

Interest in good books, occasional attendance at wholesome plays and orchestral concerts, with glimpses at art exhibits, evidences growing appreciation of things thoroughly worth while, and proves that the experiment begun some years ago at Gertrude house can be the encouraging experience of all households. GOOD IN PROBLEM PLAYS.

LESS HARMFUL THAN FARCES, DECLARES MRS. J. D. SHERMAN.

Tells Woman's Club Members That Lessons Are Taught by Handling Right and Wrong Frankly and with a Moral Purpose—Taste of Theater Going Public Plainly Degenerating—Grand Opera Is Becoming Only a Social Function, Says Mrs. Perce.

"I think less harm is done to the younger members of the theater going public by the problem play, where questions of right and wrong are handled frankly and with a moral purpose, than by the less frank and more insidious performance where jest is made of everything."

This declaration yesterday was made by Mrs. John D. Sherman in an essay on "The Theatrical Syndicate," read at the Chicago Woman's club. In the discussion that followed it was asserted that the large attendance at the performances of "Mr. Blue Beard" and the comparative neglect of "Ulysses" is an eloquent outward sign of the degeneracy of the public's taste, theatrically.

Stage Not What It Should Be.

"The influence of the stage should be elevating and should educate and instruct as well as entertain," declared Mrs. Sherman. "The stage today is not what it should be. In America we have no real theater going public.

"On the face of it, one would say that no young persons in the formative stage of mental and moral development should be allowed to witness a problem play, because it is indecent. It is indecent because of its suggestiveness, because it treats plainly of certain phases of life which the Anglo-Saxon is prone to ignore at least in public. If the problem play is indecent, why should any one of mature years and of respectability lend it the support of her presence?

"Call the ordinary problem play indecent, if you will, but it cannot be denied that from one standpoint it is as moral as any play. The end is the same; it is the medium that is different. 'Everyman,' for instance, aims to instruct and elevate by pointing out the good and showing virtue's reward; the problem play, by pointing out the evil and punishing the sin."

Would Reform Theater Goers.

Mrs. I. S. Blackwelder urged that the best thing to do was to urge the public to forsake extravaganzas and go to see "Ulysses." Miss Isabel McDougal insisted that a play does not need to be good morally to be a good play and that the quality of goodness must be determined by the constructive perfection of a production.

"A well constructed play," she urged, "always draws, no matter whether it is irreproachable or not. I was glad to hear the club applaud Mrs. Sherman's statement that the problem play is not so reprehensible.

Mrs. L. W. Perce declared that, "although the grand opera fast is becoming only a social function, it is folly for a handful of women to talk about reforming the stage."

At the meeting of the education department in the forenoon Supt. Cooley urged the advantages of training in domestic science and household arts in the schools, and declared that culture can be received through the hands as well as the mind.

Motor Car Etiquette—

Is a new and rigid code of the proprieties that is springing into being and which makes the novice in mortoring dread to betray gaucherie and ignorance of the manners and customs of the car when invited as guest on a motor trip.

The first point is always to be ready to the moment when a car calls for you. And you should suit your clothes to the weather and to the special needs of the motor car.

No girl who goes motoring should wear open work stockings, thin "swagger" shoes or French heels. Often she has to get down into a muddy, dusty road while repairs are done.

The tool box is generally in a little cupboard below the two box seats, so she must move if any repair by the roadside becomes necessary. Also it is bad form to wear "garden party" shoes and stockings on a motor car.

And remember, too, that a breakdown by the way may end in a three or four mile walk to a railway station, leaving the car stranded in the road. Your decorative transparent stockings and Parisian heels will look out of place on a cross country tramp, to say nothing of torture.

A man who has to turn back when a storm comes on because a girl has come out in a beflowered picture hat, garden party frock, and no macintosh will be unlikely to invite her again.

And nothing gets on his motor nerves so much as a companion on the box seat who wears a "floppy" hat, which she has to hold on with both hands directly the car makes a little speed.

Of course, the seat beside the driver is the post of honor, as on coach or dogcart.

It has always been the custom to put the favorite girl—from the driver's point of view—beside himself. And a motorist worth his salt claims this privilege on his car.

If the driver is an amateur, and not sure of his mechanical skill he may have to pack youth and beauty behind in the tonneau, and put the chauffeur in the seat beside him.

Never feel hurt if your dearest man friend, fiancé, or husband does not raise his hat to you when you meet him driving a motor car.

The moment the car stops the chauffeur leaps out—as a groom does—to open the door of the tonneau behind. The driver adjusts his machinery, and then assists the lady on the box seat to alight.

Some motorists carry one or two pretty wraps for possible woman guests. There are called "passenger coats."

New Rice Puddings—

LEMON RICE—Cook three ounces of rice in a pint of milk till tender, then sweeten to taste and flavor with essence of lemon. Serve with this sauce: Beat one egg until stiff with two ounces of sugar, then add a gill of boiling water and flavor with essence of lemon.

RICE PUDDING WITHOUT EGGS—Two quarts of milk, two-thirds of a cupful of rice, a cupful of sugar, a piece of butter as large as a walnut, a teaspoonful of cinamon, a little nutmeg, and a pinch of salt. Put into a pudding dish (well buttered), set into a moderate oven, stir it once or twice until it begins to cook. Let it remain in the oven about two hours (until it is the consistency of cream). Eat hot or cold.

BOILED RICE PUDDING, NO. 1.—One cupful of cold boiled rice, one cupful of sugar, four eggs, a pinch of soda, and a pinch of salt. Put it all in a bowl and beat it until it is light and white. Beat four ounces of butter to a cream, put it into the pudding, with ten drops of essence of lemon. Beat all together for five minutes. Butter a mold, pour the pudding into it, and boil two hours.

BOILED RICE PUDDING, NO. 2.—Wash two teacupfuls of rice and soak it in water for half an hour; then turn off the water, and mix the rice with half a pound of raisins, stoned and cut in halves; add a little salt; tie the whole in a cloth, leaving room for the rice to swell twice its natural size, and boil two hours in plenty of water. Serve with wine sauce.

Worth While—

WHEN DRESSMAKING, sometimes one gets a spot of machine oil on the article that is being made. Rub with a little turpentine and the stain will disappear.

WHEN DARNING STOCKINGS, run a thread around each hole before beginning and draw till the edges lie flat. This makes the hole appear smaller, and it is much easier to mend.

ENAMEL BATHS—If rubbed with a soft rag all stains and discoloration of the enamel will disappear. Turpentine has the same effect, and can also be used for zinc tubs and pails with excellent results.

lected piece of furniture. It should be scrubbed once in a while with salt water and rinsed with clear. Air it frequently, taking advantage of wash day, when the hamper is empty.

HORSES FINISH IN CLOSE ORDER.

DON DOMO OUT OF FORM.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The most sensational finish of the racing season took place in the last race at Oakland this afternoon. Seven of the nine starters finished noses and heads apart. They came sweeping down almost the entire length of the track, which made it extremely difficult to place the horses at the finish. The judges gave The Fretter the race, with Dodie S. second and Grail third.

It was a selling race at 1 3-16 miles. Grail ruled favorite, with The Fretter second choice. Illowaho led to the stretch, then The Fretter took command. There was a general closing up in the last furlong, and the close finish among so many horses created a decided sensation.

Much interest attached to the 2 year old race at 5½ furlongs, as Cascine, Bear Catcher, and Don Domo were among the starters. Cascine led in favoritism, with Don Domo a strongly played second choice. Bear Catcher, who has developed into a bad actor, played backward and forward at the post, and was finally left standing. When the barrier went up Cascine got off flying and won with great ease, Otto Stifel beating Don Domo for the place. The latter had a track to his liking, but is clearly of little account at present. Cascine is in rare form and can beat any 2 year old that has sported colors this season.

The handicap at one mile had ten starters. For some inexplicable reason Beau Ormonde was made favorite. A capital start was effected. Fossil, Claude, and Albula were leaders at the head of the stretch, the first named winning handily by over a length from Divina, that nosed out Claude for the place. Jackson on Divina made his run too late.

WINTER RACING AT BENNINGS.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The racing at Bennings today was attended by many of the features of the old New Jersey tracks. It snowed freely at Baltimore, only an hour's journey from here, and at noon the Bennings track was slightly covered with snowflakes.

Castalian won the third race. The surprise of this was the heavy backing of J. E. Seagram's imported colt Cloten, upon whom a "killing" would have been made if he had won. As it was, he was a close third, in spite of a stumble.

JOCKEY FULLER IS IN CHICAGO.

Successful Eastern Rider Arrives for a Brief Visit to His Parents in Campbell Park.

Grover Cleveland Fuller, probably the most successful jockey on the eastern tracks last season, arrived in Chicago yesterday to spend a few days with his parents before going to New Orleans to join his employer, Archie Zimmer.

Fuller's rise to fame was the most sudden of that achieved by any American jockey. Summer before last he rode on the Chicago tracks without attracting any attention.

Fuller has grown considerably in the last year, being heavier and a little taller. Next season Senator T. D. Sullivan will have first call on his services on the eastern tracks.

HELPED BY THE NEW SOIL

NEW ORLEANS TRACK SHOWS LITTLE EFFECT OF TUESDAY'S RAIN.

Improvements to the Course Promise to Benefit It During Winter Meeting — Witfull Is Beaten by Luralighter in the Handicap, While Ancke Is a Poor Third—Rainland Best Among the Two Year Olds—Big Ben Shows His Heels to New York.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The track at the Fair grounds this afternoon had almost fully recovered from the downpour of yesterday. Its condition was gratifying alike to horsemen and patrons of racing. The combination of new soil and tile drains seems to be a success. It now seems likely that long seasons of mud after a wet spell, which racegoers were accustomed to in former seasons, will not be so prevalent as heretofore. Today the track was good from fence to fence, and it is not unlikely the course will be fast again tomorrow.

There was plenty of variety to the afternoon's racing. There was quite a suggestion of class in several of the races.

The stewards for the first time since racing was inaugurated here refused the entries of a horse for the alleged use of "dope," and began an investigation to establish the fact immediately after the race was finished. Patrice, a 3 year old filly, by Top Gallant, which ran in the interests of the local firm of Carrano & Co., was so crazy at the post that it took all the strength of Starter Fitzgerald's assistant to hold her. She broke next to last, but ran through the bunch like a scared rabbit for half a mile, then quit, and dropped back to last place almost as fast as she went through her field. The saddle was hardly off her when Steward Bryan ordered future entries of her stable refused and began an investigation.

There were two handicaps on the card—one for 2 year olds at six furlongs, and an all aged affair at one mile and seventy yards. Rainland, who is perhaps the best of his age at the track, won the former in easy fashion, and Luralighter beat Witful, the even money favorite, in the latter. Witful carried 112 pounds, against 101 on Luralighter. Notwithstanding Luralighter beat Witful in the Inaugural handicap, and had considerable weight off from that race, her odds were 15 to 1. Luralighter was off with the track and led almost to the end by two lengths, but tired in the last fifty yards, and her margin at the end was half a length. Ancke was a length behind Witful when the line was crossed.

Rainland picked up five pounds as a penalty for winning yesterday, making his weight 119, and, although he conceded a lot of weight to Exclamation, Lady Free Knight, and others, he was the betting choice at 8 to 5. The field was closely bunched for a quarter of a mile, when Rainland worked his way to the front and had only Exclamation to beat in the run through the stretch. This he did and finished full of running, while Exclamation had all he could do to save the place by a nose from Lady Free Knight.

Big Ben Outruns New York.

Big Ben, which raced at the Chicago tracks, ran away from New York, the fast eastern sprinter, in the fifth race, which was at six furlongs. They carried equal weight, but Big Ben held New York safe all the way and won by a margin of four lengths.

Morning Star won the five furlong event for 2 year olds in a common canter. She was an odds on favorite.

CHANCE TO SEE GRIM TONIGHT.

YANGER TO BOX MURPHY.

Local Boy Matched with Boston Lad by the Watita League Manager.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Joe Grim, the "human punching bag" who withstood the blows of Fitzsimmons, Carter, Maher, Gans, and other notable pugilists without receiving his quietus, will be presented to Chicago followers of boxing at the Kingston Social club's show at Ogden and California avenues tonight. Grim's opponent will be Hugo Kelly, the local middleweight, and the pair will furnish the windup.

The easterner's fistic reputation rests mainly on his ability to take punishment without showing the "white feather," but he probably has an idea of how to hand out a wallop or two in return. From what is known of him as a fighter, Kelly should experience no difficulty in outpointing him. Hugo really believes he will knock his man out, but that seems hardly possible inasmuch as fighters of better quality failed to do the trick. Both men have trained hard for the battle and should be in condition.

The semi-windup will bring together Clarence Forbes and Tony Moran of New York, who will clash at 124 pounds. Other contests will be between Walter Parker and Jack Gill at 122 pounds, and Young Fagin and Mat Robinson at 108 pounds.

Benny Yanger was yesterday matched to contest the windup with Hugh Murphy at the Watita league's boxing show next Tuesday night. Murphy will be remembered as the lad who gave Champion Young Corbett a stiff eleven round battle in Boston a short while ago. Although defeated, the little easterner worried the champion quite a bit before he went down and out. This will be Yanger's first contest since he lost to Eddie Hanlon on the coast, and he will do his utmost to beat Murphy to sustain his reputation. Johnny Mack, manager of Murphy, accepted Benny's terms, which call for catchweights, as Yanger refused to make weight for either Murphy or Jimmy Briggs, whom Manager White endeavored to secure. Murphy will reach this city next Sunday.

The probability is Hughey McPadden and Tommy Mowatt will be matched to box the main event at the Watita club on Dec. 15.

Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia middleweight, who is out after Tommy Ryan's title, arrived in Chicago from San Francisco last night. Jack is slated to meet Jack Williams at Philadelphia next Saturday night, but will remain over to arrange, if possible, a six and a twenty round fight with Ryan. O'Brien made an effort to meet Ryan when he passed through en route to the coast, and Tommy, hearing he was in town, came over from his farm in St. Joseph, Mich., to talk the matter over, but missed the Philadelphian by a few hours. Both men are in the city at present and will meet today and try to fix up both matches. Should they fail to come to an agreement Jack will try to inveigle Fitzsimmons into a match. He met the old man last night and talked the matter over. While Bob did not say he would fight him, he intimated he would get into harness again. O'Brien said the Fitz-Gardner fight was slow after the sixth round; that Bob's hands were knocked out of commission, and that Gardner seemed afraid to force the fighting.

It was loudly whispered about town yesterday that a new fistic organization was being formed in the Eighteenth ward and that its arena would be pitched in the Twelfth Street Turner hall. Those directly interested are away up in politics and have the required pull to secure permits. The supposition is it will be run on the same lines as the Watita league.

The West End Athletic club of St. Louis, which has been out of business for quite a while, intends to resume, and yesterday Manager Houghton offered a purse of $800 for a ten round battle between Benny Yanger and Hughey McPadden. The game in the Mound City was on a poor financial footing before it was ordered closed by the authorities, so the managers of the fighters turned down the offer. A Kansas City club is also after Yanger and McPadden.

Jack O'Keefe's showing against Jack Daly at the Watita league Tuesday night was not up to expectations, and the probability is Sig Hart will go after him with Buddy Ryan.

MEETING OF INDOOR LEAGUERS.

Winter Baseball Men Are Anxious to Secure Two Downtown Halls for Their Games.

Twelve clubs were represented at the meeting of the Chicago Indoor Baseball league held at the Grand Pacific hotel last night and communications were received from two more. As far as enthusiasm is concerned, there is every prospect of a highly successful season, the only drawback at present being the difficulty in securing suitable halls.

Committees appointed on this subject were unable to report anything definite, and the following men were appointed to make further investigation and report at another meeting to be held on Monday night: J. Sullivan, south side; J. Tusa, west side; W. F. Corey, north side.

It is the plan of the league to secure two centrally located halls in different sections of the city and play all the games in them. In the event of twelve or more clubs the league will probably be divided into two sections, the winners in each division meeting in a final match for the championship.

President R. L. Welch reported plenty of players were in sight, as a number of former stars of the gaslit diamond were anxious to play again. If the halls secured are sufficiently commodious it is possible the small league ball may be used.

The clubs represented were: Spaldings, W. F. Corey; Northwestern, O. W. Cox; Senecas, W. Kelleher; Gates, H. Vanderplow; Warrens, W. A. Callahan; Princeton, C. W. Vogel; White Star, P. P. Carey; La Salle, J. J. Rooney; Young Men's Lyceum, G. Dafenbach; Felix, W. Krüsten; Summerdale, J. W. Street; Jungbluth, Mel Todd. Communications were received from the Ivanhoes and Chicoras.

WILL ASK FOR THIRTY DAYS.

New Jockey Club at St. Louis Plans Only a Brief Meeting for Next Season.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The Union Jockey club will incorporate for $250,000, the papers being forwarded to Jefferson City today. Other important business was transacted, including the election of Joseph A. Duffy as president of the new organization and P. J. Carmody as general manager. The remaining officers will be selected at a later meeting. The following were selected as the board of directors: P. J. Carmody, Joseph A. Duffy, M. E. Roundtree, Michael Hanick, Thomas Skidmore, W. J. Frank, J. P. Collins, J. H. Blythe, Joseph T. Trach, Harry Harris, and John Mooney. Carmody will represent the club's interests at the meeting of the Western Jockey club in Chicago next Monday, when dates for next season will be applied for. Thirty racing days during 1904 will be asked for. It is the opinion of a majority of the turf politicians that the request will not be granted. In such event there is but one outcome, and that is another turf war.

Will Decide Cresceus Case Today.

The board of appeals of the American Trotting association, which has been in session two days at the Auditorium, will conclude its work this morning. Additional evidence will be received today on the performance of Cresceus at Wichita, Kas., in October. It is generally thought the record will not be allowed to stand.

Denies McDonald's Application.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The national board of review today denied the application for reinstatement of W. B. McDonald of East Aurora and the gelding Gray Gem, who were suspended at Lexington.

YOST VISITS NEW HAVEN.

MICHIGAN COACH CONFERS WITH YALE ATHLETIC LEADER.

Both Deny That Subject of a Yale-Michigan Game Was Definitely Discussed, but It Is Believed Such an Event Is Possible—Englewood High School Boys Show Indifferent Work in Practice—North Division Is Lively—Other Athletic News.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—That the University of Michigan has challenged Yale to a football game for next fall is reported here. Coach Yost arrived today and was closeted for two hours with Walter Camp, Yale's athletic adviser.

Yost denied stoutly after the conference that he was here to secure a game. He said: "I came east on some business affairs, and while I would like to see a Yale-Michigan game, the arrangement of the Michigan schedule is for other persons than myself."

He was asked about the report which has gained currency in the east that he will resign from Michigan and coach an eastern college eleven next season. He said: "I am getting to be a fixture at Michigan."

Mr. Yost spent the day largely with Dr. William H. Murphy, Yale's head baseball coach. They were respectively baseball and football coaches at Leland Stanford university four years ago. Mr. Camp would not admit that a specific Yale-Michigan game was discussed at the conference.

ENGLEWOOD'S PLAY SLUGGISH.

Capt. Badenoch took his squad of Englewood high school football players to Marshall Field yesterday, and the afternoon's practice was held on the gridiron upon which the North Division-Englewood contest for championship high school honors will be played.

The work was open, but the players were given a good chance to become more familiar with the field. The work was anything but pleasing to Coach Lowenthal, fumbling being frequent. The players were given mittens for protection against the cold, but they could not hold the ball, and there seemed to be a lack of spirit. Several of the regulars were put on the side lines and substitutes sent in, but the shift did not help matters, and when the regular first team got back into the signal work the ragged work was as bad as ever.

At North Division the men were given their first scrimmage since the return from the east. It was a short scrimmage practice, but the signal work was hard and long. The plays went off smoothly, considering the cold, and Capt. Steffen was well satisfied. Several Northwestern players were out to coach as well as alumni of the school.

Englewood will continue practice on Marshall field this afternoon, while North Division will be given its last hard work at Lincoln park.

DYCHE IS ATHLETIC TREASURER

Financial Secretary of Northwestern University Assumes Other Duties—Football Report.

At a meeting of the Northwestern university athletic board of control last evening William A. Dyche, the new financial secretary of the university, was elected treasurer of the athletic association, to succeed Dr. Robert D. Sheppard. In order that this might be done an amendment to the constitution was passed, as the constitution provided that only a member of the board of control could hold this position.

Manager Butterworth's report of the receipts and disbursements of the football season showed that the association, while in good shape financially, did not come out as well as had been expected. The reasons for the shortage were the canceling of the Purdue game, and the street car strike, which affected the attendance at the last three games.

A. B. Fleager, a prominent alumnus, was authorized to arrange, in conjunction with Coach McCornack, the football schedule for next fall.

COLLEGE RULES WILL GOVERN.

A. A. U. Will Not Interfere with Conference Meet at the St. Louis Fair.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—W. H. Liginger, president of the A. A. U., has made an important ruling in connection with the Olympian games which are to be held at the world's fair in St. Louis next year. Although the A. A. U. will have charge of the big college meet, conference rules will govern the contest. This has been done because the rules of the two associations would conflict and some trouble might arise over the eligibility of some of the competitors. Several of the athletic directors of western universities have been under the impression that the rules of the A. A. U. would govern the Olympian games and they had decided not to enter any of their men in the contests.

Regarding the Academy Game.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Regarding conflicting charges concerning a football game between University High school and the Northwestern academy, we wish to make the following statement: A game for Dec. 5 was never definitely arranged. The University High school offered to play Northwestern any day between Nov. 15 and Nov. 29, but Northwestern offered but one date, Dec. 5. We could not play on that date, as it was asking too much of the players to remain in training till then, and we notified the Northwestern management to that effect on Nov. 18 and considered the matter closed. Any arrangements for a game on Dec. 5 were made without consulting the University High school. It has been stated that we withdrew in favor of Northwestern. There is positively no authority for such a statement. The Academic league will decide what shall be done with the game which was to be played over on account of the participation of an ineligible man on the part of Northwestern.

PORTER M. SMITH, Manager.

Award "M's" at Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Following the custom the athletic board of control today awarded the "M" to all the members of the football squad who have participated in two or more championship games. The men upon whom this honor was conferred were Rogers, Warren, Thorpe, Strathern, Webster, Schacht, Burdick, Davies, Currant, Irsfield, Harris, Kramer, O'Brien, Pattee, Smith, Boeckman, Marshall, and Gleason. Each man was also presented with a gold watch fob in the shape of a football. The election of captain will take place at the annual football banquet on Dec. 12. Jimmy Irsfield is the most likely candidate.

High School Meeting Today.

A meeting of the basketball and indoor baseball managers has been called for this afternoon. The chief object is to arrange a schedule of basketball games and decide whether there will be an indoor baseball league this winter.

Interest is being manifested in the annual election of the Columbia Yacht club, which will be held on Saturday at the clubhouse, the hours of voting being from 1 to 9 p. m. The regular ticket is headed by Fred Price and members' ticket by Oscar Daniels. As a rule, the annual elections are not lacking in excitement, but this year the contest is unusually keen and the partisans of both tickets are making a thorough canvass. The club ticket is as follows: Commodore, F. A. Price; vice commodore, C. E. Soule Jr.; rear commodore, Henry Davies; secretary, L. T. Braun; treasurer, M. H. Hickey; directors, C. J. Duggan and J. Adams. The members' ticket is: Commodore, Oscar Daniels; vice commodore, C. T. Bailey; rear commodore, C. Schick; secretary, L. Ibold; treasurer, S. Stewart; directors, W. H. Quinlan and U. G. KENT WINS BILLIARD TOURNEY.

George Kent last night won the deciding game in the amateur balk line billiard tournament for class B players, which has been in progress at Mussey's rooms for several weeks. His opponent was A. Brown, with whom he was tied. They were the two scratch players, each being handicapped at 200 points, and the game aroused much interest. Kent played one of the fastest games seen in the tournament and won by a score of 200 to 144.

The result gives Kent first prize, and places Brown in a tie with Walker and Huntley for second, third, and fourth prizes.

Cochrane [200] won the eighteenth game in the straight rail tournament at Foley's, his opponent being Jenkins [150], and the score being 200 to 132. Adair [200] and Dethke [150] play tonight.

Sells Two Good Ones.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—M. H. Reardon returned today from New York, where he negotiated the sale of his performers, Col. Wallace, 2:19¼, and Alice Brooks, 2:11¼. The price was $10,000. G. D. Sherman was the purchaser. He will race the two on the grand circuit.

BRILLIANTS WIN FROM STANDARDS

Average 939 in the Chicago League and Capture Two Games in Series.

BRILL DOES BEST WORK.

Armour Players Maintain Their Winning Streak in South Chicago Tourney.

In a consistently rolled series, with an average of 939, the Brilliants last night gave the Standards a setback in the Chicago league, taking two out of the three games. Klingenberg's men were unable to get going until the last game, when they came back with a contribution of 990. Brill was the only player on the two teams to notch a double century average, his fine closing effort of 248 giving him 201.

Poor work marked the Clubfellow-American series, the latter side losing two games. The Armours players continued their winning streak in the South Chicago league, averaging 956⅔ and shutting out the Tosettis.

The Deering team set a new mark for high game in the International Harvester league with a total of 1,030. In the Illinois league the Ansons notched 1,024. Scores:

Milwaukee After the Bowlers.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Milwaukee's chances of landing the 1905 convention of the bowling congress appear brighter. Charles F. Moll, first vice president of A. B. C., has received letters from six members of the executive committee, all of whom are in favor of holding the next annual gathering in Milwaukee. Pittsburg has decided to try to land the session. Detroit is also making a fight for it, while Louisville has dropped from the race and will pull for Milwaukee.

SURE BERTH FOR TOM LOFTUS.

Manager Could Have Presidency of the American Baseball Association if He Wanted It.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The annual meeting of the American association will be held at the Grand Pacific hotel, Chicago, Dec. 28. This is the date fixed by President Hickey and C. S. Havenor, president of the Milwaukee club. The meeting is of importance, because a president is to be selected. At a meeting of the association in October, President Hickey gave notice that he would retire from baseball and resign from the presidency. Since then the magnates have been casting about for a successor, and up to the present time it appears they have not been able to decide whom it shall be. It is well known that if Tom Loftus, who expected to retire from the Washington club of the American league, were available, he could have the presidency.

Angus Confirms Report of Sale.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 2.—S. F. Angus, owner of the Detroit American league baseball club and franchise, returned today from a hunting trip and confirmed the report that he had transferred 40 per cent of his baseball interests to William H. Yawkey, a Detroit capitalist, and some more stock to Frank J. Navin of Detroit, who will be business manager. Two other minority stockholders retain their interests. E. G. Barrow will continue as manager. A formal reorganization will be effected later in December.

Lowe May Manage Cardinals.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—It is not improbable that Bobby Lowe may yet land as the manager of the St. Louis National league club next season. Manager Selee of the Chicago club is putting in a good word for Lowe, and Selee is a close friend of the Robisons.

TRAIN HITS STREET CAR AND MANY ARE INJURED.

Score of Passengers Cut and Bruised in Collision at Seventy-ninth Street and the Wabash Railroad Tracks.

A Baltimore and Ohio freight train wrecked an electric car at Seventy-ninth street and the Wabash railroad track last evening, bringing slight injuries to a score of passengers. The front of the car was demolished, but the occupants had been warned by the motorman, and crowded to the rear in time to escape the engine. Those attended by the police were:

The Injured.

The brake failed to work and the street car shot across the tracks. The motorman shouted a warning, and passengers rushed to the platform just as the engine struck the front of the car. Several persons were thrown to the floor and trampled upon by other passengers. The engineer of the train left as soon as he saw no one was killed.

Six Hurt in "L" Collision.

A dense fog in the morning caused a rear end collision between north bound trains on the South Side Elevated railroad at Fifty-first street. The following persons were hurt:

Cappel, Harry.	Newton, Charles.
Coulberton, A.,	McCabe, Thomas.
Hodgins, Roy.	Redman, Charles F.

Hodgins was injured internally and may die. He resides at 397 Sixty-seventh street.

DRIVER DEAD: HORSES GO HOME

Two horses covered with foam apprised Mrs. Hames Walsh of an accident to her husband. When she hurried to the front door of her home, 413 West Fifty-first street, to greet his return at 7 o'clock last evening, she saw the empty coal wagon, but the driver was missing. An hour later the police sent word that her husband had been found dead at Forty-sixth street and Shields avenue. His back was broken by a fall from the wagon. Walsh was a teamster for the John J. Dunn Coal company.

STOCKS GO STILL HIGHER.

TUESDAY'S ADVANCE CARRIED UP IN WALL STREET.

Many Traders Expected Reaction and Took Profits When Market Opened—Activity Transferred from Railroad List to Industrials, Led by Amalgamated Copper — Delay in Passage of Cuban Reciprocity Causes Manipulation.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Those who had looked today for a falling off from the relatively active pace which the stock market had shown on Tuesday were disappointed or unexpectedly gratified by the still further increase in transactions and the continued although irregular advance in prices.

So frequently of late has the market gone off sharply after a moderate advance that traders at the opening were inclined to take such profits as the advance showed them and to prepare for further short sales, but, despite this profit taking, the market either held its own or advanced in so many instances that the traders on the floor were inclined to change their view of the market.

The day's increase of over 80,000 shares on total transactions was supplied almost entirely by industrials and one or two tractions. The dealings in the railroad list were actually smaller than on Tuesday. The theory is advanced that the principal traders, who for several days have been working for higher prices, had transferred their attention from the railroad stocks to industrials and tractions. This theory seemed to a considerable extent confirmed by the fact that these issues were leaders in the activity as well as in the strength.

Amalgamated Copper was the most active stock in the market, and also was entitled to some distinction by reason of the strength which it showed. On dealings of 79,720 shares the stock advanced practically 2 points and of this it kept 1⅝ net. The fact that Amalgamated is advancing notwithstanding the recent decline in the price of copper was commented upon.

The delay in the passage of the Cuban reciprocity bill is said to have caused considerable short selling in sugar, which had advanced a number of points, supposedly on the advantages to accrue to the company from the passage of the bill. A rise in the stock from 121 to 125 was attributed to a successful drive against the short interest. The final price, the best of the day, showed a net gain of 3½ points.

Some commission houses which are committed to the bull side of the market express the opinion that soon after the first of January money will become so plentiful that call rates will fall to a low figure, but this view does not seem to be shared by the bankers, who naturally are inclined to take a more conservative view. As far as the present conditions are concerned, some bankers state that the present money market, despite the relatively high rates for call money, is easier than it was two or three months ago. In a sense it is possible now to secure money at ruling rates, while not so long ago it was extremely difficult to secure loans, though the borrower was willing to put up good collateral, at the rate then quoted.

Close: Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½; sterling exchange steady at decline, with actual business in bankers' bills at 483.25@483.30 for demand and at 479.75@479.80 for sixty day bills. Posted rates, 480½@481 and 484½; commercial bills, 479½@479⅝; bar silver, 56⅛; Mexican dollars, 43¼. Money on call strong, 6½@7½; closing bid 7¼, offered at 8. Time money firm; sixty days, 6 per cent; ninety days, 6; six months, 5½@6. The movement of bond prices continued irregular, realizing in speculative issues being in evidence in that market as well as in stocks. Total sales of bonds, par value, were $3,154,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

PLAN TO AID UNDERWRITERS.

Glens Falls Manager Would Have the Committee Report Submitted Last April Adopted.

J. L. Whitlock, western manager of the Glens Falls, has sent to President Teall of the Chicago Underwriters' association a letter in which he suggests as a solution of the trouble which threatens the life of the organization the adoption of the report submitted to the executive committee last April and which was shelved at that time. He says that unless 95 per cent of the companies transacting business in Chicago promptly sign the pledge and agreement embodied in that report the Glens Falls will withdraw from the association.

The report in question requires a pledge from each company that it will conduct its business in Chicago in accordance with the rules of the Chicago Underwriters' association. Commissions, which, under the present plan, are unlimited to members of class one, are restricted to 20 per cent. The commission to brokers, resident and foreign, and on reinsurance is limited to 10 per cent. No commissions are to be paid to any one not a member, licensed broker, or solicitor of the association, and no commission is to be paid to real estate firms which maintain offices inside the old city limits. No member can have more than three salaried solicitors, and solicitors paid by commission are not to receive more than 10 per cent. No commissions are to be allowed to clerks. Fines for unintentional violations are to be $25, with $100 for the first conviction of willful violation, the penalty for a second conviction being the immediate expulsion of the offending member. This is to be backed up by the written pledge of the company that it will take such action upon a second conviction.

This report was prepared by a committee, of which R. M. Bissell, who since has become vice president of the Hartford Fire, was chairman, after more than fifty sessions, consuming nearly six months. It was presented to the executive committee, but as only eight of the ten members present voted for it, five being the authors of the report, it promptly was tabled on motion of the latter for lack of unanimous support. In consequence, the report never reached the members of the association, but Mr. Whitlock's ultimatum probably will require its submission.

The executive committee of the Chicago Underwriters' association declines to give out the list of twenty-one members invited to consult with it this afternoon regarding the violations of the commission rules. The reason given is that those not invited may feel slighted, but the contrary probably will be the case, as it is known that some of the worst offenders have been invited. The managerial contingent will be strongly represented.

The Norwaysz case, which was carried up to the Appellate court from Chicago, which held that the landlord was liable for the action of his tenant in violation of his policy contract, although he might be ignorant of the violation, may be reheard. A petition to that effect has been filed by Norwaysz's attorneys with the Appellate court.

The Texas insurance commissioner has served notice upon the owners of the Paris Oil and Cotton company, burned several weeks ago, with $82,250 of the $117,750 insurance in companies not licensed to do business in Texas, that if any adjuster representing these companies acts in the state he will be liable to arrest. Unless these companies accept the settlement made by the admitted companies the insured will be compelled to sue in their home states. The commissioner admits that his purpose is to have premiums paid to admitted companies, so that the state will get the taxes and Texas agents will get the commissions.

Rates at Portsmouth, O., have been increased from 8 to 15 per cent because of deficient fire pressure.

A tabulation of the known causes of the 3,261 fires reported by the Chicago fire insurance patrol from Jan. 1 to Nov. 15 shows that the careless use of matches leads, with 377 fires, gasoline standing next with 233. Sparks from chimneys caused 199 fires, spontaneous combustion 156, defective flues 153, and overheated stoves and furnaces 206. The causes of 35 per cent of the fires are reported as unknown.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—The opening session of the annual convention of the Underwriters' National Electric association was held today at the rooms of the New York board of fire underwriters. There was a full attendance. Several important subjects were introduced in discussion, notably a proposition for the adoption of rules covering the wiring and fitting of electric street cars.

The committee appointed to nominate the officers of the Cincinnati local board for the coming year will recommend the following: For president, E. C. Gibbs; vice president, Adam Gray; treasurer, K. F. Bendorf; governing committee, J. W. Montgomery, William Stredelman, B. T. Clemons, J. Gano Wright.

The Scranton Underwriters' association has agreed to a proposition for a middle department to participate in defraying the cost of installing the card system of ratings. The publication of a new tariff for that city, the surveys for which are now well advanced, will doubtless be on the cards. Many other changes will be made in the conduct of the stamping office to overcome the friction between the agencies and the tariff office.

Daniel Myers of Cleveland, O., president of the Manhattan Fire Insurance company, who is charged with misappropriating $39,500 of the company's funds, was placed on trial before Recorder Goff this afternoon. William M. Hahn of Mansfield, O., vice president of the company, also was indicted, but the Ohio authorities refused to give him up.

Some of the brokers interested in handling policies of high grade foreign and American surplus line institutions are requesting permission to appear before the United States senate committee on postoffice and post roads, in session Dec. 10, to protest against the bill to amend the postal law so as to make it apply to insurance.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Delayed Trains Bring Bad Conditions, Cattle Ruling Weak and Hogs Opening Lower.

Delayed trains were responsible for an unsatisfactory general condition of the trade yesterday. As was anticipated, the receipts were large, the cattle estimate being 25,000, hogs 45,000, and sheep 25,000. Owing to this delay in trains it was nearing noon before the market got fairly started, and the bulk of the day's business had to be done after the hours at which most of the trade is completed when trains get in on time. The cattle market ruled slow and weak for all except a few of the right quality and weight. Hogs opened 5@10c lower than the strong close of Tuesday, but firmed up as the day advanced and closed strong. Sheep and lambs were slow and mostly 10c lower.

Following is a statement of the movement of live stock at the Chicago stockyards for the period indicated, with comparative figures:

Cattle.

The cattle market showed activity in a demand for strictly prime medium weight steers, but for everything else in the beef cattle line the market was slow and late, with prices weak to lower. A clearance could not be made on account of the late arrival of trains. The market for butcher stock ruled slow, but without quotable change in values. In the stocker and feeder trade there were plenty of "prospectors," but not muchactual trading. Prices remained the same as at the opening of the week. The closing days probably will see an active trade in the feeder line, as many of the men who have been visiting the show will buy cattle to take home. Quotations:

Good to prime steers	$5.20@5.85
Poor to medium	3.50@4.90
Stockers and feeders	1.75@4.00
Cows	1.50@4.25
Heifers	2.00@4.75
Canners	1.50@2.30
Bulls	1.75@4.25
Calves	2.00@6.75
Texas fed steers	$3.00@3.75
Western steers	3.00@4.00

Hogs.

On the announcement of 45,000 hogs for the day's trade, the market opened slow, with buyers bidding 5@10c under closing prices of Tuesday. The demand appeared to be good from all sources, and toward the middle of the forenoon buying became active and the market firmed up. At the close prices were as good as at the best time on Tuesday. Buyers stuck to the alleys until a late hour and kept taking hogs as fast as they were unloaded. Quotations:

Mixed and butchers	$4.30@4.60
Good to choice heavy	4.45@4.65
Rough heavy	4.25@4.40
Light	4.25@4.55
Bulk of sales	4.40@4.55

Sheep.

The market for sheep ruled slow from start to finish and prices were 10c lower. The general quality of sheep was not attractive and receipts were too heavy to sustain a steady market. Quotations:

Good to choice wethers	$3.75@4.25
Fair to choice mixed	2.75@3.75
Native lambs	4.00@5.75
Western sheep	2.10@4.25
Western lambs	4.10@5.00

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

SWEEPING EFFECT OF NEW GRAIN AND FLOUR RATES.

Will Send Tonnage from Minneapolis and the Northwest as Well as from Kansas to Gulf Ports—Cars for New Chicago-Kansas City Train Turned Out of the Pullman Shops—Michigan Central Trying Portable Telephones.

The action of the eastern trunk lines in advancing east bound flour and grain rates 2 cents a hundred pounds will have a far more serious effect on east bound shipments than was at first supposed.

The trunk lines expected to lose the export flour and grain business from Kansas City and southwestern points, feeling that they could not compete for it with the gulf roads. They did not expect, however, that the increase would cause a diversion of the business from Nebraska and northwestern points. They have just discovered, however, that this is going to be the result unless they join the Chicago-Missouri river lines in making a material reduction in the export flour and grain rate to the Atlantic seaboard.

The Chicago Great Western and other Minneapolis and St. Paul lines running from the Twin cities to Kansas City, or which have good connections with gulf roads at other points, are perfecting arrangements to ship to the gulf the flour from the Minneapolis mills, which has been going east via Chicago and Duluth. They find they can take flour from Minneapolis to the gulf under present conditions at a much lower rate than to the Atlantic seaboard.

Minneapolis Unable to Compete.

The advance in the east bound rate has made it practically impossible for Minneapolis millers to compete with the millers in the southwest. The latter can get a rate from Kansas City to the gulf of from 10 to 12 cents a hundred pounds, while from Minneapolis to the Atlantic seaboard the rate is about double that amount. From Missouri river points the rate to New York is still higher.

The gulf roads instead of following the example of the eastern trunk lines in making an advance in the rates, have made a material reduction. The competition among the gulf roads has become so keen as to cause general demoralization in the rates on flour for export. The reduction now amounts to 5 cents a hundred pounds.

Up to last season Galveston handled little flour for export. The official record shows this season an increase of over $800,000 in export breadstuffs. New Orleans shows an increase of $600,000. Three of the Atlantic ports show decreases. The record for November at Galveston is away ahead, with the promise of leading all eastern ports.

The feeling among the Chicago-Missouri river and Chicago-St. Paul roads against the eastern trunk lines is exceedingly bitter. The latter, they say, are pursuing a selfish and shortsighted policy.

New Train Equipment Done.

The equipment for the new limited train to be placed in regular service by the Milwaukee and St. Paul has just come from the shops of the Pullman company in this city. The cars will start for Kansas City at 8 o'clock this morning, reaching their destination Saturday afternoon. Stops will be made at all important towns en route, to afford an opportunity to the people to inspect the new equipment.

The southwest limited train, for which this new equipment is intended will run between Chicago and Kansas City, and will not only be one of the finest trains in this country, but will make much shorter time between the two cities than the Milwaukee and St. Paul has been able to make heretofore. The new train will leave Chicago at 6 p. m. and reach Kansas City at 9 o'clock the following morning.

Transportation Notes.

Experiments are being made by the Michigan Central with portable telephones. The apparatus consists of a hand telephone and a long wire pole made in sections. The latter, when lengthened out, is hung to an overhead wire and connected with the instrument. These telephones will be installed in the cabooses of work trains and in baggage cars. Baggage cars will also each have a set for general purposes.

C. V. Howard has been appointed ticket agent of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, with headquarters at Chicago.

The Chicago, Peoria and St. Louis announces the following appointments: T. C Wellman, New York, treasurer; H. W. Berger, Springfield, Ill., assistant treasurer and auditor.

COTTON MARKET IS WILD.

SESSION IN NEW YORK EXCHANGE BREAKS RECORDS.

Total of Nearly 2,000,000 Bales Sold—Influx of Buying Orders from Out of Town Sends Prices Up at Opening and Government Crop Report at Noon Does Not Give Desired Information—Trading Becomes Nervous and Subject to Fluctuations.

New York, Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Although the cotton market has been in a state of great activity for nearly a year, the transactions on the floor of the exchange today exceeded everything heretofore known even by the oldest traders. Nearly 2,000,000 bales were sold during the session, and the transactions were accompanied by scenes of the greatest excitement.

Right at the opening an influx of buying orders from out of town caused prices to rush up until they nearly touched the 12 cent mark. When the big buying orders had been executed the market became nervous, for it was known that at the noon hour the government report on ginning would be made public. There were all kinds of tips as to what the report would be, some traders saying it would indicate a big crop, while others maintained it would show the crop to be a short one.

Report Is a Disappointment.

When the report finally came out both bulls and bears were disappointed. The reason for this was that the government report contained no figures which would permit a comparison of figures with a year ago. The result was the traders were left in exactly the same position regarding the government's estimate of the crop as they had been. This uncertainty made the market extremely nervous and subjected it to large fluctuations all the rest of the day.

The regular crop estimate of the department of agriculture will be given out tomorrow. The net changes in prices for the day from the closing prices of Tuesday were only nominal, extending to an advance of not more than 6 points.

Wild Scene at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 2.—An immense volume of trade was transacted in the cotton future market this morning, amid the greatest tumult. Prices opened strong, and held strong throughout the first half of the day, in spite of the fact that Liverpool showed a decline in place of the wide advance expected, and that New York hammered the market on the census report. The bull leader was a heavy buyer, especially in March. He bid that month up to 12.01 cents.

What the Report Said.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The census bureau today issued a report on the quantity of cotton ginned from the growth of 1903 up to and including Nov. 14, showing total commercial bales of 7,070,437. Of these 6,519,332 were square bales, 510,550 round bales, and 40,555 sea island crop bales.

The cotton ginned in 1902, as reported by the census bureau, was 5,925,872 commercial bales up to Oct. 18, and 9,311,835 commercial bales up to Dec. 13. Counting round bales as half bales, the number this year is 6,815,162. In this report no account has been taken of the quantity of linters obtained by the cotton seed oil mills from reginning cotton seed of this year's growth, but statistics of such cotton will be included in the final report for this season.

This report will be followed by two others, showing the quantity of cotton ginned from the growth of this year to Dec. 13, 1903, and to Jan. 16, 1904. No estimates are given of the amount of cotton remaining unginned. The bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture will include them in its annual estimate of the cotton crop, to be issued tomorrow.

TRUCE IN POLE CHOPPING WAR.

Pennsylvania Railroad and Western Union Company Agree to Let Courts Settle Questions at Issue.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 2.—By an agreement today that there should be no more pole chopping, the way was paved today for the taking of the dispute between the Pennsylvania railroad and the Western Union Telegraph company to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and this will be done immediately.

Another Advance in Oil Prices.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 2.—The Standard Oil company today advanced the pipe line prices of petroleum 5c per brl for the high grades and 2c per brl for the low grades, excepting Ragland, which remains unchanged at 66c. The advance today is the second one of 5c, which followed seven advances of 3c each. The present price of Pennsylvania, $1.87, is 31c per brl higher than in September.

PUTS STOCK SHOW FIRST.

SCOTCH EXPERT SAYS IT'S FAR THE BEST HE EVER SAW.

No Display of Fat Cattle in Europe Anywhere Near So Good—Great Crowd in Attendance, Management Estimating Numbers of Visitors in Yards at 50,000—Four Governors of American States and One from Mexico View the Exhibits.

"This is the greatest exhibition of fat cattle ever held in the world. I am forced to confess that I have never seen anything at the leading exhibitions and stock shows abroad to compare with it or come close to equaling it. I have to give up any claims for our shows at home before the tremendous exhibit I have been judging this afternoon."

Great Crowd of Spectators.

Besides being the greatest exhibit it was the best attended. Governors' day and the meeting of the Federation of Agricultural College Students of America brought a tremendous crowd. It was estimated that close to 50,000 people were present for such a congested condition was never known at any previous stock show.

Four governors were on the grounds beside Gov. Tarrassaz of Chihuahua, Mexico. They were Gov. Longino of Mississippi, Gov. Van Sant of Minnesota, Gov. Bailey of Kansas, and Gov. Sparks of Nevada.

There were 920 students representing twenty-seven colleges accredited as members of the federation which held a meeting in the evening. Aside from the members of the organization there were several hundred from the neighboring states.

Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson disappointed the federation, which held its meeting at the Saddle and Sirloin club assembly room. Mr. Wilson was expected to deliver the opening address, but failed to appear. He will be present at the exposition today or tomorrow. Col. Mills of Springfield delivered the opening address. Among the other speakers were: J. A. Dewey, University of Indiana; J. A. Gentry, University of Illinos; C. S. Guthrie, Iowa Agricultural college.

Sheep and Swine.

Combination's Best won the Berkshire pig championship. It is owned by J. A. Leland. Chicago Lad, owned by Ira Jackson, won the Jersey red championship.

CHICAGO OLEO CASES ARGUED.

Supreme Court Asked to Pass Upon the Constitutionality of Law Taxing Product Ten Cents a Pound.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The oleomargarine cases of August Cliff, Frederick J. Shick, and William Broadwell of Chicago and Leo W. McCray of Cincinnati were argued before the United States Supreme court today. The cases involve the constitutionality of the federal law imposing a tax of 10 cents a pound on oleomargarine. Council Transportation Committee Begins Today Public Hearings on Proposed City Railway Ordinance.

At 10 o'clock this morning the council committee on local transportation will begin public hearings on the Chicago City railway ordinance. How long they will continue no one can say, but the committee announces it will keep them up as long as any one has anything to say and desires to say it.

The hearing before Judge Grosscup of the application of the receivers of the Union Traction company for permits to substitute trolley for cable, slated for this morning, probably will be postponed until next Tuesday. The mother of Corporation Counsel Tolman died last Tuesday, and he will not be prepared to try the case. It was agreed by the lawyers for the Union Traction company that, if the city asked for a postponement, they would not oppose it.

At the hearing before the local transportation committee this morning the Municipal Ownership league, the Single Tax association, the Federation of Labor, and the United Turner Societies are expected to be heard. They will argue against the passage of any franchise extension ordinance on the ground that the city should go instanter into the municipal ownership business.

The committee also has sent invitations to the real estate board, the Merchants' club, the Civic federation, the Citizens' association, the Commercial club, the Municipal Voters' league, and the Legislative Voters' league asking each to send representatives to its meetings to discuss the question of the amount of compensation to be paid to the city by the company under the ordinance. The real estate board already has appointed a committee.

A motion for a temporary injunction to restrain the city from interfering with the Northwestern Elevated railroad in altering and extending its platforms on the loop was continued one day by Judge Tuley.

Merger Simplifies Grain Inspection.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 2.—The board of trade directors have voted to consolidate with the Maritime exchange. The maritime board had previously acted. The two bodies will be amalgamated about Jan. 1, which means a single instead of a dual inspection of grain in New Orleans.

First Car Over Indiana Trolley Line.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 2.—The first interurban car over the Indianapolis and Northwestern line, from Indianapolis to this city, arrived today with officers of the road and was greeted with cheers. Officials of the road were guests of Charles Murdock at dinner this afternoon. Cars will commence running regularly next Monday.

WHEAT PRICE EASES OFF.

LEADERS PICK UP CONSIDERABLE AT THE DECLINE.

Slight Reaction Generally Looked On as Natural After Recent Strength and Advance—Growing Grain in the Winter Wheat Section Said to Be Suffering from Lack of Moisture—Shorts in Corn Do Some Active Covering—Other Grain Firm.

Wheat showed a number of erratic features yesterday, and, although closing prices were ⅛c off on the December, and practically as much on the May, the conditions at no time were quotably weak. The July lost only about ⅛c. All through the session there was more or less of a marked disposition on the part of the leading interests in the market to accumulate low priced wheat. Around the opening the May sold as high as 81⅛c, which quotation was top for the day, and around this figure it was freely bought by Armour brokers. But large quantities came out from various sources and before the expiration of the first hour the price was off 80⅝c, the La Salle street interest supporting the market all the way down, and also buying on the subsequent recovery to practically 81c.

The government bulletin for December was something of a factor, this document claiming conditions were unsatisfactory over a large part of the winter wheat belt, owing to a general lack of moisture. It also referred to the Hessian fly in portions of Kansas, Missouri, and Indiana. The outlook was said to be better in Oklahoma, Nebraska, and northern sections of Missouri than in the more easterly portion of the belt. There was an apparently bearish showing in the matter of primary receipts, which was hardly justified by the actual conditions. The figures of the day showed a movement of 1,291,900 bu, as against only 313,100 bu a year ago, but last year neither the receipts at Minneapolis nor Duluth were included in the posted figures. These, it is believed, would have practically made up the deficit around 1,000,000 bu.

Big Receipts Southwest.

The receipts in the southwest were over twice as large as last year, Kansas City and St. Louis reporting 670,000 bu, as against 114,000 bu last year. In the northwest the principal increase was at this point and Minneapolis; Duluth showed a slight falling off. The local inspection was 127 cars, of which 1 was contract. Estimated for today, 180 cars. Bradstreet's figures on world's stock showed an increase of 1,634,000 bu, which compared with an increase the previous week of 5,631,000 bu and an increase last year of 1,120,000 bu. There was a moderate export business, New York reporting 18 loads, and clearing 265,800 bu. There were 300,000 bu of Kansas hard wheat worked here for shipment, mostly to Buffalo and largely by the Armour house. Advices varied as to wheat offerings from first hands. Some of the northwestern elevator people reported them fairly free, while others claimed the movement was light. The pit trade as a whole paid close attention to Armour operations and followed the lead set by this factor. At one time there was heavy selling reported in Milwaukee, which worked a few fractions off the local price.

Shorts Cover Corn.

Corn was relatively a stronger market than wheat, all deliveries making a net advance, the December ⅛c to ¼c, the May ⅛c to ⅜c, and the July practically ⅜c. A large percentage of the strength in this market came from shorts, which element covered freely. This was induced by the light movement, local inspection being but 130 cars. Estimate for today, 145 cars. All primary points reported receipts of only 367,100 bu, as against 509,000 bu a year ago. A good many reports from interior shipping points indicating a disposition on the part of the farmers to hold corn at higher prices was responsible for some of the strength. The December crop bulletin reported weather conditions favorable for husking operations, although admitting the quality of the crop was irregular. Cables on corn were dull, Liverpool being fractionally lower. The seaboard cleared 84,600 bu, while New York reported 10 loads for export. In the aggregate the heavy buying of about all the deliveries was done by Wagner, Logan-Bryan, and Pringle-Browning.

Not Much Life in Oats.

To more than an ordinary degree, oats followed the movement of corn, and was especially strong in the nearby deliveries. The December closed ⅝c higher, with the May ¼c to ⅜c up. The July advanced only ⅛c. The demand came largely from scalpers and specialists, commission houses doing only a small percentage of the day's business. There was enough covering in December to make that delivery the strongest of the three. Local inspection was 113 cars, of which 2 were contract. There were 4 cars and 37,700 bu withdrawn. Estimated today, 100 cars. Bradstreet's figures made world's stocks 379,000 bu larger than last week, the decrease last year being 462,000 bu. The seaboard cleared 5,100 bu. In the cash market, 9,000 bu were sold for shipment. Cash prices were irregular and covered a wide range according to quality. The demand is almost entirely for the better grades.

Heavy Hog Receipts West.

In provisions the market was fairly active and the tone considerably better than the day before. Pork made an advance of 10c to 15c, lard closing 2½c higher, while ribs sold up 2½c to 7½c. The lowest prices of the season were current early, the opening market being affected by free receipts of hogs and also the fact that provision stocks were generally larger than expected. World's lard stocks decreased 34,000 tcs for the month. Local hog receipts were 45,000, the eight western packing points reporting a total of 102,600, as against 73,500 the previous week and 89,200 a year ago. Shipments of pure grease were 2,209,200 lbs, as against 2,361,700 lbs a year ago. Lard shipments were 1,904,500 lbs, as compared with 1,933,000 lbs a year ago.

Only 2 cars of rye were inspected yesterday, which made carlot offerings small. Demand, however, was also light. Futures were steady, December at 51c and May at 55c.

Rye Market Rules Quiet.

The rye market ruled quiet and steady, with light trade in both cash and futures. Prices were about the same as Tuesday's closing. No. 2 in store sold 51c; fresh arrivals, free on board, 55c; No. 3, local, 50c, at the river 49c; No. 4, 48c. Receipts, 2 cars; 20 cars withdrawn from private warehouses; no export clearances from New York.

The barley market was dull for malting, unless especially attractive. Feed and mixing about steady, with little demand for screenings. In the sales screenings covered a range of 27@37c for poor to choice; feed, local, sold 34@35c, a few cars at river 33½@34c. Choice to fancy sold 54@60@61c.

Timothy indicated an advance of 5@7½c in bids for futures, with little doing; asking figures being above bids; cash offerings small. High grade was quotably steady and firm. For December $3.00 was bid. January was $3.05 bid, $3.10 sellers, with a final sale $3.07½. March nominally $3.15.

Clover seed offered in small lots only. Contract grade, spot or December, $11.00, country lots. Common to choice, $8.00@10.75. Fair to good quality about $8.25@9.75.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Beginning this afternoon, in the president's room, a special committee of the directors will hear complaints regarding the inspection department. Dissatisfaction over the grading of grain by Mr. Bidwill's men is not more pronounced at this time than it always is, and the inspection department is not particularly disturbed as to the outcome. Both Bidwill and the supervising inspector admit the impossibility of pleasing everybody on 'change in the matter of inspections, but claim that it would be a difficult matter to improve on their way of doing business. In the case of the receiver who may be given a low grade there is always dissatisfaction, and there may have been instances where the seller suffered through an inspection which was too rigid. But the entire trade is willing to admit that the Chicago market has been built largely because of this rigid inspection, and are generally satisfied with prevailing methods. It is probable that a respectable percentage of the members of the board would like to take the inspection department out of the hands of the state authorities, but under existing laws this cannot be done. The next best thing, many of the members claim, would be the application of civil service rules to the department. This latter is strongly favored by President Chandler.

Another estimate of the flaxseed crop has been made public—that of the Orange Judd Farmer—26,639,000 bu, as compared with their estimate of 29,251,000 bu in 1902. It will be remembered that the government estimate, made about three weeks ago, was 27,300,000 bu, compared with 29,285,000 bu last year. It is a significant fact that there is a difference of only about 650,000 bu in the two estimates of this year's crop and that the estimates of last year's crop were practically agreed. In the northwest the general opinion this year favors a crop of about 26,000,000 bu, which is probably not far out of the way. The cake market abroad and here is decidedly quiet and is the occasion of no little anxiety on the part of crushers. Unless some considerable improvement in demand sets in with the first of the year cake prices may go off surprisingly, as the supply is piling up in mills that are poorly equipped to store it, and it will be a necessity to make shipments at some price soon.

Figures on wheat receipts at the four principal spring wheat markets—Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee, and Chicago—continue to show a big falling off for the crop year since Aug. 1, as compared with last year's figures. Only one point, Milwaukee, reports larger receipts of the present crop than a year ago. At all other points the falling off is decided, the total at the four markets of this crop being 78,889,768 bu, as against a movement for the same time last year of nearly 96,000,000 bu. Practically the same conditions prevail at the winter wheat points—Toledo, St. Louis, Detroit, and Kansas City, where the movement of July 1 this year to date has been 118,600,000 bu, as against a movement for the same time last year of 150,300,000 bu.

The noteworthy feature in connection with the Bradstreet report of world's wheat stocks, showing an increase of 1,644,000 bu for the week, made up of an increase of 744,000 bu east of the Rockies and an increase of 900,000 bu in Europe and afloat, was the fact that last year at this time there was an increase east of the Rockies of 4,320,000 bu. The increase this week, in Europe and afloat, 900,000 bu, compares with a decrease last year of 3,200,000 bu.

The directors of the New Orleans board of trade have unanimously approved the proposition previously accepted by the directors of the Maritime exchange to consolidate the latter with the New Orleans board of trade. This will settle the controversy regarding the dual inspection of grain at that point. The duplication which has been going on for several years has been more or less confusing to the trade, and the new arrangement will be correspondingly satisfactory.

The government December crop bulletin says: "Over a large part of the winter wheat area the stands of winter wheat are not satisfactory, owing to general lack of moisture, and the Hessian fly has caused injury in portions of Kansas, Missouri, and Indiana. In Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and northern Missouri winter wheat is in better condition for the winter than more easterly portions of the belt. Weather favorable for corn husking."

"Foreign markets," says W. H. Bartlett, "seem to be entirely independent of us for the time being. Weather conditions continue favorable for the movement of grain throughout the west. There is some slight increase in the movement of new corn east of the Mississippi; no movement yet west of the river. The interior demand for corn and oats shows some improvement."

The demand for high grade wheat in the northwestern cash markets is illustrated by the fact that all deliveries on December contracts at Minneapolis yesterday, a matter of 780,000 bu, went to milling interests.

The City elevator, under the proprietorship of Bryant & Co. (inc.) as lessee, has been made regular for the storage of grain and flax until July 1.

The Russian central statistical bureau estimates the winter wheat yield in seventy-two governments as 199,000,000 bu, compared with 220,000,000 bu last year. On Sept. 8 the same bureau estimated the wheat yield of these seventy-two governments as 180,000,000 bu. The winter rye crop is estimated at 829,000,000 bu, as compared with 842,000,000 bu last year.

B. A. Eckhart says of the flour situation: "There is no export demand to speak of. Stocks of flour are small and we expect to sell every pound that we can make, and at a good profit, too. We are running on full time. Chicago stocks were never any smaller than at present. Should there be a bull movement in wheat flour would advance wonderfully sharp."

The Buenos Ayres Standard says: "The extremely cold weather that prevailed for a few days appears to have caused comparatively little injury to the growing crops or to the newly shorn sheep, and it served to keep the locusts at bay." A private cable yesterday from Rosario reported weather fine.

The authorities are not exactly together on world's lard stocks. Fairbank makes them 130,005 tcs, while Hately figures up 152,212 tcs. The Fairbank decrease is 34,034 tcs for November, while Hately's is 28,761 tcs.

Wheat stocks at Minneapolis, Duluth, and country elevators on Dec. 1 amounted to 14,742,000 bu, as compared with 18,922,000 bu a year ago. The big decrease comes in at Duluth.

The hog receipts at the western points are showing a big increase. Yesterday they were 102,600 head, whereas a year ago only 89,200 were received.

December deliveries yesterday were 5,000 bu of corn and 25,000 bu of rye.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—As far as buying is concerned the dry goods market has not been appreciably affected by the record prices secured on cotton. Buyers are still inclined to await developments and there is a feeling that the abnormal level of the raw cotton market must give way to pressure of curtailment which will have its natural effect upon piece goods prices. This, however, manufacturers and sellers continue to combat with a constant tendency toward higher limits.

Coffee—Futures: There was heavy realizing by small longs, but these offerings were promptly absorbed and prices generally showed a strong upward tendency. The demand was swollen toward the close by active covering by houses with European connections and in the last hour trading was more active than for years past. Not only was the market more active than any of recent times, but the prices on some options sold about the 7c mark for the first time in about two years. The market closed firm net 15@25 points higher, with sales of 277,750 bags, including December, 5.96@6.15c; January, 6.10@6.25c; February, 6.30@6.35c; March, 6.30@6.55c; April, 6.45c; May, 6.55@6.75c; July, 6.70@6.90c; August, 6.75@6.95c; September, 6.85@7.05c; October, 6.90@7.10c; and November, 7.00@7.15c. IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—The rates for money were easy in the market today and the supply was more abundant. This was believed to be owing to the Bank of England having repaid a considerable portion of the loan obtained some time ago in order to make the 4 per cent discount rate effective, but heavy repayments to the bank will be necessary in the next few days, while the Transvaal loan installment must be met Dec. 8. Discounts were weak.

The tone on the stock exchange was firm and there was fair investment buying. Consols hardened, continental buying and bear closing lifting up the market generally. Home rails were mostly better. Americans opened firm owing to bear covering. They were inactive, however, the public not operating. Grand Trunk was unsettled and prices relapsed sharply. Japanese securities had a better tone owing to bear covering. South Americans were favored, especially Argentines. Kaffirs hardened.

SHOW GOOD OCTOBER GAIN

UNION PACIFIC GROSS INCREASES 10.6 PER CENT.

Net Has Much Larger Gain — Norfolk and Western for the Same Month Makes a Relatively Better Showing, While Pennsylvania's Operating Expenses Cause a Decrease in Net—Large Decrease in New Trust Capitalization—Sales on Local Exchange

Earnings of the Union Pacific for October show a good gain. The increase in gross was 10.6 per cent. Although operating expenses were heavy, running 16.2 per cent, net earnings for the same period, according to the figures furnished yesterday, increased an equal amount. These figures are one of the encouraging straws in the bull situation.

The Norfolk and Western shows good gains in both gross and net, the former increasing 16.4 per cent, and the latter 12.8 per cent.

But the Pennsylvania October statement shows but a moderate increase in gross with double the amount of increase in expenses, and a consequent decrease in net earnings of $105,000 on the lines directly operated. President Cassatt is understood to believe that October or November will make the low records for some time to come. The only thing unsatisfactory about such forecasts is the inability to determine for what reason they are uttered.

Monthly statements of other roads make varying showings, there being an absence of the uniform increase in gross earnings. Figures follow:

Bulls Have Hope.

Bull sentiment here and there is beginning to manifest itself, and considerable hopefulness is expressed in certain quarters. It has been so long since there was a genuine rise in the market that symptoms of better prices are eagerly noted. There is a lingering hope that there may be a movement akin at least to the kind the stock market experienced previous to last September.

But conditions are not encouraging for those who would see an upward swing of large importance. People at large are not yet ready to come into the market, and the artificial price makers, known as pools, have lost fortunes and quit the business. The New York stock board is bare of the operators who two years ago were large factors in bull campaigns. A backward survey of what has happened in one year leads to the belief that a recuperative period has not since followed that would warrant heavy speculation or investment in securities.

Counselman & Co. had yesterday the following summary of the situation in Wall street from the viewpoint of the immediate course of prices:

"After a careful conversation with every big financial man I could reach yesterday and last evening, I don't believe we are started on a real bull movement, but the trouble is that it is simply a guess for any one to decide how high short covering may carry the market.

"Some big operators, especially floor traders, have covered their shorts and gone long, but there is still an enormous short interest out, and every advance forces more shorts to cover.

"Opinion of best authorities seems far more mixed than usual. Some big men told me last night that we would have another big advance before Christmas, while others said, 'Look out for serious trouble this month.'

"I don't like to appear so mixed, but give you these opinions just as I get them, and, one the whole, it looks to me as if the present is not a time at which to take a firm stand on either side, but believe quick profits or losses should be taken."

Decline in Trust Making.

Trust formations in the month of November reached the low ebb. Not in a series of years has the capitalization taken out for new corporations been so small. The total was $56,100,000.

Declining stock markets, failures of industrial corporations, loss of prestige by promoters, and demands of business interests on the money market have operated to bring the trust producing occupation to the minimum as compared with the output of new stocks in the last three years.

The New York Journal of Commerce has kept records for a series of years of the new incorporations in Pennsylvania, Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and New York. It is the aggregate in these states of companies with a capital of over $1,000,000 that is taken.

New Jersey for the month of November authorized but $4,250,000 for companies of over $1,000,000. The November figures for the states mentioned follow:

Pennsylv'ia	$28,800,000	New Jersey	$ 4,250,000
Maine	14,050,000	New York	4,000,000
Mass'usetts	5,000,000

	1903.	1902.	1901.

General Financial News.

The subtreasury lost Tuesday $123,000 to the banks. Since last Friday it has gained $986,000 from the banks.

An officer of the Otis Elevator company says: "We are passing through one of the best years in our history. Orders, both foreign and domestic, have surpassed previous records. The directors will hold their quarterly meeting in New York next week and the regular quarterly dividend will be declared."

Transfers of currency by the New York subtreasury to New Orleans yesterday were $450,000.

The continued weakness in Greene Consolidated Copper stock yesterday was said to be due to enforced liquidation by an individual holder. This stock has been coming out for several days.

Chicago Stocks.

American Can shares were active in the local market yesterday. Prices held firm, the preferred closing at 30-¼. The impression in the street is that the movement is caused by insiders.

Chicago Telephone stock sold at 125, or 10 points above the recent low. The directors have declared the usual quarterly dividend at the rate of 9 per cent per annum.

EASIER FEELING IN EGGS.

Buyers Not Taking Hold—Spring Chickens Make Advance—Butter Holds Firm.

The produce market yesterday was in good shape all around. Demand was good, retailers stocking up heavily in all lines except eggs, in which there was an easier feeling, but no actual change in quotations. Spring chickens were in good demand and prices advanced a fraction. The potato trade showed some improvement over recent sluggish conditions, receipts being smaller than usual and buyers more anxious to secure stock. The veal market was dull, with about the same range of prices as on Tuesday. In apples little was doing, outside demand being tame and an easy feeling pervading the entire market.

CLAIRVOYANTS.

CLAIRVOYANTLY GIFTED.
READINGS REDUCED TO $1.00 FOR SEVEN DAYS.
PROF. C. J. ROMANE'S extraordinary clairvoyant powers, combined with his superior knowledge of occult forces, enables him to read human life with unerring accuracy from infancy to old age. His powers are wonderful and indisputable, his advice is reliable, his information clear, concise, and to the point in love, courtship, marriage, divorce, sales, wills, patents, journeys, pensions, investments, speculations, property, insurance, mortgages, oil and mining claims, diseases, etc.

WITHOUT ASKING A QUESTION, without any previous knowledge, and having no natural means of knowing who you are, whence or for what you came, he tells your name, age, occupation, where you live, the number of your house, and the street you live on. He tells you names of friends and enemies, who is true and who is false. Tells whom and when you will marry, giving names, dates, facts, and location, taking no fee in advance, accepting none unless satisfaction is given.

SPECULATIONS AND INVESTMENTS.
His advice is much sought for by those contemplating investing and speculating. The dollar properly invested today has seldom failed to make the poor man rich.

When and where others fail, he never fails to teach you how to fascinate any one you desire, how to make your enemies your friends, cause a speedy marriage with the one of your choice, give you good luck, remove evil influences, reunite the separated, give lucky numbers, locate the earth's buried treasures, settle the old estates that time has placed beyond the lawyer's shrewdness, make you successful in your business, and positively complete your business.

TRIAL BOARD SNUBS CURRY

DISMISSES "STRIKE BREAKER'S" CHARGE AGAINST POLICEMAN.

Over Protest of Inspector Wheeler Commissioners Meier and Errant Vote to Let Patrolman Wolfe Go Unpunished—Gate Tender at Indian Village Accused of Collecting Money—Graft Committee Troubled by the Failure of Witnesses to Appear.

In spite of Inspector Wheeler's protest the police trial board yesterday dismissed the charges against Policeman Thomas C. Wolfe, accused by Motorman Frank G. Curry, the "strike breaker." The inspector insisted on punishing the policeman, but Commissioners Meier and Errant proved merciful.

Wolfe had been suspended on the charge that while guarding Curry on one of the trips during the strike he had insulted him. Curry appeared before the board and told his story. He was partly substantiated by C. E. Jones, assistant division superintendent.

Some doubt was expressed by the two civil service commissioners.

"Curry is telling the truth," said the inspector. "Do you think that a man who showed as much bravery as he did during the strike would come up here and lie? He did as much as the police force in running the cars. He's telling the truth."

He voted for punishment, but the two commissioners dismissed the charges. It was said that Wolfe's attorney had been secured for him by the street railway men.

Two Policemen Discharged.

Policeman Frederick W. Miller of South Chicago, John F. Walsh, and Thomas Gallagher of East Chicago avenue were discharged by order of the board. Miller was accused of striking a citizen of Hammond while in a saloon in Ninety-second street. Walsh and Gallagher were discharged for permitting the escape of "Buddy" Ryan and "Teeny" Sullivan, prize fighters, after a disturbance on a cable train at Clark and Division street, in which William Savage, the gripman, was stabbed.

Policemen Fitzmaurice and Bullis were given another continuance, witnesses being absent.

Charges Graft at Indian Village.

Charges that may be investigated by the graft committee were made against Policeman John Bialk after the board session. Policeman John D. Mulvihill of the North Halsted street police station charged that Bialk, while acting as guard at the gates in Lincoln park at the time of the centennial celebration when the Indian village was on exhibition, charged admission fees aggregating $40, although admission to the village was free.

"Some of those men are trying to 'knock' me, and I may as well tell a few things," Mulvihill said.

Milvihill was charged with unbecoming conduct in the saloon of Mont Tennes, 135 Center street, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock of the morning of Oct. 18. The hearing on this charge was continued by the trial board.

Witnesses Fail to Appear.

Two witnesses upon whom the graft committee depended to testify that money had passed between policemen and the proprietors of "protected" gambling places failed to appear in the afternoon. They told their stories to Attorney Brode B. Davis the night before and promised to tell them openly before the committee.

They did not come forward, however, and on search could not be found. The case will be taken before the grand jury.

The committee spent nearly the whole of the day in trying to discover why the police of the Woodlawn district had failed to act on reports that there was gambling above Martin Dwyer's saloon, Sixty-seventh street and Stony Island avenue, and that a handbook was running in Edward Brennan's saloon, Sixty-seventh street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Capt. Hayes, Lieut. McCann, Lieut. Monaghan, and Detectives Kelly, Reilly, and McGuire all admitted before the committee that they knew either by observation or by reports that there was gambling at Dwyer's and a handbook at Brennan's.

Each tried to shift the responsibility for the continued violation of the law. Reilly and Kelly—who incidentally admitted that they had played for the drinks and for small stakes at Dwyer's—asserted that they had reported to Capt. Hayes and the two lieutenants.

Charles Hulse, an officer of the Hyde Park Protective association, testified that he had made reports against both Dwyer and Brennan to Lieut. McCann, and that the latter had told him that if he had his own way there would be no gambling in the district, but that the "pull" came from higher up.

Tells of Paying Policeman $5.

Bertha Hurley, a colored woman living at 507 Clark street, testified that she had paid $5 to Patrolman Smith of Harrison street station to induce him not to arrest her. She said she gave him the money in the hall, and that on his return to an inner room he gave a signal that he had the money to Policeman Anderson, his mate, and that they did not arrest her. Failure to pay $5 on a previous occasion, she said, led to her being sentenced to the bridewell.

MORE FRAUD CASES FOR JURY.

State Completes Evidence Against the Eighteenth Ward Election Officials, and Others Will Be Tried.

A jury in Judge Gary's court today will be given the cases against Herman B. Sherman, John J. Kelly, and Harry O'Donovan, accused of complicity in the Eighteenth ward election frauds. The state finished its case yesterday, evidence having been heard, despite the absence of Sherman and Kelly.

The rest of the cases will be called today. They include charges of conspiracy against Joseph Levy, Frank Rivers, Edward W. Parlee, and Frank Egger. Levy also will answer to a charge of having hindered voters from casting their ballots.

Samuel Johnson, William S. Duncombe, and Charles Hirtenstein are accused of neglect of duty. A similar charge also is made against O'Donovan, Sherman, and Kelly, election officials.

DECORATIVE POTTERY

Florian pottery reflects the influence of William Morris on art. It is in dark blues and greens in blurred effects. Each piece is signed by the artist—Moorcroft.

Gouda pottery, though made in Holland, yet suggests the Orient with its dull blues, greens and purples, all inextricably mingled

Finland pottery suggests the Alhambra, with its geometric designs in vivid reds, blues, greens and yellows, on a dull ivory ground. The shapes are quaint, almost fantastic. We have a large collection of this pottery, but no duplicates

DYSPEPSIA.

George S. Scally of 75 Nassau-st., New York, says: "For years I have been troubled with rheumatism and dyspepsia, and I came to the conclusion to try your pills. I immediately found great relief from their use; I feel like a new man since I commenced taking them, and would not now be without them. The drowsy, sleepy feeling I used to have has entirely disappeared. The dyspepsia has left me and my rheumatism is gone entirely. I am satisfied if any one so afflicted will give Radway's Pills a trial they will surely cure them, for I believe it all comes from the system being out of order—the liver not doing its work."
